A Pioneer Gone.

By the death last Thursday of Mrs. J. J. Bell, Polk county lost one of its oldest residents and this vicinity one of its most respected citizens.

Elizabeth Ford was born in Kendall county, Illinois, on the 15th day of June, 1838. When she was 15 years old her parents, James and Mary Ford, with their family, accomplished the long and dangerous crossing of the plains to this then new Oregon country, settling and building them a home in 1853, and three years later, in 1856, Elizabeth Ford was united in marriage to J. J. Bell. Twelve children blessed this union, five of whom survive.

Mrs. Bell died at her home near the Bridgeport school house on Thursday, May 22, 1902, aged 63 years, 11 months and seven days. The funeral was held on the day following.

The death of Mrs. Bell reminds us that the old settlers, those who underwent the rigorous life and privation of the early pioneer days are dropping rapidly out and leaving the land, the foundation of whose prosperity they laid, in the hands of the younger generation and those who have made Oregon their adopted home. The debt we who are reaping the fruitage of their toil owe to their memory is paid by loving remembrance and honor.—Falls City Leader.

It is seldom that we fail to chronicle so important an event in a man's life as his birth, but such is the case in regard to the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Al Steward one week ago last Tuesday, May 20, 1902. Although we are late in heralding his arrival we wish him long life and abundant happiness.
