 A thousand people must have gone from Polk county to the Salem celebration. The motor made extra runs to Dallas, Airlie and Monmouth, and the Pomona made trips between here and the capital city. The weather was disagreeable, bad underfoot and showery overhead. The enthusiastic celebrators returned home about one o'clock Saturday morning.

Spraying hops commenced Monday. The recent rains have greatly increased hop lice, but the crop will be heavier an easy 25 per cent by the rains, so old hop men inform us.
 The Oregon City Transportation Company announce they will begin at once the building of another light draught boat. The one which was to have been put on this month was destroyed by fire in Portland.
 W. E. Coman, general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific in Oregon, and Harvey E. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent for the same company, were in Independence this week looking after the interests of their company.
 Since the commencement at Monmouth there has been a general scattering of teachers. P. L. Campbell has gone to Eugene; B. F. Mulkey to Ashland; G. W. Bishop to Bloomington, Illinois; G. A. Forbes to Minnesota; Prof. Fellows to Los Angeles preparatory to going to Europe; R. C. French and wife to Massachusetts, while several others have left for their homes or to travel during the summer.
 With the down trip last Saturday morning the boats went off the upper river, further than Salem. Although the river is now at a fine boating stage, the recent rains having raised it several feet, yet the disastrous effects of the strike on shipping by boat and the uncertainty of fulfilling freight contracts that would be contracted in the future is the reason given for taking them off. Passenger travel has been light for several weeks.
 The whereabouts of Tracy, the escaped convict is as big a mystery as ever. He is somewhere near Seattle, but is baffling the efforts of the Washington authorities to capture him. Today's papers state that he has been joined by Merrill. Just how long he will continue to fool the officers is problematical.
 The Eastern Star Lodge, of this city, paid the Dallas lodge a visit Tuesday evening, reporting the usually fine time.
 Rev. P. R. Burnett left Tuesday to resume his ministerial work at Oakesdale, Wash. He was accompanied as far as McMinnville by Mrs. Burnett, who will visit her father there a few days.
 W. G. Sharman and family are to leave soon on their annual outing. They go, as usual, to Minnie, Lane county.
 J. H. Powell, of Monmouth, will soon move his family to the Big Bend country, in Washington, where they will make their home.
 The postoffice at Polk Station, this county, has been discontinued.
 Ashland has drawn heavily on Polk county for instructors during late years. This year she takes B. F. Mulkey and G. W. Bishop, of Monmouth. C. A. Hitchcock, a former Independence principal, is the head of their high school; T. A. Hayes is a member of the Normal faculty there, and Irving Vining has long been instructor in oratory at the Normal.
Buena Vista Crop Notes.
 It is estimated that about half the hay crop hereabouts was cut before the recent heavy rains, but no serious injury is expected to result from the wetting. Clover hay in this locality is nearly all in the shock. The yield is heavy and the quality good. Farmers are busy getting their lofts filled for the winter.
 Wheat is in excellent condition and is rapidly assuming a golden hue. The yield is expected to be very good.
 Gardens are looking first-class, and there is promise of a good yield of small fruits. Raspberries and blackberries, wild, are now in evidence on the dinner tables hereabouts. There is no need for an Oregonian to go hungry, with such a generous supply of all edibles as Nature supplies free of cost, barring the slight labor required in gathering the crop.

THE PLACE WHERE YOU GET FINE, COOL DRINKS OF ALL KINDS.
 Ice Cream in any quantity.

The rains of last week will make hundreds of dollars for the farmers in Polk county, and insure a bountiful harvest to all.
 Oats are heavy and present a very fine appearance. They are from 2 1/2 to 3 feet in height and the acreage in this section is quite large. All told, the farmers in Polk consider the crop outlook most gratifying.
 We congratulate our sister town, Albany, whose enterprising citizens have recently completed an up-to-date chair factory, a manufacturing enterprise that will employ several hands and bring into the city many a dollar which otherwise would have gone to some other place. We wish it had been Independence, but take pride in seeing new institutions come into the valley.

Death of John J. Daly.

Mrs. John J. Daly and son, Floyd, left Tuesday for Pueblo, Colorado, to take charge of the remains of the late John J. Daly. They will be taken to New York for burial.
 Mr. Daly was born in Rochester, New York, in 1842. He received a classical education at St. John's College, in that state, and afterward read law. He came to Oregon in 1870, and taught school at Buena Vista, Polk county, for two years. He then opened a law office in Dallas. He followed his profession there continuously for 28 years, and was recognized as one of the leading attorneys of Western Oregon. He was a charter member of the Oregon Bar Association. He was prominent in the upbuilding of the Ancient Order of United Workmen on the Pacific coast, and in 1890 was elected grand master of the jurisdiction embracing Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. He took an active interest in politics, and was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention held in Chicago in 1892. He was a member of the lower house of the Oregon legislature in 1885, and in 1894 was the unsuccessful candidate for circuit judge of the Third Judicial District.
