A Letter to Our Patrons.

Most of our old customers are too familiar with the start and growth of our business to make mention of it here. But we realize that there are many new comers coming to our county, and it is to them we address ourselves as well as to call the attention of our old friends and customers to the growth of our business. Everyone knows that the larger a business is goods can be sold cheaper, and as our business grows we make better prices. We have in contemplation another change and more addition to our store. We are somewhat crowded with goods now and have many more coming. Recognizing the fact that this is strictly an age of department stores, we have enlarged our stock with this object in view. At the present time we have as complete a house furnishing store as any in the valley. In our various departments will be found everything that goes to make a home complete. Our large stock enables us to sell upon small margins; hence, our prices are the very lowest. We call your attention to our advertisement and some of our bargains.

Susie Fennell Pipes to Play Here

We are pleased to announce that Susie Fennell Pipes, who spent her childhood with us, is going to include Independence in her concert tour of the state. It has only been a few years since Susie's name adorned the program of every musical entertainment in Independence and Monmouth, and her friends here who have been watching her musical career, will be glad of an opportunity to see if her playing bears out her reputation as an artist on the violin.

Susie commenced studying the violin here with Mr. Sebring and afterwards with Miss Bowden, and when at the age of fourteen she went to Portland to study with Spitzner, she surprised him with her extraordinary proficiency on that instrument. She was with Spitzner three years and up to the time of her marriage to John M. Pipes, when she and her husband changed their residence to Washington, D. C.

Susie made her first public appearance in Portland before the Philharmonic Society at the age of fifteen, playing the Wieniaski Polonaise which created a sensation. The Oregonian and other Portland papers of that date sung her praises in the highest terms.

While in the East Susie had the best teachers in the United States, including Theodore Spiering, of Chicago. Spiering found her a thorough musician and it took him but a short time to make her the artist that she is now. Since her return to the West she has been prominent in musical affairs, having been a member of the Portland Symphony Orchestra and the Spitzner-Conrad quartette. She has also filled many professional engagements, the most important of which was at the Ashland Chautauqua where she was on the program with Henry Watterson and played to an audience of fifteen hundred people. She will be assisted here by Miss C. L. Higgins, an eminent pianist of Portland.

The date of the concert and the program will be announced later.

Case of Sing On Falls Down When It Comes to Trial.

The trial of Henry Seaton and Byron Nixon, charged with highway robbery on the person of Sing On, a Chinese hop grower of this city, came up for hearing before Justice J. D. Irvine Monday afternoon, District Attorney Hart, of Dallas, and Attorney Slater, of Salem, appearing for the state, and N. L. Butler for the defense.

After the introduction of the evidence and arguments by the respective attorneys, Justice Irvine concluded there was not sufficient evidence and dismissed the case.

Prices: $9.85, $10, $12.50, $15, $16, $17, and on up according to quality. We could sell you the cheap $1, $2.50, $3 and other so-called gold-filled watches that are advertised in the papers, but it is just like throwing money away to buy them. The only reason that first class jewelry stores don't sell them is that they never give satisfaction. Our watches give satisfaction and we are to back ever assertion we make in regard to them.
