MONEY THROWN AWAY.

New Feature in the Fourth of July Program.

LARGE SUM GOES IN THE AIR.

Hirschberg Will Distribute to the Little Fellows a Large Sum of Money.

A new feature has been added to the Fourth of July program, and in interest it will surpass any feature of the day's exercises.

H. Hirschberg, president of the bank, has decided to throw away a large sum of money to the children attending. This feature will occur near the band stand on Main street and an enclosure will be roped in and plenty of extra "police" stationed so as to prevent the larger ones from crowding in and hurting the little fellows. The children will be put in classes according to age—say from 3 to 6 years and from 5 to 10 years. None is permitted to scramble for the money.

This will be fun galore. Bring your little fellows along with you and let them have the benefit of the sport.

A. J. Tupper, City Marshal.

Now that the legal path is cleared, let the promoters of the Hillsboro electric road show that they are in earnest. If the men behind it are really the Indiana interurban railroad-builders, as has been semi-officially announced, Portland is likely to profit by their enterprise. These men are certain to extend the road wherever there is traffic in sight. In this case they cannot stop south of Corvallis. Every farm within three miles of the road will have added value. The only interest to be adversely affected is the Southern Pacific, and its earnings will increase in the long run by reason of added development.—Oregonian.

Aphorisms.

Liberality consists rather in giving seasonably than much.—Cicero. Labor is the divine law of our existence; repose is desertion and suicide.—Mazzini.

Unbecoming forwardness oftener proceeds from ignorance than impudence.—Guville.

Kindness is a language the dumb can speak and the deaf can hear and understand.—Bovee.

Every one complains of his memory, but nobody of his judgment.—Rochefoucauld.

He who has no inclination to learn more will be very apt to think that he knows enough.—Powell.

It is not what he has or even what he does which expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.—Amiel.

Most people would succeed in small things if they were not troubled with great ambitions.—Longfellow.

Pengra-Robertson Nuptials.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ellen Robertson, in this city, on Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock, the wedding of Miss Lucretia Robertson and Mr. Claude Pengra, of Glendale, Southern Oregon, was solemnized in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Essie Robertson, and the marriage ceremony pronounced by Rev. J. B. Lister, of Eugene.

The bride was clad in a beautiful gown of white silk mull. The decorations were: Parlor in Oregon grape and roses; dining room in pink carnations and fern. A delicious wedding repast was served shortly before the south-bound train arrived here, the happy couple taking their departure amid a shower of rice for Southern Oregon at 11 o'clock.

The remembrances were numerous and varied, among which were the following: Silver tea service, half dozen china cups and saucers, cut glass sugar bowl and creamer, cut glass berry bowl, carving set, silver bon bon dish, one dozen napkins, one set fruit knives, one set coffee spoons, one set teaspoons, china dinner set, china plate, china salad bowl, silver tea set, one water color picture, point lace handkerchief.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Craven, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kramer, Mrs. Etna Cook, of Portland, Rev. J. B. Lister and daughter, Miss Mildred, of Eugene, Miss Louise Waller, Mrs. L. S. Pengra and daughter, Miss Clara, of Shedd's, Mrs. Ellen Robertson, Miss Essie and Grant Robertson.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by Kirkland Drug Co.
