

Second Lecture on Electricity

Dr. Darrin Will Remain in Albany Until Dec. 1 Only.

Did not hours prevent we could talk for hours on the many wonderful things that electricity has accomplished, but it is not necessary at this time, for electricity is now only in its infancy. Electricity contains all the elementary principles, and therefore all the healing properties of all things in being. All the balms, oils and minerals in existence are contained in electricity, and in their most skillful combined proportions. No medicine does as much for the system as electricity property used by a physician thoroughly versed in its application. The leading physician recognizes electricity as one of the great panaceas for all chronic diseases.

Dr. Darrin is one of the foremost practitioners in the use of this subtle fluid, as the following permanent cures will show:

TO THE PUBLIC.

This is to certify that Dr. Darrin has cured me of a loathsome chronic catarrh dyspepsia and kidney trouble of 15 years standing and I most emphatically commend him to the public and will confer with anyone at Plainview, Or., where I reside.

TO THE OREGON PUBLIC.

Prior to visiting Dr. Darrin, I took the precaution to investigate his cures and found them permanent and as stated in the press. I had been afflicted with deafness and a loathsome discharge of the ears for ten years. My delight was great when told by the doctor that I could be cured. True to his word, I have been cured of both afflictions. I consider it one of the most remarkable cures on record and more than I expected could be done. I claim it a duty to inform the public when they can be cured. I am connected with the Reform School two miles from Turner. My post office address is Turner Or.

HAPPY AFTER YEARS OF MISERY.

Mr. Editor: I can recommend Dr. Darrin's treatment. For eight or ten years I have been troubled with rheumatism in the hip and back, also diabetes. Through Dr. Darrin's electrical and medical treatment I am cured. Refer to me at Jefferson, Oregon.

DR. DARRIN'S PLACE OF BUSINESS.

Dr. Darrin is located in Albany at the Revere Hotel until Dec. 1st, and will give free examination to all from 10 to 5 or 7 to 8 daily. The poor treated free except medicine, 10 to 11 daily and those able to pay at the rate of $5 a week or in that proportion of time the case may require. All curable chronic diseases of men and women a specialty.

Buying Stamps in Turkey.

Things are not hurried in Constantinople as they are in American cities. The turks love ceremony, and have peculiar notions of what constitutes politeness. At an American post-office we walk to the proper window and ask for a stamp of the denomination we require. The clerk pushes it out, we put down the money, and depart. The entire transaction has not occupied a minute, and probably less than a dozen words have been spoken.

In Istanbul a different scene is enacted. The purchaser approaches the window, and after a series of very low and obsequious salaams, lays his right hand upon his heart and says:

"May this gracious morn prove a most happy one for thee, sir."

The official returns the salutation, and asks, "What commandest thou?"

"Wouldst thou vouchsafe thy servant several stamps with which to send letters to America? As thou mayest know, my son, Abdullah Effendi, the glass merchant of Ak Serai, is abiding at this moment in Chicago, and his family are desirous of communicating with him. Though I myself know not how to write, yet is the son of my brother, the pipebowl manufacturer, skilled in the art, and he hath promised to oblige me in this matter."

"Very well, O worthy sir, but how many stamps dost thou desire?"

"Ah, my precious jewel, how many thinkest thou I should take? One would hardly suffice, as he doth not intend to return at present. Therefore, I pray thee, give me two."

"Excellent, excellent. Here they are. May I request the sum of four piasters in payment?"

"What sayest thou, my gentle lamb? Three piasters I always paid—never more. This was but a year ago, when Abdullah was at Paris, even at—"

"You are quite right, effendi, but the prices have changed. They cost more today."

"In very sooth, O apple of mine eye? Then the charge hath been increased?"

With this the Turk produces an intricately knotted purse, and draws forth a bundle of paper money.

"Nay, nay, my adorable gem!" protests the official. "We accept no paper; thou must pay in silver."

"What, thou refusedst paper? And wherefore? Is it not good money? Does not the Sultan guarantee its payment? Well, since thou declinest it, I will pay thee in copper."

"Nay, effendi, we take no coppers, either; thou must give me silver."

"Silver? I have it not. I pray thee take this copper, and thou shalt have some additional."

"I cannot do it, effendi. It is forbidden."

"Well, then, thou shalt have silver. Here it is, the latest mintage."

"Accept my overflowing thanks, my exquisite turtle-dove."

"Allah be with thee, and increase thy shadow mightily."

"Farewell, effendi! May thy beard grow to an exceeding great length!"

What Is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at A. S. Locke's Drug Store.

Old Glory.

"Now, Uncle, do tell us about 'Old Glory.'" This in a chorus by Freddy and Clara, who were always foremost in urging uncle to talk. Uncle was busy fixing the flag, staff and rope, so that 'Old Glory' might open its folds to the breeze. He always seemed deeply moved when doing anything about the stars and stripes and knew its history from the beginning to the latest development.

"Come along, youngsters," he responded, "and let's sit down here." With this he sat down near the flagstaff on an old seat in the garden.

"I want you allus to have great regard for the old flag. It means a whole lot to us, it does."

"Tell us, Uncle," urged Fred, "how it came to be called 'Old Glory!'"

"Well, it came about like this. You see, it was while we had the trouble in the sixties. Long before this Captain Stephen Driver, an old sea captain, who lived at Nashville, Tennessee, while aboard his ship, had a United States flag presented to him and he did love that flag. He was an old man when the Civil war broke loose and lived, as I say in Nashville, Tennessee. Now in order that the Confederates should not get and destroy this flag, he hid it in a quilt and slept under it whenever he went to sleep. Every morning he would tell what a good sleep he had had and called it by the pet name of 'Old Glory.' When our boys in blue entered Nashville he took the flag from the quilt and flung it to the breeze, telling the story everywhere. And now everybody knows the stars and stripes to be 'Old Glory.'"

"Thank you, Uncle, you are real good to tell us this and I hope we shall always love the dear old flag and do nothing to bring disgrace to it." This was said by Clara who was deeply moved.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies, "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by A. S. Locke, Druggist.

Gratitude.

The world prates much of 'ingratitude,' but this, like other catchwords, repays individual investigation. In the social world who raises the cry? Is it the man who has poured out his millions to endow hospitals and libraries? Is it the woman who has given her life to the care of the sick and poor and needy? Indeed, not these are the first to tell of the gratitude heaped at their feet. Let the person tempted by the term ask himself these questions:

"Have I ever deliberately an act deserving the gratitude of another?"

"Have I not received for thanks out of all proportion to my small effort?"

Have I myself always prompt and hearty gratitude every favor done me by another? Such a catechism, however swerved, will inevitably lead to and instructive results.
