John Groves has purchased the Sam Irvine place across the river from Independence, paying $6000. It is considered a good buy. The place contains 240 acres with 22 in hops. It has about 60 acres of good hop land. Mr. Groves is a painstaking hop grower and will give his attention to the raising of hops on his newly acquired place. He has sold his Dallas property.

News from the bedside is to the effect that Miss Carrie Danneman, recently injured near Condon in a runaway accident is now practically out of danger. She is now able to take small quantities of food, and it is hoped that she may be so far recovered as to be moved to her home at Clem in a week or 10 days. For a time her condition was so serious that there was question as to whether or not she would recover. A sheet had to be used in changing her position in bed. In the accident, she was thrown from the buggy and struck violently against a telephone pole while the horse was in full flight. The escape of either Miss Danneman or her companion at all, is described in a letter to Mrs. Danneman in this city from her husband as miraculous.—Corvallis Times.

The Margarita Fischer Company played their final engagement, "The Grass Widow," here Saturday night. They were given a good house as they had on three successive nights the week before. It requires no less than a prodigy to star it successfully over the country at the tender age of Miss Fischer. Oregon people are generous, and rightly so, toward her, and some day may be yet prouder to claim her as a product of the state. True she is attempting some pieces not altogether adapted to her talents and the company while some of them are above the average traveling through the country, is not made up with special reference to the talents of the star. The three Howards, especially are old hands on the vaudeville stage and never fail to make good before the most critical audiences. The people of Polk county will welcome the return of the Margarita Fischer company any time.
