CONDENSER IS MONEY MAKER

Diversity of Resources of First Importance.

WOULD FILL LONG FELT WANT

Where Condenseries Have Been Established Country is Prosperous.

The following letter from Caldwell to the Boise Capital News shows something of the benefits of one Oregon industry and shows what can be done to build up a country and give employment to people, says East Oregonian. The letter is as follows:

Some of the following facts concerning a milk condensery were gleaned from Dr. J. T. Wood, general manager of the Yakima Valley Condensed Milk company of Amity, Ore. Dr. Wood has been to Twin Falls where he took part in the big drawing contest where he was fortunate enough to secure three 80-acre tracts, one for himself and two for other parties whom he represented.

He stopped in this city a short time on his return home and was interviewed concerning the condensed milk factory of which he is the general manager and as some of the people in this locality are interested in that business, what he has to say may be of interest.

His factory is now using about 30,000 pounds of milk per day. During the months of June and July they pay about $1.25 per hundred for four per cent milk, which is the basis on which they figure. They claim that this gives the farmer his regular price for the cream at the creamery and allows him about 20 cents per hundred for his skimmed milk.

Prices of milk vary, of course, with the season the same as other establishments of the same kind. Experience has shown that where condensers have been established the country adjoining the factory has been very prosperous.

He cited Washington county, Oregon, as an example, showing how prosperous the country had grown. That county has been the most thoroughly developed of any in the state and nearly all the land has been divided into 20 acre tracts.

The farmers are all well-to-do and independent through the sale of milk to the factory. There is another feature about the business, according to Dr. Wood and that is the feed on which the cows are fed. He says that it makes a great deal of difference the kind of feed the cattle eat, where the milk is used in a condensery.

There must not be the least unnatural odor or taste to the milk, therefore he said he did not know just whether the alfalfa fed cows would produce milk that could be used in a condensery or not, but that could easily be determined by making inquiry of the government experimental station.

He stated that the best feed that has been found to his knowledge, is the oat hay mixed with clover or a kind of pea vine which grows very extensively in the Willamette valley. Lately the agriculturists are inducing what they call thousand headed kale which is proving to be very beneficial.

Staats-Hart Nuptials.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. T. Hart of this city when his daughter, Opal, was married to Mr. Roscoe Staats of Portland. The wedding occurred Wednesday of last week, June 10th, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. F. Chase. The parlor was tastily decorated with evergreens. Only intimate relatives were present on the joyous occasion. After the banquet they departed for Salem on their way to Portland where they are now residing. They were the recipients of many handsome presents from their many friends.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for three days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by P. M. Kirkwood.

Polk Co. Sheep for Wyoming.

T. J. Fryer sold to E. S. Talbott of McMinnville a car load of bucks. They will be shipped to Sheridan, Wyoming. The movement of sheep for breeding purposes is not as great as last fall. The price obtained by Mr. Fryer was very satisfactory.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters, writes Frank Conlan of No. 433 Houston St., New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at all druggists. 50c.

BUSY WEEK AT STATE NORMAL

This is the week for final examinations at the state normal and as a matter of course the students are all very busy with note book and references while the faculty have no spare time from grading papers, etc., with the usual preparation for the annual commencement next there is a good deal of stir in the building and about the grounds.

The Greek Drama Pygmalion and Galatea will be given in the assembly hall on Saturday of this week. This is a portrayal of the old customs and laws of Grecian mythology and shows the role of the artist and servant as well as that of the nobles in a most admirable manner. Several of the players have appeared in local plays before and under the direction of Miss Tutthill this promises to be an unusually good presentation.

Last week the Vespertine and Delphion literary society enjoyed an afternoon siesta on the banks of the Willamette. The time was spent in a round of games and boat rowing and as a fitting climax supper was prepared with L. A. Robinson as head chef. The ladies say a bacon roaster Mr. Robinson is a decided success. They returned upon the usual hay rack a merry, jolly crowd.

President Ressler returned last week from his trip to the East and though fatigued from his 7000 miles of travel yet he was in good spirits and reported a very pleasant and profitable journey. While away he spent much time in Columbia University at New York inspecting the work at Teachers College at Morningside Heights. He also visited a number of the best normals while en route and after making a comparative, close study of their methods and plans says he is all the more pleased with the work as it is done here in Oregon. It is needless to say he was soon buried in work after his return. Upon his first appearance in assembly he was given a most hearty greeting by the entire student body.

A. C. Hampton who has been president of the high school at Pendleton visited at the normal last week. He will return for the coming year at an increase in salary. His many friends here take much pleasure in his success.

CHATTY LETTER FROM PORTLAND

Peace and Plenty Reign in Oregon.

EUGENE'S NEW DEPOT OPENS

Commencement Exercises at Various Oregon Schools Next Week.

While cyclones and floods are visiting the South, East and Middle West, and the rising waters are destroying millions of dollars worth of farm and city property, Oregon is enjoying beautiful weather, delicious fruit, and looking for the confidence inspired by assured crops this fall.

Portland lumbermen met Monday night at the Commercial Club to arrange for a big excursion to Coos Bay. Concatenations will be held at Marshfield June 22d and Bandon on the 24th.

On June 24th Portland business men will be the guests of Eugene. A special train will leave for the university town at seven in the morning and the party will participate in the opening of the depot there, will attend the commercial exercises at the university and be entertained at a reception tendered by the Eugene Commercial Club.

The Oregon Humane Society have installed nine ornamental drinking fountains at various points throughout the city. In addition to the regulation drinking cups, places are provided for dogs and horses. Eight of these fountains were presented by citizens of Portland, while the ninth is the gift of the Natural Humane Society of New York, who are presenting similar fountains to different cities in the United States.

The housewarming of the Portland Commercial Club in its new eight story steel home, which was held last Friday night, brought together a large and enthusiastic body of prominent citizens and it was probably the happiest event that has occurred in this city since the Lewis & Clark Exposition.

The daily rose show in the lobby of the Chamber of Commerce draws thousands of visitors, while at the Commercial Club large quantities of perfect blooms are furnished each day by different members of the club for the decoration of the rooms. Oregon City has occupied the center of the stage during the last week with an especially successful rose show and carnival.

Secretary C. H. Marsh, of the Pendleton Commercial Association is enthusiastic over the future of his city and Umatilla county, and advises that his soliciting committee will not cease their efforts until they have secured $8,000 to give publicity to the resources and advantages of the county.

Few lectures have had as representative audiences, few lecturers have been accorded the rapt attention, as greeted R. H. Thompson, City Engineer of Seattle for twenty years, when he discussed "Good Roads and How to Make Them" at the Empire Theatre last Thursday night. He proved that such improvements pay both from the standpoint of sanitation and finance.

CHAUTAQUA PROGRAM OUT.

The souvenir program of the fifteenth annual assembly of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association at Gladstone Park has been handed to this office. The date set is July 7 to 19 inclusive. The management has secured, among other notables, John Sharp Williams, democratic leader of the house of representatives, Dr. Ira Landrith, president of Belmont College, of Nashville Tenn.,

Robt. McIntyre, one of the finest popular speakers of the American continent, Alfred Montgomery, who will bring with him $90,000 worth of paintings and whose talk will be chiefly of art, and many others. The chautauqua will be of great interest to those fortunate enough to attend.

No Humbug.

No humbug claims to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well known remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than of any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is safe and sure. Dove & Williams.

Suffering From Spinal Meningitis.

L. Galbraith, who was here during the races with his horses, was in Independence Tuesday. Mr. Galbraith reports that his little 5-year-old boy fell from a buggy out near Lebanon one day last week which resulted in severe injury to the little fellow's spine. The boy was sent to Eugene Monday and Mr. Galbraith hopes that the boy's injuries will permit of his removal to Oakland to rejoin his mother.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route, 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half a 25 cent box won the day for me by afflicting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at all druggists.

EUGENE GOES WILD WITH JOY

If you would know what the referendum of the $125,000 appropriation for the University of Oregon which was voted on at the June election really meant to that institution, its teachers and students, read the story in last Sunday's Oregonian. "The Night Eugene Went Wild with Joy." Following are extracts from Miss Van Waters' story:

"The struggle began when the University of Oregon discovered that its appropriation was not enough to pay running expenses. By the end of 1906 the university found itself in a precarious condition. Attendance had increased 23 per cent over the year before, the university was growing rapidly in popular favor, her students were achieving intellectual and athletic honors, yet there were not funds enough in the treasury to maintain the institution."

"A champion appeared at last in Mr. Allen Eaton, representative from Lane county and an Oregon graduate. He introduced in the last session of the legislature the famous $125,000 appropriation bill, providing for the support and maintenance of the University of Oregon."

"The whole tale of the struggle for the appropriation will never be told. Perhaps the greatest heroes were those who had received no personal benefit from the university, who in many cases have never seen it, yet who toiled against tremendous odds in the back districts of the state. They were alone in the ranks of the enemy. Committee, students, nor other workers received pay for their services. There was nothing in it for them. They simply felt that the reputation of Oregon was at stake. It was a case of loyal devotion to a cause."

"On the morning of June 1 everyone awoke to the fact that this was the day of momentous issue. It would all be settled within a few hours. For weal or woe the struggle would be over. How many maddening thoughts occurred to the leaders then? How many heart-searching questions as to whether anything had been left
