MONMOUTH: SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1871.

J. M. Baltimore is our only authorized agent at Portland, Oregon.

DEAF MUTE SCHOOL.—We give place in this issue to the article, calling attention to the school in Salem presided over by Prof. W. S. Smith, who is also a deaf mute. We are personally acquainted with Prof. Smith, and take pleasure in adding our testimony to his competency as a scholar, and worthiness for the important and responsible position which he occupies.

ADDRESS OF PROF. BIDDLE.—The address of Prof. Biddle, on the first page, contains too much valuable matter to be limited to the teachers before whom it was delivered. We requested Prof. B. to furnish us a copy for publication, which he kindly consented to do.

SIDEWALK.—The parties dwelling on the west side of Main street have sent for twenty thousand feet of lumber to be used in constructing a sidewalk; to extend from the college building to Mr. Hendrickson's dwelling.

THE first annual catalogue of the Bishop Scott Grammar School, Portland, Oregon, is received. This school will undoubtedly be productive of great good.

WE have received the catalogue of Willamette University for 1870-71. Thos. M. Gatch, President. The printing is elegant. Executed by E. M. Waite, Salem, Oregon.

MR. J. C. BELL, of Independence, having purchased a commodious warehouse, is now ready and willing to accommodate all persons wishing to store wheat.

Those wishing to purchase dry-goods or groceries will find it to their advantage to call at once upon Mr. Luther Ground, who can supply them with anything they desire.

THE COAST.—Large parties are passing through our village, almost every day en route for the Salmon river coast.

BROTHER H. LINDSAY has on hand a full supply of dry-goods and groceries.

WHEAT is in great demand, as may be seen by the advertisement of Mr. J. C. Bell of Independence. He also announces that he has eight splendid wagons which he will sell cheap for cash or exchange for wheat.

MR. JOHN WOLVERTON has just shown us some oats which measured seven feet ten inches, and averaged over three hundred grains to the head. This is the largest oats we have seen for several years.

MR. J. H. D. HENDERSON'S communication and several other important matters are omitted for want of space.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Geo. H. Himes, of Portland Oregon, called upon us last Wednesday.

SEVERAL parties in this locality will commence threshing, next Monday.

THANKS, to Mr. N. H. Butler for favors conferred.

OREGON DEAF MUTE INSTITUTE.

SALEM, OREGON. We, the undersigned citizens of Salem, take this method of showing our sympathy with Prof. Wm. S. Smith, in his efforts to establish in Oregon a school for Deaf Mutes. The marked progress his pupils have made in the few months they have been under his care, as shown by the recent examination, is to us a sufficient evidence of his aptness for this work.

We believe him to be a man fully devoted to the interests of this unfortunate class, and well qualified to instruct them.

We most heartily commend this School to the confidence of parents who have deaf mute children,—to the consideration of legislators, whose duty it is to make it a permanent institution,—and to the active sympathy of the general public.

UNIVERSITY EXERCISES.—Yesterday finished the exercises of Commencement week at the University, and diplomas were conferred upon 9 graduates 5 ladies—gentleman, viz: Lafayette Williams Amelia E. Scriber Virginia Condit Malison L. Jones Sarah Bridges Frank M. Holson, Phibe Jery, Augustus A. Bonney and Eliza Robinson. The morning exercises consisted of original essays by the graduates, several of which were very interesting and were received with applause.

The musical portion of the exercises was unusually good, under charge of Miss Blanche Gray, and Miss Berry, the musical instructor being unwell. "The Beautiful Hills" was rendered with surprising effect. An address to the graduates was delivered by Prof. Rogers of Portland and won much commendation from everyone. The musical performance was very fine indeed. The degrees were conferred by the President and the business of the year has therefore closed.—Salem Statesman.

The Bible allows no slovenliness in business. Christianity encourages invention, promotes refinement, suggests method, regularity, good order, promptness, good humor, good manners and good livings. The resources of the earth are abundant for all. If mutual labors were made a part of education—an essential in every school and college curriculum—the world would be brighter and cheerier for the change. It is because labor has been dummed out as a toll for a livelihood—underpaid, overtaxed, unfashioned, and unchurched—that so many toilers are worn, and weary, and forced to be illiterate, and melancholy; whereas, if their work and positions were properly rewarded, they would be strong, vigorous, intellectual, religious, and happy.—Ec.

The evils arising from jesting upon Scripture are even greater than appear at first. It leads in general to irreverence to Scripture. No man would jest with the dying; words of God are quite as solemn. When we have heard a comic or vulgar tale connected with a text of Scripture, such is the power of association that we never hear the text afterward without thinking of the jest. The effect of this is obvious. He who is much engaged in this kind of false wit will come at length to have a large portion of Holy Scripture spotted over by his unholy fancy.

A Christian woman is one who feels and acts as Christ felt and acted to the outcast. The woman who is too refined to see the misery of her lost sisters, too modest to endure the mention of them, and too pure to "lend a hand," may be a Pharisee, but is certainly not a Christian.

Be not angry that you cannot make others as you wish them to be, since you cannot make yourself what you wish to be.

He that despiseth small things shall fall little by little. The less wit a man has, the less he knows he wants it. It takes a smart man to conceal from others what he don't know. Meditation is the mother of devotion, but the daughter of retirement. Prefer loss before unjust gain, for that brings grief but once, this forever. The more you exercise your memory the better and more reliable it will become. Some are unwisely liberal, and more delight to give presents than to pay debts. Spartan mothers used to counsel their sons: "If your sword be too short, add a step to it." Some people are commended for a giddy kind of humor, which is as much a virtue as drunkenness. What a man is at home, that he is indeed, if not to the world, yet to his own conscience and to God. Honor is like the shadow, which as it flees from those that follow it, so it follows those that flee from it. The superficial often applaud vanity and weakness, when they fancy they are admiring and approving virtue. Love is the golden thread that runs through the Gospel—God's love to us, ours to him and one to another. Acknowledging we have been in the wrong is only showing that we are wiser to-day than we were yesterday. Those who are ambitious of originality, and aim at it, are necessarily led by others, since they seek to be different from them. It is not disgraceful to any one who is to poor to confess his poverty, but the not exerting one's self to escape poverty is disgraceful. Sin is but a bitter-sweet at best, and the fine colors of the serpent do by no means make amends for the smart and position of the sting. Those who have suffered much are like those who know many languages; they have learned to understand and be understood by all. A mind full of piety and knowledge is always rich; it is a bank that never fails; it yields a perpetual dividend of happiness. A newspaper is a continual school-teacher in the house, ready to impart information at any time, to any one who can read or listen. The worst enemies are the most injured by slander; as we usually find that to be the best fruit which the birds have been pecking at. Trust him little who smilingly praises all alike; him less who sneeringly censures all alike; him least who is coldly indifferent to all alike. If good people would but make goodness agreeable, and smiles instead of frowning in their virtue, how many would be won to the good cause. Experience teaches, it is true, but she never teaches in time. Each event brings its lesson, and the lesson is remembered, but the same event never occurs again. Prejudices resemble the fogs that turn the bright sun into a dull copper ball; and a bad heart is like the jaundice that sees its own dingy yellow in the purest lily. The Smith family of Baltimore are bent getting up the first semi-annual excursion. All the "Smiths, Smyths, Schmits, Schmidts, Schmids, Smids and Smits" are invited to attend and if they accept, the excursion party promises to be more numerous than any ever gotten up before. The foundation of domestic happiness is faith in the virtue of women; The foundation of political happiness is faith in the integrity of man. The foundation of all happiness, temporal and eternal, is faith in the good ness, the righteousness, the mercy and love of God. John Hatfield, who died a few days ago in Troy, New York, is said to be the first maker of Lucifer matches in this country. He cut them out one by one with his knife as long ago as 1839, and prepared the chemical combustible by a process then known only to himself. An eccentric wealthy gentleman stuck up a board in a field in his estate upon which was painted the following: "I will give this field to any man who is contented." He soon had an applicant. "Well sir, are you a contented man?" "Yes, sir, very." "Then what do you want with my field?" The applicant did not stop to reply. What makes you green hills so beautiful? Not the outstanding or stately elm but the bright sward which clothes its slopes, composed of innumerable blades of grass. It is of small things that a great life is made up; and he who will acknowledge no life as great, save that which is built up of great things, will find little in Bible character to admire or copy.

A GOOD LAW—IF ENFORCED.—The New Jersey Legislature has enacted a temperance law that reaches a vital point of the evil. It provides that if any person shall sell to another any distilled spirits or malt liquors manufactured of spurious ingredients, poisons, or adulterations of any kind, the offender shall be punished by a fine of one thousand dollars and imprisonment not exceeding two years. This touches one of the greatest elements of evil in the traffic. Any such thing as pure liquor, exists as a memory of the past. Drugging and doctoring in the established order, so that the drinker, if not absolutely poisoned, is sure of being swindled. Keep your own secrets, if you have any.
