QUR YOUNG FOLKS.

Honesty the Best Polley.

One day the Duke of Buccleuch, Scotch nobleman, bought a cow in the neighborhood of Dalkeith, where he lived. The cow was to be sent home the next day. Early in the the cow to his residence ... The cow was very unruly, and the poor boy. could not get on with her at all.

"Hie, mun, come here, and gie's a , hand wi' this beast."

The Duke walked slowly on, not seeming to notice the boy, who still kept calling for his help. At last, finding that he could not get on with the cow, be cried out in distress; "Come here, mun, and help us, and as sure as anything, I'll gle ye half

The butler fell on his knees, con fessed his fault, and begged to be forgiven; but the Duke indignantly ordered him to give the boy the sovereign and quit his service immediately. "You have lost," said he; "your money, your situation, and your character by your deceitfulness; learn for the future that honesty is the best policy."

The boy now found out who it was that helped him to drive the cow; and the Duke was so pleased with the manliness and honesty of the boy, that he sent him to school and provided for him at his own expense. -Early Days,

"And Other Fell on Good Ground."

A church was organized last July at Sanda, twenty miles northwest of Kobe, in Japan. But some 'ten er fifteen years before, a Chinese Bible house, the Dake slipped away from had been left there, no one knows by whom; and as the damin did not forbid the perusal of it, it was read and listened to by a large number of persons. This prepared the way for the preaching of the Gospel, and cured a willing audience for the missionary who went to the people the boy, so as to meet him on his two years since, and now organized this church. This is another ileus tration of the value of sending the printed Gospel in advance of oral teachers. In China and Japan the way is thought to be open for a great deal of this kind of distribution.

Five years ago they absorbed the business conducted by Mr. John Hooper, who was the first to go into this kind of enterprise. Now they have the satisfaction of controlling the most extensive and complete advertising connection which has ever been secured, and one which would be hardly possible in any ther country but this. They have succeeded in working down a complex business into so thoroughly a systematic method that no change in the newspaper system of America can escape notice, while the widest information upon all topics interesting to advertisers is placed readily at the disposal of the public.
