TARIFF-MADE MILLIONS.

Carnegie has so much money that he does not know what to do with it. His gift of two million dollars to the Cooper Union is in line with his recent bequests. While Carnegie is entitled to great praise for his benefactions it must not be forgotten that his vast wealth was drawn from the people through tariff laws that are still in effect, and still drawing tribute from the people not only for Carnegie, but for thousands of other protected manufacturers.

Carnegie is giving away a small portion of the many millions he has taken from the people. There are other people who have amassed millions through the operation of special laws, but as they hold their wealth with a close grip the object lesson of tariff workings is not brought home to the public as in the Carnegie incident.

WHY SHOULD BONDSMEN PAY?

Albany Democrat.
"The proposed cases of the state of Oregon to collect about $30,000 on account of the shortage of a clerk of the land board suggests that things must be run in a very loose way by the state government when a man can get away with that amount of money on a $5,000 bond. Some one ought to be responsible besides the state, but no one in all probability will, except the bondsmen for the $5,000, and they should step up like men and pay without a suit."

Why should the state exact the loss incurred from a dishonest official, or any part thereof, from innocent bondsmen? The people elected Pennoyer, McBride and Metchan respectively governor, secretary of state and state treasurer. They, or the majority thereof, appointed Geo W Davis clerk of the school land board. He has proved a defaulter, and now the state proposes to collect all it can from bondsmen who lent their names as accommodations. It is radically wrong. The people chose their officials to represent them and should stand the loss, not exact it from a few bondsmen.

Further regarding this matter of bonds for public officers: They are selected by the people, either directly or indirectly, and there is no equity or justice in stripping a few citizens of their possessions with which to compensate the state for the dishonesty of an official chosen by the people of the state. And the bond does not make the man honest. He can steal under bonds as well as without them. We do not believe with the Democrat that the bondsmen "should step up like men and pay without a suit." We say fight it and make the loss fall where it should, on the state.

The sultan of Turkey is doubtless many kinds of a rascal, but he is within his rights in demanding that postoffices maintained in Turkey by several European nations should go. There is not one of those nations that would allow a Turkish postoffice to be maintained within its borders.

"POCKET" HUNTING.

Southern Oregon mining districts are noted for the collection of gold in pockets, while the rest of the ledge or immediate locality may be almost barren of the precious metal. A Grant's Pass dispatch has this interesting account of the work of the pocket-hunter:

The professional pocket-hunter leaves town every month or so with his pack-horse laden with pick, shovel, pan, blankets and "grub." Out in the mountains he finds his ground and strikes camp. He has planned his whole route and programme before starting. Taking up a near-by water-course, he pans the dirt. If he gets a color he pans again in another place. If the color shows better he smiles, for he knows then he's on a "trace." He follows the stream, panning. At this juncture the gold colors are examined minutely. The pocket-hunter examines the colors again later on, and his experience and knowledge tell him instantly whether the two come from the same ledge or pocket. Along the stream he passes to find the pocket in the water-course or to trace it up the mountain side above; perhaps neither. For finding pockets is slow work, and requires more patience and perseverance than anything else. When once the pocket-hunter strikes a trace, he is like a hound after a jack rabbit—there is no stopping him.

Some notable pockets have been found in Southern Oregon. The celebrated Gold Hill pocket, discovered in the crater-like summit of a mountain above Gold Hill, contained, all told, two millions or more dollars. Several men were shot over the treasure, and the men who first found it realized but about $4000 for their property.

Pockets containing $200 and $300 are continually being unearthed in the Southern Oregon mountains. Some by chance, but nearly all as the result of the pocket-hunter's careful patient and industrious labor.

Chinese astrologers announce that September 1st will be a lucky day for the court to return to Peking. The astrologers are "on to their job," as it were. Probably by that time Chinese affairs will be quieted down so there will be no danger of the astrologers losing their heads through fixing an inopportune date. Many a man before has played for time.

British orders for American built locomotives have become so numerous that a systematic crusade in the interest of the home manufactured engines is being made through the British press. Sir Charles Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, of Canada, favors the American built locomotive saying that his opinion is that "the British government placed the contracts for locomotives with American firms because it believed them to be the best." A good and sufficient reason.

Trees planted at Grant's tomb by Li Hung Chang have been despoiled by relic hunters, who took leaves and twigs to their great detriment, and loss of symmetry and beauty. Hereafter a special guard will be detained for the tomb in Central Park.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs L Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only 60c, at W L DeLano's.

Col Geo O Yoran has sold his residence lot on West Seventh street and has purchased lots on the west side of Lincoln street between Seventh and Eighth where he has commenced the erection of a two-story nine-room dwelling to cost in the neighborhood of $1000.

A Yoncalla correspondent to the Roseburg Review writes this concerning a well known Eugene boy who has been visiting at Yoncalla: "Albert Applegate will leave for McMinnville Monday morning to take charge of the freight office. He will also study telegraphy under his brother-in-law, Arthur Penno, who is in charge of the office at that place."

"When Johnnie Jones and Jennie Smith
First felt young Cupid's dart
They sat upon the ottoman
And sat thus far apart.
But later on was heard a sound—
'Twas very like a kiss—
And lo! upon the ottoman
They sat somewhat bathetic."

Good luck simply thrusts itself upon some people. A New York society girl got married recently to a man who claimed to be a French count and who now turns out to be a horse-doctor.

A western editor said that silver buckles on garters were becoming fashionable and that he hoped "to see more of them." His wife sued for a divorce, and the only woman in town who had silver buckles on her garters cowhided the editor until he was as raw as a potato.

Brazilian navy officers called on the President the other day, then visited the tomb of Washington. Undoubtedly they had read the history of our struggle for independence. "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his fellow-citizens," the pages of history bear no brighter name, no record of purer patriotism than that of George Washington!

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's.
