

Catarrh

Is a constitutional disease. It originates in a scrofulous condition of the blood and depends on that condition. It often causes headache and dizziness, inflames the taste, smell and hearing, affects the vocal organs, disturbs the stomach, and is always radically and permanently cured by the blood-purifying, alterative and tonic action of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

This great medicine has wrought the most wonderful cures of all diseases depending upon scrofula or the scrofulous habit. HOOD'S PILLS are the best cathartic.

Johnny—Air.

Teacher—That's right. Now, Tommy, of what is air composed?

Tommy—Breath.

European Match Companies.

"An Austrian firm uses 10 tons of sulphur a year and turns out 25,000,000 matches. Another match company, an English one, uses 10,000 pounds of sulphur, 700,000 pounds of choice white timber, and 50 tons of strawboard for its boxes in the same time.

Big Estates Doubled.

It is declared by Wall Street men that the estates of Commodore Vanderbilt and Jay Gould have about doubled in the hands of the late owners. The Vanderbilt properties were worth $20,000,000 and the Gould interests $70,000,000.

The Only Way.

An Illinois attorney argued to the court, one after another, a series of very weak points, none of which seemed to the court to have any merit, until the court finally said:

"Mr. —, do you think there is anything in these points?"

"Well, judge, perhaps there isn't much in any one of them alone, but I didn't know but your honor would kind of bunch them."

King Henry's Debts.

Duke Henry—My dear, you are all of those royal carriages standing out in front of the palace?

Queen Wilhelmina—I wonder that you ask. They are standing there to prevent the wretched collection agency from stopping its dead wagon in front of the door. That's why.

The New Bicycle.

Bicycle manufacturers state that the bicycle for this year will be practically the same model as 1900, as improvement seems to be impossible. Precisely the same is true of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It represents the limits of science, and it is impossible to make a better medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. Try it for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, gnatiness, or sour stomach, and you will be convinced. Never take a substitute.

A Time for Everything.

"I have made all the arrangements for your divorce," said the lawyer.

"No," replied the sensational actress, "after some reflection. Not yet. My press agent is on his vacation."

SINKING SPELLS.

ALARMING SYMPTOMS DESCRIBED IN A SWORN STATEMENT.

Mrs. W. T. Clark, of Rome, N. Y. Tells Why She is Now Recommending a Well-known Remedy to Her Friends.

Indigestion and stomach trouble have many results that are not always readily traced to their real cause. Sometimes the kidneys are apparently affected but more often an irregularity of the heart's action produces a far more alarming symptom. The cause is easily explained and is removed when the stomach trouble is cured. A case in point is that of Mrs. W. T. Clark, of 318 West Thomas street, Rome, N. Y. She says:

"To begin with, I had gastritis, which brought on sinking spells for about an hour every morning. I was very weak and nervous and finally was compelled to take to my bed. My illness began in the spring of 1897, and continued for about four months. For about half this time I was confined to my bed. I suffered greatly from the stomach trouble and nervousness, but what alarmed me most was the sinking feeling at the heart."

"I had read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and when some of my friends recommended the pills very highly, I decided to give them a trial. I bought one box and by the time this was used up the sinking spells had ceased. I felt better but continued taking the pills until I had used 12 boxes. I still keep the pills in the house for I believe that they are a splendid medicine. I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my friends who are ailing for I know that they will do all that is claimed for them."

Signed, MRS. W. T. CLARK. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 9th day of April, 1900.

Benj. S. Brown, Notary Public.

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had at all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A Problem Solved.

George—Why do women talk so much?

Fanny—So the men can't. They think the lesser of the two evils the better.

The Best Prescription for Malaria

Chills and Fever is a bottle of Grove's Tasteless Chilli Tonic. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, No Pay. Price 50c.

After Seeing the Library.

"Gran'pa, please draw me a naked boy—'thout a stitch o' clothes—not even shoes."

"Why, Tommy, that wouldn't be proper."

"Yes, it would, gran'pa; I want to put wings on him—an' make him an' angel."

GOOD Short Stories

The Duty of Mothers.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination, but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham's Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., and secure from a woman the most efficient advice with out charge.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swelled, and was generally miserable. She received an answer promptly with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularities.

Nothing to the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

Senator Vest of Missouri tells of a mass meeting once when a certain resolution was discussed for several hours. Finally one of the delegates began a speech which wandered all over creation. Some one interrupted him with the remark that he ought to confine his remarks to the resolution.

"Yes," said Judge Phillips, who was presiding, "the gentleman must speak to the resolution." "Let us have the resolution read," suggested some one in the meeting. Judge Phillips stepped down and whispered to the absent-minded secretary. "Read the resolution," he said. "H'm?" queried the secretary, waking up "what resolution?"

"The one we have been discussing for several hours," replied Judge Phillips. The resolution was hunted for high and low, but could not be found. On the secretary's desk there was a bit of paper which looked as if it had been nibbled by a mouse. It was all that remained of the resolution. The absent-minded secretary had eaten the rest.

During one of his expeditions in the Philippines, the late Gen. Lawton came across the trail of a party of Filipinos, which he followed for several days with a small body of troops. One day he and his staff reached the top of a small eminence and saw a river stretching below them but a short distance ahead.

Turning to one of his aids, the General said: "Lieutenant, ride ahead and see if that river is fordable." The Lieutenant put spurs to his horse, and soon entered the river. A few feet from shore the bottom shelved off suddenly and the horse was soon foundering in deep water. The Lieutenant disengaged himself and swam to the shore, which the horse also reached in a short time. After a brief chase, to the amusement of the General and the staff, the horse was recaptured, and mounting him, the Lieutenant rode back. His khaki uniform was soaked and bedraggled and the water splurted from the tops of his military boots at every jump of his horse. Riding up to the General he gravely saluted, and said: "I have the honor to report, sir, that the river is not fordable." Lawton looked at him a moment, trying to maintain the dignity of his position, but the situation was too ludicrous for him. He burst into a hearty laugh in which the staff joined at the expense of the young lieutenant, who, however, tells the story on himself.

Pope's Wardrobe.

A large staff of women is employed at the Vatican for the sole purpose of keeping the Pope's wardrobe in perfect condition. No spot or stain may disfigure the garments worn by his Holiness, and, as he always appears in white, even a few hours' wear deprives the robes of their freshness. It is considered that no man's hand is daunt enough for their care, so in this one respect women are permitted to serve the Pontiff. Only the most delicate materials are used, moire silk being the summer fabric and a specially woven fine cloth the winter one.

A Hebrides Island for Sale.

It is announced that the Duke of Argyll intends to sell Tiree, the most fertile island of the Argyleshire Hebrides. It is some twelve miles long and four miles broad. By reason of its flatness, Tiree is prettily described in an ancient Celtic legend as "the kingdom whose summits are lower than the waves."

Around the coast there are some forty rounded watch towers of unknown history and several "standing stones." The Duke's father's house was erected in the middle of the eighteenth century on the site of the venerable ruin of a turreted castle.—London Chronicle.

Fears a Timber Famine.

If it were not for the foreign supplies England receives a timber famine would have overtaken the country long ago, because the home-grown supply has not been able to meet a tithe of the demand for long enough, and that only of inferior kinds of timber. If the foreign supply of fir alone was to fall off sensibly now the whole building trade of the country would come to a partial standstill and the wagon companies would be next to idle.

Triad to Please Her.

Mistress—I'd just like to know what was the meaning of that loud and angry talking down stairs last night?

Domestic—That was just me and me husband, mum.

"Your husband? You told me when you came that you were not married."

"I wasn't, then, mum; but you complained about havin' so much love-mak' in th' kitchen, so I married use of 'em."—New York Weekly.

Altogether Different.

"It's all very well before a girl's married for her to get a flower in her hair," remarked the Observer of Events and Things. "But it's an entirely different matter if after she's married she gets her hair in the flour."—Yonkers Statesman.

AFRICAN HORSES ARE HARDY.

Possess Remarkable Endurance and Power to Travel.

One of the very first things that strike the wanderer in the great expanses of the southern hemisphere is the strength and endurance of the horse. Though to look at they are the scariest scrags I ever set eyes on, yet they appear to be possessed of a power of getting over the ground that is little short of miraculous and so astonishing in its persistence as to seem automatic. A very striking instance came under my notice only a few days after landing in Cape Town in 1863. I was sitting one Saturday afternoon on the stoop of Park's Hotel, which occupied the corner of Adelsley and Strand streets, when a dust-covered horseman stopped and dismounted. His horse was taken to the stables and in the course of conversation in the bar I learned that he was a member of a legislative assembly for an up-country district. There was no railway communication with the interior in those days and he had ridden in from his home at Colesberg in less than six days, having started the previous Monday.

No Colesberg is more than 500 miles from Cape Town and the country is very rough going, much of it being sand and other parts very mountainous. No English-bred horse, fed according to English methods, could have accomplished such a ride as this, more especially when we consider the temperature of the Cape Colony. I went to look at the animal on which the journey had been performed and found it to be a little roan schimmel barely fourteen hands and apparently as fresh as paint. Another very remarkable ride that came under my notice was performed by a Boer who lived a few miles from Graytown, in Natal. His wife was taken ill and a particular medicine, not to be obtained in Graytown, was imperative. So in the early hours of the night he started for Maritzburg, fifty miles distant, through an extremely hilly country and was back on his farm in sixteen hours. The remarkable thing in this ride was that this Boer weighed over seventeen stone.

In my own experience many instances of the wonderful staying powers of African horses have occurred. To mention one, in 1880, I had been appointed honorary secretary of the first athletic sports held in the Transvaal country of Natal. They were to be held in Graytown on boxing day, which fell on a Monday. All preparations, etc., were concluded early in December, when I received an urgent request to go to the Transvaal to look after a friend who was lying very ill in his wagon with an attendant but a couple of raw kafirs. I rode as hard as I could and found him among the kopjes of the Drakenberg, between Lydenberg and Wakkerstrom, very bad with fever, which he had contracted somewhere in the low country to the northwest. I tended him for some days until he was clearly out of danger and then suddenly remembered that I had to be in Graytown on Monday morning. I was then sitting on the wagon box drinking my morning coffee at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Graytown was 250 miles away, but I was at my post there at 10 a. m. and in addition took a second prize both in running and jumping competitions.—African Life.

Rheumatism

Rheumatism is due to an excess of acid in the blood. When this escapes through the pores of the skin, as it often does, it produces some form of skin eruption—some ite disease like Eczema or Urticaria—but when these little tubes or sweat glands are suddenly closed by exposure to cold and sudden chilling of the body, then the poisons thrown off by the blood, finding no outlet, settle in membranes, muscles, tissues and nerves. These parts become greatly inflamed, feverish and tender; dagger-like, maddening pains follow in
