ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.
Harry E. Eggerton "Worked" the County for $46.
Daily Guard, July 11
A young man aged about 21 or 22, who gave his name as Harry E. Eggerton, this morning presented to County Clerk Lee with animal scalps, took oath that he was a resident of Lane county and that the animals from which he obtained the scalps were killed in this county. He was paid $2 a piece or $46 in all for the scalps, according to law, and nothing more was thought of the matter until Clerk Lee received a telephone message from the county clerk of Lane county at Albany, stating that the young fellow had tried to dispose of the scalps there. Mr. Lee immediately notified Sheriff Withers, and Eggerton was arrested shortly afterward on the charge of perjury and lodged in the county jail. He will be given an examination Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock before Justice C. A. Wintermeier.
Eggerton has an accomplice, who is still at large, and they have come up the valley from Portland, probably working the same game on the several counties on their way up. They failed to work it at Albany, however, as it seems the clerk there was "next" to their game.

AN OLD LANDMARK.
The Stukely Ellsworth Residence Being Torn Down.
Daily Guard July 11
One of the oldest residences in Eugene is being torn down to make room for a modern dwelling house which will immediately be built on the site. It is the house on Ninth street, occupied by S. L. Long, the hardware merchant, and known as the old Stukely Ellsworth residence. As soon as the rubbish is cleared away Mr. Long will erect a two story dwelling at a cost of something over $1000.
The old house was built in 1856 and immediately afterwards occupied by Stukely Ellsworth who had just arrived from Champong, Marion county, with a bride, Mr. Ellsworth was a prominent attorney in the early days and lived here many years, going from here to La Grande, where he died a few years ago.
The old house was the scene of a tragedy about the year of 1863, or perhaps 1864. One Shirley had been sent to the penitentiary for horse-stealing, and it seems Ellsworth was instrumental in his conviction. When Shirley had served out his sentence and was released he threatened to take Ellsworth's life and one day proceeded to carry his threat into execution. He went to the house heavily armed and was entering the gate when Ellsworth saw him and shot him dead with a pistol.
Ellsworth was given a trial, but was discharged on the ground that the killing was done in self defense.

SPLENDID HEAT.—This morning Geo. G. ... brought to the GUARD office a fine bunch of wheat ... from Fern Ridge which he recently sold to J. H. Brigham, late of Kansas. The stalks are fully six feet high, the heads completely filled and the grains very large. Mr. G. says this is a fair sample of the whole field. The crop of oats on that farm is also fine and a large yield will be had this year.
FINED $2 AND COSTS.—Will Turner, aged about 14 years, was taken before Recorder Dorris this forenoon and fined $2 and costs, amounting to $5 in all, for fast bicycle riding on the sidewalks. Yesterday afternoon as W. E. Brown, the banker, was riding leisurely along on his wheel, Turner came dashing down Fifth street at a break-neck speed, ran into Mr. Brown, damaging his wheel and bruising him up considerably.
PLENTY OF BARK NOW.—W. W. Haines, one of the proprietors of the Eugene tannery, went to Roseburg this afternoon on business connected with the establishment. The tannery is now well supplied with tan bark, that article having been hard to secure for several months before. Commencing Monday, Mr. Haines says, a full force of men will again be put to work.
NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—Prof. A. B. Hoag, who occupied the chair of English in Albany College last year, has purchased of W. M. Brown the Lebanon Critic. He will assume control of the paper on August 1. Mr. Brown will remain in Lebanon and practice law.

FOURTH AT BLACHLEY.
A Grand Time Was Had by the Residents of That Vicinity.

BLACHLEY, July 8
EDITOR GUARD: We had an interesting time the Fourth. The people of this vicinity assembled at a little nook on Mr. Blachley's place where a stand had been prepared to carry out the programme.
The first thing in order was the Declaration of Independence which was creditably read by G. W. Copley who made the following pertinent remarks afterwards:
"When our forefathers conceived the idea that the people had a just right to choose their own rulers and embodied that idea in the Declaration of Independence, the kings of the Old World loudly protested against it; for, said they, if this idea, that all power inhere in the people instead of in the king, be true and prevails it will completely overthrow our doctrine of the divine right of kings and the entailment of monarchy in accordance with the law of primogeniture. Hence, the kings of the world hoped that England would speedily crush the rebellion of her American colonies and bring them back in sub limine at the foot of the throne. But for once old monarchy had miscalculated her strength and greatly underrated the qualities of the ages and heroes born and nurtured in the wilderness of America. Our revolutionary sires struck for freedom and not for plunder; and their faith in the justice of their cause neved their arms to fight a noble battle. Their inspiration was free dom, and they resolved to die free men with arms in their hands rather than languish out their lives as subjects of subdued provinces held under despotic sway. Inspired as they were with love of liberty every note rang out of the mouth of American cannon at Saratoga, at Monmouth, at Yorktown were joyous notes of liberty and a strong rebuke to tyranny. Their bravery in battle and fortitude in suffering brought triumph to our arms in the field every where and caused every redcoat to disappear from American soil."
"Time sped on and our nation was organized and our government administered in accord with the principles of the Declaration and the Constitution which gave us a government without a king and a religion untrammeled by a union with the civil power. A few years of peace sped by when over-bearing England through impement of American seamen provoked the war of 1812. On the ocean as well as on the land victory answered to the voice of American cannon and as the smoke of battle rolled over the blue waves of the Atlantic a bright, new star appeared in the constellation of nations; and that peerless nation is the wonder and admiration of the world; the resplendent jewel that nestle between the two great oceans; the rich, the majestic, the mighty and the great republic that bears the title of the United States of America."

Miss Bowerman and Ray Congdon, teachers of this vicinity, conducted the exercises of the programme with ability and to the satisfaction of all. The programme consisted of music, vocal and instrumental, appropriate to the occasion, recitations, dialogues, etc, which took up the entire forenoon. Then a table was spread and loaded with viands fit for free men to partake of on this the day of our Nation's birth.
Honorable mention should be made of the Lake Creek brass band for the patriotic tunes they played and also of the excellent vocal and instrumental music rendered by our girls and boys. In the afternoon the athletics came to the front consisting of several foot and bicycle races. Two lemonade stands were on the ground to dispense refreshing drinks, candies, etc. The day was one of those rare days when nature's stainless light dispenses only happiness and fills the world with things so beautiful and bright.
On the whole the Blachley picnic on the Fourth was an enjoyable one and good order prevailed from beginning to the end.

Telegraphing to Mars.

The experiments in wireless telegraphy have met with such success that we can soon hold communication with our planetary neighbors. Science made wonderful strides in the last half of the 19th century, and probably will advance further in the next few years. There is one thing however, that science cannot improve upon, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is the best remedy in the world for stomach, liver and bowel complaints. Fifty years of cures stand back of it, and a fair trial will convince you it has no equal as a cure for Indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness or liver and kidney troubles. It also prevents malaria, fever and ague. Be sure to have the Bitters always on hand, and thus avoid any serious illness.
