COUNCIL CITY, ALASKA.

Letter Concerning Lane County People in that Country.

SHERIFF AFTER JACOB KLEIN.

COUNCIL CITY, Alaska, Aug. 20.

EDITOR GUARD:—A few items from here might interest some of your readers in knowing how many of the Lane county boys are succeeding in this country which is so greatly blown about, but precious little truth in.

There are more "broken" men here than I ever saw outside for the number of people. The season is very late. There was ice on the creeks until the first of August. There are very few good claims in the country and if a good claim is known to be, some fellow is sure to jump it. From one claim, however, here a few days ago the owner took out $1400 in three pounds of dirt. Work is plentiful all around here from $5 to $8 a day and "grab."

I heard that it was generally reported that O. S. Cardwell was drowned. That is a mistake, for he is here and all right. I have been doing a great deal of carpentering for him and he is running the best saloon in the city. His girl is in Nome making from $50 to $75 a week in a photograph shop. They are going home in a month. His cousin, W. W. Cardwell, is the best lawyer here and owns a dozen of the best claims here.

I made a strong hit on beach rockers. I sold 150 of them at $15 each. I have lately secured a number of good claims. Doctor Taylor of the Bohemia mines is here and "busted." Newton Carr, who lives above Goshen, is here and doing a little carpentering for the Wild Goose Co. He is going up the Yukon river to Circle City for the winter. H. H. Barr came down from Dawson to hunt for C. S. Cardwell and the first man he saw was Cardwell. News has just come down that Barr and partners have won their ground in Dawson which has been in litigation two years. The ground is valued at $85,000.

Mox Weideman and another man have come here from Portland to work a dozen claims which they bought from Jacob Klein, of Eugene, and when they arrived here they soon found that Klein never owned an inch of ground in this country. They paid him about $3000 and they have sent the sheriff up to Dawson to hunt him. Mox's youngest sister died last winter.

J. H. Lee and family, of brickyard fame, are in Nome and are running a laundry and doing fine. J. H. Wagner, of Junction, has a couple of claims on the river. One is said to be the best in the whole country. He was offered $150,000 for it but would not sell.

Council City is a fine business town and a good blacksmith would do well if he were here. He could get all the work one man or two could do. Horses are in good demand at good prices and freighting on the river is a good business. A good lawyer could have a good practice here.

I am not going out until I get my claims worked out.

With regards to friends,
T. L. RUSSELL.

PROPERTY SOLD.

W. Sanders Buys the Page Store Building for $6000.

Daily Guard Sept. 17.

Eugene property is held at firm value and advancing daily. This afternoon W. Sanders and wife bought from the A. G. Hovey estate the one-story building and property occupied by J. L. Page's grocery store, for $6000. The property is 21 feet and 7 inches by 160 feet deep. The building is an old-style one and to modernize it and lay a new sidewalk will probably take $2000. Still the general opinion is that the Sanders' got a bargain.

Mr. Sanders says he will place a new front in the Page building next spring, and also erect a second story over the same and the south room of the Hampton store.

A WOOLEN MILL.

Owner of a Plant Makes Eugene a Proposition.

PUBLIC MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT.

Daily Guard, Sept. 17.

H. D. Wagnon, of Portland, representing a company consisting of himself, his brother, W. P. Wagon, and Geo. W. Hearst, owners of a woolen mill in Iowa, has been in Eugene a few days endeavoring to create an interest among our citizens in a proposition to move the mill to this city.

A meeting of a dozen or more representative business men was held at the Hotel Eugene this forenoon, with T. G. Hendricks as chairman, and Mr. Wagnon stated his proposition to them which is substantially as follows:

The plant is a 3-set mill, and when running day and night, which is the intention if the mill is built here, it will have an output of a 6-set mill. From 50 to 75 people will be employed and the payroll will be about $3500 per month. Fifty cords of wood per month will be used. The building will be 65x115 feet in dimensions, two stories high and will be a frame structure. A big dry house will also be built. The cost of the plant complete will be $15,000. When the mill is built and ready for operation the owners will ask from the business men a bonus of $15,000.

There is the proposition. To further consider it a public meeting will be held in the courthouse Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Wagnon this morning told the GUARD that if it is found that the citizens are in favor of the proposition contracts will be let at once for the erection of the buildings and the plant will immediately be shipped here. An excellent site, that of the old furniture factory, has been selected for the mill and the splendid water power there would be utilized in case it is built. Terms for the use of the water power have already been agreed upon.

Mr. Wagnon thinks that Eugene could well afford to give the bonus asked for and cites as examples Albany, where people gave $20,000 for a woolen mill, and Salem gave $30,000 to Thos. Kay for his mill and when it was burned, again gave $25,000 to help him rebuild.

DANISH CHURCH CONFERENCE.

First Session Held in the New Church Yesterday.

Daily Guard Sept. 17.

Conference meeting of the Pacific District of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran church was held at the new Danish church yesterday commencing at 10 o'clock.

The commencement sermon was preached by Rev. F. C. Miller, of Seattle, Wash. The President, Rev. Hansen, of this place, then called upon Rev. A. H. Jensen, of Ferndale, Cal., who was to introduce the subject: "Congregational Mission Work."

The speaker reminded the conference assembled of the duty which rests upon every congregation and member of same of doing mission work according to the command of Christ. The different branches of mission work were named; the ways and means by which such work is to be accomplished was set forth and lastly was spoken of the requirements necessary for doing such work, closing with an appeal to all for more zealous work in this line.

At 12 o'clock the conference adjourned for lunch in order to meet again at 2 p. m. In the afternoon the subject was discussed, the ministers present taking a lively part in the discussion.

Notice to District School Boards.

The new text books for the public schools should be put in use in the schools of the county during the coming term. While school boards have fifteen months in which to place the new books the exchange and introductory prices expire December 31st, 1901. The exchange price on old books is about 50 per cent of the retail price.
