THE HOP MARKET.

Eastern Dealers Have Found It Necessary to Purchase Stocks.

Valentine Loewl, the veteran hop dealer of New York City, in his Producers' Price Current of last Saturday, says of the hop market:

	Bales.
Receipts for week.....	1,081
Receipts for Sept.....	2,656
Receipts same time last year.....	10,780
Exports to Europe for week.....	282
Exports from Sept.....	815
Imports for week.....	96
Imports from Sept.....	150

Receipts have more than doubled the past week, and have included close to 300 bales from the Pacific coast. Dealers have felt that they must have a little stock on hand to meet possible calls, and they have gone into the country for some supplies; to secure these buyers have been forced to come up to growers' ideas of values, and the reported transactions have been at 11@13c, the latter figure being paid more frequently than a week ago, and a fraction more in one instance. Probably the bulk of the purchases in the interior during the last half of the week were at 12@12½c. This has resulted in a little firmer feeling here, but the volume of business is still very small, brewers being backward about buying and exporters have thus far taken only a few of the best lots. For really choice state hops 15c is perhaps an inside price but it is certainly top for Pacifics. Other grades range from 13@14c. The slightly stronger tone in 1901 hops does not have any influence on the 1900 stock, and it is easy to get the best lots at 12c. English advices report a better movement of the crop but at easy prices generally; there is an uncommonly wide range in quality and values, with at least one-third of low grades.

GEOLOGIST IN FIELD.

The Umpqua Valley Oil Co. Will Soon Have Their First Well Located.

Roseburg Review
The managers of the Umpqua Valley Oil Co report favorable progress toward active development work. They now have an experienced geologist in the field, carefully investigating the formations of their several tracts of land now under bond. He will probably take two weeks before making his final report. So far he intimates a favorable outlook, but very properly will not make any definite statement until his final report is ready. His findings, we understand, are very similar to those of the other experts who have gone over the same ground before him. He will in all probability locate several wells in this county before completing his work.

Owing to the car famine no bill of lading for the oil well machinery recently purchased in California has yet been received, although it is daily expected. In any event the plant will arrive here within a short time and it is expected that active drilling operations will be in progress as soon as the location of the first well is made and the machinery can be put in place.

With a first-class drilling outfit already purchased and soon to arrive here, and an expert now in the field for the purpose of locating the best places for boring, it is but natural that local interest in oil matters is materially increased. No doubt the price of stock will soon be again advanced, so investors who expect to "get in on the ground floor" will have to hurry.

ACCIDENT AT THE DEPOT.—Leo Anderson, aged about 9 years, adopted son of Geo Sberbund, who came here about three months ago from Seattle, met with quite a severe accident at the depot this afternoon shortly before the northbound train arrived. Two of the baggage trucks were out on the platform, the tongue of one resting on the other. The little boy was swinging on the tongue of the rear one when it became loosened from the other truck, letting the boy fall to the platform. He struck with considerable force on the back of his head, cutting quite a gash, and the end of tongue struck his forehead, also cutting and bruising that part of his head. He bled profusely and was carried to the Minnesota Hotel, where he is stopping, and his injuries dressed. He is now getting along nicely.

Literary Societies Hold Interesting Meetings.

CLASS ELECTION.

The class of 1903 met yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers: Condon Bean, pres; Margaret Bannard, vice pres; Jas Gilbert, sec; Fred Stockton, treas; Alice McKinley, editor, and Herbert Campbell, sergeant-at-arms.

LAUREAN SOCIETY.

The second regular meeting of the Laurean Society was held last evening under the presidency of P I Wold, '01. Dr Sheldon gave a very interesting address to the members and visitors. His subject was "Advantage Derived From Literary Societies by the Student." Dr Sheldon's principal points were: First, active society work give a man knowledge of parliamentary law, a technical knowledge that can be got only by practice. Secondly, it teaches one how to conduct one's self before an audience. Thirdly, it gives a man a permanent interest in public affairs. Fourthly, it gives one the power to strike on the vital points of a subject and adhere to them. P I Wold spoke instructively on "Nature in the Inner and Outer Worlds," and Mr M Scarborough talked on "Bacteria in Industry and Disease".

Owing to election of officers the debate was postponed for one week. The election resulted thus: President, P I Wold; vice president, A R Tiffany; secretary, F E Weed; assistant secretary, F C Dillard; treasurer, M M Scarborough; sergeant-at-arms, Calvin Casteel; editor, C A Redmond; censor, R R Renshaw.

PHILOLOGIAN SOCIETY.

The Philologist society met last evening in the physics lecture room in Denny Hall. It was the first meeting of the year and the good attendance and good program seem to forecast a prosperous and profitable year for the energetic association of young men who are seeking to gain power in public speaking. W L Whittlesey, '01, gave the prepared address of the evening and in an interesting manner brought out the chief distinctions which existed between the French and English colonies in North America; and showed how at the beginning of the Revolutionary war these essential differences prevented a union of the northern provinces with the other 13 in the struggle for independence. Current events were reviewed by Oscar Gorrell and the debate followed on the question, "Resolved, That no federal laws should be passed against anarchy." After a discussion by Goodall and Moulton on the affirmative and Gamber and Tomlinson on the negative and some arguments by other members the chair gave the decision to the negative.

EUTAXIAN SOCIETY.

The Eutaxian literary society composed of young ladies, held a meeting yesterday afternoon in Laurean-Eutaxian hall. An interesting program was given: reading, Bessie Hammond; recitation, Isabel Jakway; current events, Alice McKinley; prepared address on "Yale customs and institutions," Elizabeth Logan. The attendance was large and the young ladies are looking forward to a profitable year of work.

PRUNES.—A Salem dispatch says: A dull market, with prices getting weaker, is the story that is everywhere heard. When Italian prunes first came on the market this season, 4 to 4½ cents net was paid for the 40-to-50-to-the-pound size. Now 3½ cents is the top offer. When this point was reached the association decided not to fill any more orders, and the growers are left to sell to the dealers if they wish. So far as can be learned, no sales of consequence are being made at 3½ cents for 40s. Most of the growers are confident that the market will recover, and are holding for awhile to await developments. Dealers who are reported to have sold short are quite active in their efforts to buy prunes at 3½ cents, and they may be getting small quantities, but apparently not from Salem growers. Letters received from Eastern dealers state that the dealers called "bears" here are offering Italian prunes at a price which makes it necessary for them to buy at 3½ cents or less from the grower.

SALMON RUN.—A large run of silverside salmon is on now in the Stue-law river. Hurd's cannery at Florence got in 4,000 on Thursday and had to shut off the fishermen. The river is full of fish. There is one good thing, thousands of the fish this year will reach the upper streams.

The Alaska Daily Guide, published at Skagway says: "G M Irwin, ex-state superintendent of schools for Oregon, will appoint to succeed Commissioner Schibred, is a preacher, a lawyer, a lecturer and an editor. That combination ought to be a four-time winner. His residence at present is in Juneau."

WOOLEN MILL BONUS

Some Comment Made by Papers This Week.

EUGENE, WAKE UP.

Salem Journal: Eugene is like some other towns in Oregon—it gets too much from the state to ever get in and help itself.

Junction Times: A second woolen mill proposition has been submitted to Eugene. The first proposition asked for a bonus of $15,000 and the present offer is to locate and operate the plant for a bonus of $8000. If Eugene fails to raise the amount she will get the horse hair hat when she boasts of her enterprise and wealth.

Cottage Grove Nugget: The good people of Eugene are still haggling over the advisability of digging up an $8000 bonus for the big woolen mill. It is perfectly proper that Eugeneites should be conservative in the matter; but when the company agrees to furnish an establishment, the operation of which necessitates a payroll running into the thousands annually, and particularly expresses that it does not expect one cent of the bonus until the buildings are up and the plant ready for operation; and, furthermore, guarantees and offers to fix bonds to the effect that it will keep the mill in operation for a period of ten years, it is high time for the people of the county seat town to scrape a little moss off their backs and get in and hustle, keeping in mind the contribution of a man whose only interest is in the general welfare of Lane county, that hustler up at Watterville, plain, straight-forward Wait Shumate. Come, gentlemen of Eugene, don't let our country merchants put you to shame.

BIED FROM JOY.

Mrs Elizabeth Owen Expired Suddenly at Thurston Yesterday.

Daily Guard, Oct 18

Dr B F Russell, of Thurston, was in town today and told the GUARD of the death of Mrs Elizabeth Owen, one of his patients, which occurred at the county hospital yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. The lady was aged 71 years and came to Lane county from Kansas about a year ago. Yesterday she received from her husband, who is in Kansas, a letter containing a money order for a sufficient sum to enable her to go to Los Angeles, Cal, to live with her sister. She was overjoyed on receiving the money and shortly afterward suddenly expired, her happiness being so great as to cause heart failure.

Besides her husband the deceased leaves a son, W L Owen, of Goldson, and a daughter, Mrs Jas A Archibald, of Junction City.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning and interment will be made at the Thurston cemetery.

THE WOOLEN MILL.

If We Hesitate Portland Will Get the Manufactory.

Today's Oregonian.

There are prospects that the three-acre tract of land on Milwaukee and Powell streets, formerly occupied by a pumping and electric light plant, and owned by the city will be leased for a woolen mill. Application has been made by H D Wagon to lease the ground, or that portion containing the buildings, for 10 years for a three-set woolen mill that will be first-class and give employment to about 50 men. The matter will come up before the water committee this afternoon. The water committee uses the buildings and the ground north of Brooklyn creek for storage purposes, and will want to retain a place on the north side of the ground for this purpose. A member of the water committee said yesterday that he should insist that if the ground be leased that the lessee be required to build a store house for the use of the committee, and that the terms of the lease should be such as will require that a woolen mill meet requirements. The city council will lease the property if it be leased at all, but would probably do nothing without a recommendation from the water committee. The committee on manufactures from the East Side Improvement Association has taken the matter in hand, and will make the proper representations to the water committee and to the city council. It may be said that Eugene is making an effort to secure this woolen mill.

"OLD HORSE" SALE.

Many Articles Disposed of at the Wells Fargo Office.

Daily Guard, Oct 19

The "old horse" sale at Wells Fargo & Co's express office on Ninth street this afternoon attracted a large crowd. A lot of articles which had accumulated at the express offices in Oregon during the past year, all being refused or uncalled for, were auctioned off by J S Stiles and nearly every package was disposed of at a good figure. Bidding was lively and many worthless articles were sold for many times their value. One man, however, claims that he found $43 in an old valise which he bought for a small sum.

Many a laugh was had over some of the purchases made. Some one would bid a good price on a package and when opened an old pair of shoes, some old bread, worthless clothing or something of that sort would be found. One woman paid $8 85 for a trunk, paid 25 cents to have it hauled home and when she opened it found nothing but a couple of worn-out comforts and some men's old underclothing. The biggest price paid for any package was $11.25.

The company realized a good round sum on this sale. This is the first one ever held in Eugene by the company. Heretofore they have been held at Portland, Salem Albany or some other important place in the state.

Hop Crop Notes.

Gervais Star, Oct. 18.

There is not much doing in the hop market this week. Dealers are still busy taking in their contracts. Buyers are active all over the state, where hops are grown, endeavoring to buy goods at 10 to 11 cents, but are meeting with poor success as growers have better ideas of the market and for a more fair remuneration for their labors at no distant day. The situation then, is about as follows: Orders plentiful at ruling rates; growers slow sellers.

Some dealers are reported as saying that they did not propose "chasing longer over the country; we will sit down and take it easy, then the growers will come to us running." Fortunately this class of dealers are scarce.

Why dealers are continually representing to their eastern houses that they can buy hops at low prices is not to be understood. In the first place it is not so, and in the second place a rising market is always better for speculators, and dealers. By this it will be seen that dealers are standing in their own light.

Sienna Mine in Lane County.

Pacific Miner (Portland) Oct. 15.

Samples of sienna from Walker, Lane county, Oregon, were forwarded us this week for examination. It compares favorably with the imported article, so our expert informs us, but we are of the opinion that the small quantity in use would not warrant work on the property to any great extent. Considerable capital would be necessary to erect a plant capable of grinding, and as there are not more than ten barrels used during the year in this field, the sale is limited. The present supply comes from Italy in sailing vessels as ballast at a cost of a cent a pound, landed in Portland free of duty. Mr Ellis Simmons, of Walker, is the owner of the mine.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Committee to Solicit Entertainment of Delegates Appointed.

ABOUT 400 TEACHERS TO COME.

The general committee appointed to make preparations for the entertainment of the western division of the Oregon State Teachers' Association which meets in Eugene, Jan 1-3, have begun their work in good time. Realizing the importance of this convention, the committee feel that the honor of Eugene is at stake, and wish to set on foot such plans as will insure the best meeting in the history of the association.

In numbers, influence and importance to the state's best interests, this will undoubtedly be the most important convention Eugene has ever had the good fortune to entertain.

Because of the limited capacity of our hotels, it will be necessary to call upon our good citizens to throw open their homes in a hospitable welcome to the visiting teachers. The State Association is not a charitable society and its members do not expect and do not want free entertainment. The usual hotel rates will be paid for entertainment in private families.

A soliciting committee of prominent ladies has been appointed and will wait upon our people next week. The city has been divided into four districts for convenience in canvassing. The northeast district includes the section east of Willamette and north of Ninth; the northwest district, west of Willamette and north of Eighth; the southeast district, south of Ninth and east of Willamette; the southwest district, south of Eighth and west of Willamette.

The committee is composed of Mesdames Hawthorne, Cook, Laura Harris, Preston, Scarborough, Glen, Yerrington, Lilley, Buckman, Loomis, Cheshire, Chrisman and Pratt, to be assisted by public school teachers and others to be selected.

We bespeak a cordial reception for this committee and wish them the fullest success in their undertaking. As the number of visiting teachers will be about 400 it will be necessary for all whose houses will permit them to entertain some. The convention occurring during the holiday vacation of the University, it will be possible for those having student roomers to find places for a good many.

THREE GO TO THE "PEN."

Mrs Lillian B Brock, of Wasco, was elected past grand chief.

The session of the temple was pronounced an extremely pleasant one, and closed a most successful year, both socially and financially.

Junction Items.

Times.

The city has ordered eighteen new street lamps. The ones in use will be repaired and made ready for the winter.

Dr Kuykendall, of Eugene, was here Wednesday in consultation with Dr Ruff in the case of Casper Rickard. Mr Rickard is failing and growing weaker every day, although he was able to walk about the room last Sunday.
