BOHEMIA PHONE LINE

Will Be Owned by the Pacific States Company.

THE RAILROAD SURVEY.

Special to Guard.
COTTAGE GROVE, Dec. 17.—The Bohemia telephone line is in excellent working order now. There are six stations on the new line as follows: Dorena, at Kirks; Whitwood, at the bed bridge; Warehouse, Helena No. 1, Helena No. 2, and the Musio mine.

Word came over the phone yesterday that the railroad engineers were near the Helena No. 2 mine on Grizzly mountain with the last piece of preliminary survey. They have completed their work to the Warehouse and will soon have this last section gone over once and will then have to go over it again to complete it.

To one who sympathizes with over-worked horses a look at some of the teams hauling freight to the mines inspires the hope that the railroad will be completed before another winter's mud comes.

OTHER NOTES.

Mr. J. S. Woolley goes to Bohemia today to do further development work on the Golconda Co.'s claims. Putting in extra work at this time indicates that they have located rich ore and are anxious to bring some of it to light at once.

Mr. Ed Long, selling agent for the Long & Brigham addition to Cottage Grove, has already disposed of six lots in this new and desirable extension of the town.

Commencing Monday night, the dry goods and shoe stores remained open after 6 o'clock and will continue to do so until after Xmas.

Nathaniel Falls, who resides two miles below the city, is very low with pneumonia at the residence of James Honig in Eugene.

A RICH STIKE.

John Rucker Uncovers Fine Ore on Maudie Claim.

A 4 1/2 FOOT LEDGE.

Daily Guard, Dec. 17.
John Rucker was down from the Blue River mining district yesterday on business connected with his mining properties. Mr. Rucker reports that he has just uncovered a ledge 4 1/2 feet wide on his Maudie claim on Jaybird creek about a mile and a half below the Lucky Boy mine, which shows ore of remarkable and surprising richness, and he says the prospects are the finest ever seen on the hill except at the Sunset claim. He brought down with him some samples of the ore which fairly glisten with the yellow metal.

Mr. Rucker has returned to the mines and will develop his claim which promises to be a great gold producer.

At present there is snow at the mines and much work cannot be done while it lasts, but in the spring it is expected that greater activity than has ever before been seen in the district will be manifest.

Several more stamp mills are in contemplation and gold will be ground out at the rate of many thousands of dollars per month for years to come.

ANOTHER SAWMILL.

Reported That Booth-Kelly Co. Will Build one on Siuslaw.

Special Correspondence.

IVISON, Or., Dec. 16.—We have heard that the Booth-Kelly Lumber Co. intends putting in a sawmill on the Lower Siuslaw and have already bought a site for that purpose. They evidently have an idea that the seven or eight billion feet of merchantable timber on the Siuslaw river and its tributaries are not here to stay, but inside of a few years may be slaughtered by orders of mill owners.

Some people are of the opinion that in a hundred years from now that most of this timber will still stand, if not destroyed by forest fires. Such is not the case. The writer, who is a Badger, remembers full well when such was the idea of many in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota where the great white pine forests waved high 50 years ago, but are now annihilated by the blows of the woodman's axe. Like here, when lumbering in these great North western states was in its infancy, timber was almost worthless and the settlers would try to rid themselves of this seemingly inexhaustible product of perpetual growth for the purpose of agriculture, while at present 40 acres of good timber land there would be as much as a fortune for anyone. And the same may be said of the Oregon timber before many years have elapsed.

The writer looks for heavy shipment to the East whereby an enormous amount of timber will be consumed and urges expansion of limited state forest reserves before it is too late.

A Question.

BORING HAS BEGUN.

Work of Delving for Oil at Springfield.

A BUST SCENE.

After many delays, which were unavoidable, the Great West Oil and Coal Company this afternoon about one o'clock began the work of drilling for petroleum on the N Hill place, leased by the company, on the outskirts of Springfield, just a stone's throw from the big bridge which spans the Willamette river at that place.

The work has been going merrily on during the afternoon and large crowds of Springfield citizens and a number from Eugene have watched operations. The work is in charge of C. H. Hart, who has had large experience in the oil drilling business, and he is assisted by J. O. Beebe, who is engineer, and T. O. Maxwell.

J. E. Simmons, president of the company, this morning stated to a reporter, that it has not been decided whether to run at night or not. It is owing to how the work progresses. Mr. Simmons is enthusiastic over the prospects for finding oil in paying quantities, which will mean a great thing for Springfield, Eugene and this section of the state at large.

E. church tomorrow (Saturday) evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League. Mr. Handaker possesses a fine baritone voice and those who had the pleasure of hearing him sing while here a few years ago were much pleased with his music. His readings are of high merit and his rendition of the more serious in such a way as not only to entertain but to elevate. Mr. Handaker is a man of fine appearance on the stage and it is hoped a large attendance will greet him at his entertainment tomorrow night."

A COSTLY JOKE.

It Started a Run on a Solid Montana Bank.

HELENA, Mont., Dec. 16.—Not until nearly a quarter of a million dollars had been withdrawn from the Institution did the depositors in the Thomas Cruse Savings bank in this city realize that the run had been precipitated by a practical joker, who informed a friend in a jesting manner that the bank was in an embarrassed condition. This remark was overheard by a woman, who thought she was getting an "inside tip," and who straightway telephoned her husband to withdraw his money. The husband did so and spread the news among a few intimate friends, with the result that nervous depositors withdrew their funds in a lively manner. The run was kept up for a week before the depositors realized their error.

Cruse, with the exception of Senator Clark, is probably the wealthiest man in the state, having sold his mine near here to the Rothchild for $1,000,000, after having extracted a similar sum in gold therefrom, to say nothing of his other extensive mining and live stock interests.

INDIAN WAR VETERANS.—L. B. Rowland, of this city, a veteran of the early Indian wars in Southern Oregon, today received a letter from U. S. Senator John H. Mitchell from Oregon stating that he had introduced a bill providing for the relief of the survivors of the Indian wars of this coast, something which has been worked for some many years. Senator Mitchell enclosed a copy of the bill, the text of which is to extend to these veterans the provisions, limitations and benefits of a bill previously enacted by congress granting pensions to survivors of Indian wars known as the Black Hawk and Creek wars, the Cherokee disturbances and the Seminole wars. It is hoped by all the friends of the veterans that the bill may become a law.
