Nursemaids Behind British Recruits.
General Buller once explained why it was necessary to put such showy clothing on most of the troops: "Because a showy uniform attracts Mary Ann, the nursemaid, who makes Tommy Atkins join the army. In plain uniform you would find recruiting a harder job than ever."

The Peruna Almanac.

The druggists have already been supplied with Peruna almanacs. There is sure to be a great demand for these almanacs on account of the articles on astrology which they contain. The subject of astrology is a very attractive one to most people. The articles on astrology in the Peruna almanac have been furnished by a very competent astrologist and the material character of each sign is given, constituting almost a complete horoscope. A list of lucky and unlucky days for each month is given. There will be a great rush for these books. Ask your druggist for one early before they are all gone.

The Rochester Post-Express tells of a godfather who, when asked in the course of the service if he believed what all Christians hold as the essentials of the faith, answered with emphasis, "I renounce them all," to the consternation of the parson and all the witnesses.

Rheumatism

Rheumatic pains are the cries of protest and distress from tortured muscles, aching joints and excited nerves. The blood has been poisoned by the accumulation of waste matter in the system, and can no longer supply the pure and health sustaining food they require. The whole system feels the effect of this acid poison; and not until the blood has been purified and brought back to a healthy condition will the aches and pains cease.

Press Bringing Universal Peace.

Max O'Rell, who recently joined the staff of the Paris Mirror, thinks that the press now fulfills the duties formerly monopolized by diplomacy and urges his companions of the pen to refrain from writing on any subject with which they have not at least an elementary acquaintance. PIONEERS IN SIBERIA.

RED TAPE TENDS TO HINDER EMIGRATION.

So Many Qualifications Are Asked of Intending Emigrants that All But the Most Persevering Become Discouraged and Remain Where They Are.

While the stringent regulations now governing emigration to Siberia have abolished to a great extent the disorder and abuses of the old system, they have entangled the whole process in a network of bureaucratic formalities, and the preliminary steps which must be taken by every intending emigrant are enough to make all but the most resolute desist. Before making any movement at all the emigrant must seek the advice of the local authorities and obtain a certificate of his suitability and capacity. Permits to emigrate are no longer easily obtainable, but are frequently refused on such grounds as "insufficient means," "physical disability," "the regulations laying it down that only 'good farmers and taxpayers' are to be granted permits. The provisional permit is given only to the head of the family or some other able-bodied member of it, who, having taken the advice of the emigration officials at Tcheliabinsk as to the nature and location of the available lands, is sent at a nominal fare into Siberia, where he is free to examine all the lands available. If he is successful in finding suitable land he must first have his choice approved at the local emigration office, the title being indorsed upon his pioneer's certificate. Afterward a final permit to emigrate is given to the remaining members of his family, who follow him on special terms as to railway fare, monetary assistance and exemptions; the poorer obtaining grants or loans to enable them to set up house and purchase the necessary implements. Formerly this assistance was given liberally, but the present policy of the government is to encourage emigration by the more prosperous and thrifty peasants only and monetary assistance is now restricted to small amounts, seldom exceeding from $15 to $25, and then nearly always in the form of a loan repayable without interest within ten years.

A WOMAN'S SUCCESS

AN INTERESTING STORY OF HOW SHE ATTAINED IT.

For a Long Time It Seemed That Good Fortune Would Not Come—An Apparent Trifle Brought It About.

As with many other women, fortune lingered a long while before coming to Mrs. Knowles. But finally a trifling occurrence brought it to her. Mrs. George M. Knowles lives at No. 12 North street, Portland, Me., and when a reporter visited her to learn the facts of the case, she said: "For a year and a half I suffered tortures from rheumatism. When I awoke in the morning or when I got up to walk after I had been sitting down for a while, my joints became stiff and I could not move easily as I did before the rheumatism set in. My feet ached and I could not walk without limping for some minutes after I started out. It was very painful and interfered a great deal with my household duties."

"How did you succeed in becoming cured?" asked the newspaper man. "It was one of those apparently little things that brought about it," replied Mrs. Knowles, with a smile. "I had been suffering in this way for a year and a half when one day I happened to pick up the paper and to see an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I made up my mind to try them. When I had taken one box I felt better and after I had taken the pills for about two months all the pain was gone. This was a year ago, and the rheumatism has not troubled me since."

The above statement of Mrs. Knowles was sworn to at the reporter's request before Marshall H. Purinton, notary public, at Portland, and published in the Express, a reliable newspaper of that city. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will not only cure cases similar to that of Mrs. Knowles, but, containing, as they do, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves, they have proved efficacious in a wide range of diseases. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of grip, of fevers and of other acute diseases, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion and all forms of weakness, either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all druggists or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, fifty cents a box; six boxes, two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Be sure and get the genuine; substitutes never cured anybody.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, it has a tendency to close, and deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by the use of the Eustachian Tube. It is a simple, safe and infallible cure for deafness (caused by catarrh) that can be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Water for the Holy City.

Jerusalem is now supplied by a System of Modern Despens. The holy land has its railways, electric lights and American windmills, and now Jerusalem is about to get a supply of good drinking water. In ancient times the city of David was well supplied. The remains of aqueducts and reservoirs show this. But since the Turk's day the people of Jerusalem have been dependent on the scanty and often polluted accumulations of rain water in the rock-hewn cisterns beneath their feet. Even this supply has recently failed, and says a correspondent of the London Times, owing to want of rain. Distress and sickness became so general that the Turkish governor has at length been induced to sanction the purchase of iron pipe to bring water from Ain Salah, or the "sealed fountain," at Solomon's pools, about nine miles south of Jerusalem. A pipe six inches in diameter will bring 8,000 "skins" of water a day for distribution at "fountains" supplied with faucets. Solomon, in his famous "Song," speaks of this secret spring, now turned to use. "My beloved," he says, "is like a spring shut up, a fountain sealed." It is a deep-down subterranean spring, which has, from the time of Solomon, flowed through the arched tunnel built by him to the distributing chamber or reservoir near the northwest corner of the highest of Solomon's pools. Half a century ago the location of this "hidden" spring which was still, as in Solomon's time, flowing into the reservoir mentioned, was unknown. The tunnel is roofed by stones leaning against each other like an inverted V, the primitive form of the arch, which is also seen in the roof of the queen's chamber of the great pyramid. The entrance to this tunnel from the spring is one of the oldest structures in existence. The piping is to be laid along the old aqueduct which formerly, from the time of Solomon, brought this same water to the temple area. There are eleven or twelve ancient fountains here and there in the city, long unused, but now to be utilized, and from which the water may be drawn free to all, several taps being attached to each fountain.—Baltimore Sun.

As to eyebrows! Well, we've gone through a perfect revolution regarding them. The old-time novelists considered curved eyebrows the only sort allowable in good society. If a young woman hadn't curved eyebrows and an astonished expression, she wasn't exactly thought a black sheep, but she wasn't looked upon as an ornament to the family as was her crescent-browed sister. Now, the straight eyebrow's the thing and she who hasn't it swears she has and defies any one to disprove her assertion.

Greelan noses have given place in favor to retroussé ones, golden hair to brown, and delicate figures to the athletic sort.

But we're ready to declare each new fashion in good looks is the best, so perhaps after a while we'll be cultivating arched eyebrows again and going back to the days when fainting spells were only the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual sensitiveness. Who knows what a day may bring forth?

Dr. L. S. Smith, of Williston, Fla., writes: "I have found Peruna a most valuable remedy for chronic catarrh of the head, throat, lungs and bronchial tubes. In fact, no matter where located."
