

JUNCTION CITY NOTES AND NEWS

NO EXCUSE FOR THE ACCIDENT How did the driver of President Roosevelt's carriage come to drive in front of the rapidly moving electric car? No one may say. Men are driving in front of rapidly approaching trains in some part of the country every day and getting killed for their recklessness. The dispatch says the guard who got killed was on the coach box with the driver looking around and half standing, trying to warn the trolley car driver.

JOINED TO HIS IDOL. The Oregonian cannot but bow to its idol—sees that "a stable financial policy of the government" has rendered possible "the jubilation celebration of Labor Day," that is, Labor Day was jubilantly celebrated.

What sort of a memory has the editor? Does he remember the "Black Friday" of the Grant administration or the financial crisis that ousted President Harrison out of office and which he left as an unwelcome heritage to the second Cleveland administration? Had we not a "stable financial policy," the gold standard, then? Does our prosperity rest on conditions artificially created by law? Have not abundant crops of corn, cotton and wheat and splendid markets abroad for our surplus products brought us whatever prosperity we enjoy? Can a man lift himself over a fence by his boot straps?

President Roosevelt is trying to get away from the word "trust," in a speech before the Senate. He devoted his speech at Fitchburg, Massachusetts, yesterday, to the commercial combinations that seek aggrandizement at the cost of the consumer and producer. He said "they are popularly, although with technical inaccuracy, known as trusts." He is already fearful of the shadow—the mere name, I believe does not make honest, earnest endeavor to curb these gigantic combinations the record of vice-presidential failures to attain the high office by direct choice of the people will be left unbroken.

Maria Luzzara an Italian woman succeeded in breaking through the immigration laws at New York the other day, although an undesirable immigrant. She was detained at Ellis Island when an Italian citizen of this country signed a civil marriage contract, he signing the same in her place of detention. The wife's citizenship follows that of her husband and the authorities had no choice but to allow her to land. It was a plausible fraud but the government is powerless to act in such cases.

The "agriculturalist" who does editorial work on the Portland Telegram says "It is reported as something new in that region that large bands of sheep are to be pastured on the stubble and waste of the great grain fields of Willamette Valley. The stalks are cut high, and much grain chatters out in harvesting." Those must be of a new breed of sheep, maybe provided with bills, to save the grain that "chatters out."

The other day a Boston judge got indignant and fined a man ten dollars for kicking his horse. His indignation was not of such a tropical order when, on the same day, a man was brought in by the police and charged with kicking his wife. The wife-kicker got off with five dollars for his pleasure.

A New York negro had some diversion Monday night. In resisting arrest and attempting escape he shot thirteen officers, one probably fatally. He did the mischief with a sawed-off shotgun which accounts for lack of fatalities.

JUNCTION CITY July 5.—Willard Gillet, the infant son of M. and Mrs. C. O. Gillet, aged 11 months and 22 days, died Monday. Services were held at the Christian church Tuesday by Rev. L. Edell, interment in Odd Fellows cemetery.

Mrs. Carl Christensen is very sick at her home in this city. Dr. Wm. Kuykendall was called to Junction Wednesday on professional business.

Dr. Dale, of Eugene, was called to Junction City this week to see J. Bushnell, who has been quite sick. Miss Bell Millican, of Waterville, is visiting friends in Junction this week.

A Wilhelm, Jr., made Eugene a visit Wednesday. Miss Ina Wood, of Roseburg, is visiting friends in Junction.

Mrs. Angie Lutz, of Hornbrook, Calif., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. E. Kesterson. Mrs. John Turner, of Redding, Calif., is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Dougherty.

R. F. Baker, of Eugene, was a Junction visitor Wednesday. Hon. Wm. McFadden and family are at their farm east of town.

A large number of Junction people attended the Wild West show at Eugene on Friday. D. S. McFerrin visited Eugene several days during the past week.

The threshers will nearly all finish their season's run this week; the crop is about 25 per cent short. M. Wilkman, of Monroe, was transacting business in the city Monday.

H. W. Wagner has resigned his position as butter maker at the creamery and is now moving to the state of Washington. S. P. Gilmore is now in full charge of the creamery and is making butter good enough for a king.

J. J. Becker took his father to Portland Tuesday where he will enter the hospital for treatment. Dr. W. W. Oglesby went to Portland Tuesday.

P. J. Becker, who went to Nebraska, hence to Harrison, Okla., has bought property there and will open up a grocery store on Oct. 1st. We hope Pete will make a barrel of money. J. L. Berkshire, of Deadwood, was in our city Monday. He is moving his family to Springfield where he will raise his hand in the sawmill.

L. G. Condon, of Blachley, was a Junction visitor Wednesday. Merchant Isaiah Saylor, of Blachley, was in from the brass on Tuesday after a load of freight.

County Clerk E. U. Lee and family spent Sunday with home folks. Mr. A. C. Nelson, Jr., of Eugene, Wis., arrived here Saturday to visit his father, A. C. Nelson. Mrs. T. Wigman went to Portland Wednesday.

John G. Whitman will move to Marion county in a few days. Monitor Bros. seed and seeds are good goods at low prices. See them at Chambers Hardware.

WANTED. Manager Rowe of the Portland Carnival advertised a triple wedding for next Tuesday as one of the attractions. He has met with a disappointment, one of the couple having notified him that he must depend on them for part of the show. No reason was given. Just what it stands up before the gazing public on the auspicious occasion, even though they were promised a reward in the way of presents and turniture.

The Telegram says Manager R. we tried to make the deficiency good by extending invitations to the central girls at the telephone headquarters, telling them that if any one of them would give her consent to be married he would guarantee to furnish a man for the occasion. They were willing to a girl, provided they could choose the man.

The opium "hoon" must be getting not a few of our people. A yesterday San Francisco dispatch says a Japanese liner, just in, brought $1,000,000 worth of opium, and that it came in the ordinary course of trade, and that arrival attracted no more than passing notice.

Rome's great industry consists of taking tourists from the tourist. Official statistics just published show that from January to June 954,000 foreigners visited Rome. It is estimated that they spent seventy million dollars. Rome's working capital is easily handled—antiquity and climate.

The Portland Telegram has a scheme to ruin eyesight, a five by eight inch space closely covered with dots which it asks its readers to count, offering $150 in fifty prizes to those counting and reporting with great celerity and accuracy. It is almost criminal.
