SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25

Aeronaut Dumont shows the white feather. He pleads for a year in which to build a machine to race the Englishman.

The revolution down in Colombia is getting serious. One of the insurgent chiefs fell off his horse and broke his leg day before yesterday.

A great mob burned a negro at the stake at Forest City, Arkansas, the other night. The usual crime—an assault and murder of a white woman.

The Albany College football team has leaped into prominence through tying the University of Oregon team. Even the big Multnomahs ask a date with the Albany boys.

Thousands of freight cars are sidetracked in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal district in readiness to rush the coal into market when the miners resume work tomorrow.

Hard luck for Eastern Oregon cayuses! The Linton horse-meat cannery has burned, grass is short and there is no other prospect ahead but that they must freeze and starve this winter.

Mesdames Whitney and Duryea of New York City, millionaires of their own right, are shipping their racers to England to race on British turf this fall. The ladies ran their horses in this country under the assumed name of "Mr. Roselyn."

Of course eastern dealers in coal are not stocked up to any alarming extent. The almost daily possibility for the last month of anthracite coal dropping from the neighborhood of $15 a ton to about $8 was enough to try the nerve of the most reckless speculator.

If a citizen should maintain so great a nuisance about his premises as the city allows in crosswalks on the business streets and all over town he would be prosecuted instantly. There is no excuse for not cleaning the mud from crosswalks and business streets and keeping them clean.

The president of the Masonic Temple Association of Chicago is in trouble. He is under indictment for an alleged conspiracy to have the Association taxes amounting to $26,000 marked paid on payment of $20,000. The question comes to mind if it was possible to avoid payment of six thousand dollars to the city why not the entire amount?

The mixed character of the people engaged in taking coal out of the earth back in Pennsylvania may be best comprehended through the statement that President Roosevelt's arbitration proposal was explained to the Wilkes-Barre Mineworkers' convention, which accepted the same, in four languages. Evidently United States talk is at a discount in the coal districts.

The Philadelphia Press says "information coming from nearly every college and university in the country is to the effect that the classes entering this year are larger than ever before. Definite numbers are not mentioned, as it is too early to tell what the exact size of the freshmen classes will be, but enough is known to make sure that all previous records in this respect will be surpassed."

The Portland grand jury has a case under advisement that they do not relish. They are waiting to see how the illness of one of their number will finally develop. First they thought it was smallpox, then a ray of hope broke through with the diagnosis that it was chickenpox; later it got down to measles, and now it is nothing but poison oak. Of course the other members of the grand jury felt better with each announcement as to the illness of their colleague.

Sheriff Huston of Albany does not appreciate talk about "trusties" these days. He had one, a handy young fellow, serving a six months' sentence in jail. The sheriff showed him not a few favors, in return for which he made himself generally useful about the jail and courthouse. He was ungrateful, though, for only a few days before the expiration of his sentence he disappeared, and, worse still, a bicycle on which he had no claim went with him.

ICONOCLAST TURNS HERO-WORSHIPPER.

The Oregonian slushes over in giving President Roosevelt praise for the ending of the coal strike and "supposes" a case:

But suppose in 1904 the disgruntled plutocrats of both parties get together and say to the leaders of the Democratic party: "Make your platform what you please; nominate anybody you think you can elect, and we will furnish you all the support in shape of money you need. Democratic platforms are nothing but transient war cries that die of exhaustion after election. Any man you can elect will be preferable to Roosevelt, because Roosevelt means what he says, while nobody that you can elect can possibly be as intractable as he. With us it is 'anything to beat Roosevelt.'"

Has the Oregonian so soon forgotten that President Roosevelt insisted that the coalminers return to work without any agreement with the coal barons as to the future, trusting their grievances to his good offices? Is anyone so foolish as to suppose for a moment that the coal barons would have paid more attention to the personal intercession of the President than they had to the complaints of the army of nearly two hundred thousand underpaid laborers? "Intractable?" President Roosevelt showed no such quality in his dealings with the coal operators.

WHY HE QUIT IOWA.

Henry Clay Dean, who was a famous orator a generation ago, was referred to many years after he had moved to Missouri from Iowa as "Henry Clay Dean of Iowa." He used to explain his move from the Hawkeye state in this way:

You see, they passed a nefarious prohibition law in Iowa, and there's your whisky gone. Then they abolished capital punishment and there's your hanging gone. And now the whole population seems to be drifting toward Universalism, and there's your hell gone. I can't live in a state that has neither hell, hanging nor whisky.

The Danes will not part with their West India islands, at least not now, the treaty for their cession to the United States having been rejected by the Landsting yesterday by a tie vote of 32 to 32. As there is a constant deficit the cession will come sooner or later. Uncle Sam is not hurt very badly by failure of this trade. The three islands have an area of but 223 square miles. We certainly have enough garden, field and outside range lands to get along without the Danish midgets till the annual deficits make the Landsting, or any other stubborn old thing over at Copenhagen, more reasonable.

A sad story comes from San Francisco. Monday afternoon Edward Marschutz shot and killed Marian Nolan, one of the most famous stage beauties on the Pacific Coast, and then turned the gun upon himself. The shooting occurred on the steps of Miss Nolan's home. After a quarrel she struck him with her umbrella and he drew a revolver and fired. After standing and looking a moment at the corpse of the woman he loved, Marschutz took his own life. The two had been lovers for years.

Carnegie is to the front giving Europeans advice how to contest American industrial invasion of their markets. "Andy" may think he knows but he does not. Whenever a scheme may be devised by which two calves may live on land that produces grass sufficient but for one, then Europe may hold her own in competition with the United States. It is a question of resources, cheap lands, cheap raw materials and plenty of them.

Those Texan saloonkeepers have more nerve than their Kansas brethren. Mrs. Carrie Nation tried her raiding tactics at the Texan capital, Houston, Monday night and was forcibly ejected from three saloons. Finally the police got tired and put her aboard an outgoing train. Occasionally Texas suffers from lack of water supply. They take no chances on running short of other liquids.

Score one for the healthful apple. The New England Homestead places the crop of this country for this year at 43,000,000 barrels against 27,000,000 barrels in 1901.
