

A BIG CUT.

That class of people among us who will not be satisfied unless the rest of the world believes or does as they do, are finding fault just now because a few old buck Mormons...

The telegraph brings news that his people murmur at this summary, wholesale divorcement. Do they believe that their ruler should find time to marry all the eligible women among his subjects?

STAY BY THEIR CHIEF.

The report comes from Washington that the members of the cabinet give the President's message great praise.

The Spanish author, Cervantes, has a character in his Don Quixote, a powerful, eloquent divine, well up towards the three score and ten. This great preacher had a trusted secretary, and to him he had for years confided an important mission...

At last the stroke came, a day when the once brilliant mind went groping, halting, stumbling among its treasures, a pitiful, lamentable effort. Timidly the secretary called attention to the lapse. He got discharged on the instant, the preacher asserting that the miserable, disconnected sermon was the greatest effort of his life.

INTEMPERANCE AMONG BRITISH WOMEN.

The Bishop of London is out in an indorsement of the statement made by Lady Henry Somerset, the prominent temperance reformer, that drunkenness is increasing at a fearful rate among British women.

He produced statistics showing that out of one thousand women in a certain workhouse two thousand were there on account of drink, and he told an astonishing story of the heads of factory girls to the drink habit.

MIXED ON TRUSTS.

President Roosevelt hardly knows if he is fool or dishonest when it comes to dealing with the trusts. He cannot afford to offend them—yet the people! There's the rub.

Insistence upon an impossibility means delay in achieving the possible, exactly as, upon the other hand, the stubborn defense alike of what is good and what is bad in the existing system, a result of the effort to obstruct any betterment, betrays blindness to the historic truth that wise evolution is the sure safeguard against revolution. Clear as mud; and yet we are told as to the terse, vigorous style of the President's composition!

Emperor William of Germany only fans the fire by bitter attacks on his socialist subjects. While some of their theories may be impossible of attainment, there are others that will come to fruition.

An Oakland correspondent of the Roseburg Review protests against the way they dress the birds in the Umqua turkey metropolis. They hang up the bird by the leg, out as a stry in the neck, then race to see who can strip a bird of the feathers before it expires.

The New York Herald takes up quite a lot of space in telling how liberal one of the Vanderbilt millionaires is in offering to furnish the Sunday schools of a New Hampshire town adjoining his big country estate with Christmas trees.

The death of a man at Brooklyn, New York, has brought out the statement that as a lad he was the first to cry the sale of newspapers on the streets. Before he originated the idea newsboys carried their papers about without making public outcry of their wares or the prominent news they contained.

A San Francisco rabbi gives a new interpretation of the design of the American flag. To an audience of immigrants, largely Russians, the other day he said: "Do you know why stars and stripes are in the flag? I will tell you why. They show that America has stars for those who behave themselves and stripes for those who do not."

That is a great weather forecaster down at Portland, Saturday he predicted "occasional light rain," for the twenty-four hours ending last night at midnight. "Light rain!" If so we would not wish to experience a heavy one.

While we are having heavy rains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and Atlantic states are getting snow and zero weather. Just think of one locality in New York getting two feet of snow in twenty-four hours!

The Portland Telegram's marine reporter referring to an accident to a ship while coming up the Columbia says "she collided with a submerged rock." As usual.

Thomas Brackett Reed was too big a man to be president, or more correctly speaking, too big a man to get the presidency.

The bravest one is not the one who stands voicing his view from the hot-top high; but rather him who hides a broken heart beneath a smile. Could you do this? Could I?

THE COOK GOT WAGES. "Does your cook ever wear your wife's clothes?" "I guess not. Why, my wife hasn't anything the cook would be seen wearing."

Palestine Pointers. One of the subscribers in the Daily Guard writes from Portland as follows: "I appreciate the Guard very much and feel that you merit the praise of all readers of the paper for the promptness and accuracy with which you give them the news."

Prompt and Accurate. One of the subscribers in the Daily Guard writes from Portland as follows: "I appreciate the Guard very much and feel that you merit the praise of all readers of the paper for the promptness and accuracy with which you give them the news."

Sold Interest. E B Goodchild, who has, with C C Matlock been the local Rambler cycle agent in Eugene, has sold his interest in the business to Mr Matlock and the latter will henceforth conduct the same.

Joseph Davies, who conducts a hog raising business on his place just across the river, had the misfortune to lose twenty fine porkers by drowning during the high water last week. The water was all over his place.
