

THE BUSY PHILANTHROPIST

Governor Chamberlain's answer to the governor of Wisconsin, who requested him to appoint delegates to a convention to be held at Atlanta, Georgia, for discussion of the race question, is to the point: I will appoint delegates if requested, but am doubtful of beneficial results from such a convention. The South can and will settle the race question, if politicians will give her a chance. It would be just as appropriate for citizens of the East or South to tell Portland or San Francisco how Chinamen should be treated. Some of these philanthropists have great love for their fellowmen—especially those who are a long way from them.

The Washington legislature passed a bill providing that any corporation could appeal to the courts and procure a stay of the collection of taxes assessed against them pending the decision of the courts as to their validity. Governor McBride would have none of it and vetoed the bill. He well said such a law would permit corporations to hold up payment of their taxes almost indefinitely, besides they were entitled to no better treatment than any other taxpayer.

This is about the season of the year the elk sheds his horns. The specimen in the Portland City Park shed his antlers yesterday. They weigh about forty pounds. The horns are fully regrown by July, when they are in the "velvet." In August they favor the base of some warm sunny bluff where they rub the horns against small trees to polish and harden them for the battles royal of the rutting season in the fall.

We always thought there would be trouble through people rushing to the sheriff's office to pay taxes. Up in Baker county two deputy sheriffs are down with smallpox. And that is not the worst of it. The several hundred people who crowded about them to pay taxes—to throw good money away as it were—were all exposed and are waiting and watching, at the same time praying they did not "catch" it.

Dr. Harris says Lawrence Harris is not a candidate for the congressional nomination. We have no reason to doubt his sincerity, still with other candidates pulling each other evenly the sentiment of his townspeople could easily bring about a convention stampede. And he would not refuse a nomination under such circumstances, even though not a candidate in the true sense of the term.

A man is just dead over in Olympia, Washington, who had heard Thomas Jefferson and John Adams speak. Don't you suppose he made his friends tired with reminiscences? of course he was old—91 years. Jefferson and Adams died within a few hours of each other July 4th, 1826, nearly seventy-seven years ago.

As Emperor William will not be content till he works off a statue of Frederick the Great on this patient, long-suffering country, we might retaliate by sending him a statue of James Monroe. He has heard not a little of the "Monroe doctrine" of late months. It might be

The California legislature has provided for the selection of a state flower. The native golden poppy will, probably, carry off the prize. For an all-around flower and shrub the Oregon grape takes first rank among state selections. The season of the poppy like that of other state flowers is comparatively short. The wild grape is decorative for months.

There was nothing starting about a Swede sending his shirt to a laundry up in Butte, Montana, the other day, but his doing so was responsible for a "tale of the shirt," or a "shirt tale," whichever mode of expression the reader fancies. Yale and Harvard have signed up the agreement as to college sports for the next college year—football, baseball, rowing and track athletics. The U. of O. has no opportunity for rowing and discourages baseball, at least there is no pressing demand among the students for the once exclusive national game. Football is the more exciting game, develops pugilistic ring encounters in popular favor.

A Persistent Bagg.

While going along Ninth street about 12:40 o'clock today, a Guard scribe was accosted by a young man aged about 23 years and apparently able-bodied, and asked for the price of a meal. Sizing him up, the reporter concluded that the fellow was about as able to work for his living as anyone else and refused. But the man wasn't to be stopped at that. He went on up the street and accosted every man he met. The reporter counted twelve men that he stopped in exactly three minutes, each time being refused assistance. But finally he ran up against an old gray-haired farmer, who evidently took compassion on him and led him to a nearby grocery store where he bought him some cheese and crackers.

GOOD TIMBER CLAIMS.

Anyone wishing to locate good timber claims would do well to call on or address Horace Burnett, Guard office, Eugene. The claims which he represents, some 24 in number, are situated in the southwestern part of the state, only a few miles from the ocean and mostly all bordering on some stream where logs can be floated down. They will cut from 4,000,000 to 7,000,000 feet each. This is a splendid proposition and it would pay anyone who is interested in timber lands to investigate it.

SOCIAL REALM.

(Daily Guard, March 13)

Mrs. J. S. Luckey did the honors of hostess for the Sigma Nu fraternity boys last evening at her home. The evening was spent at high five, the pastime proving to be of more than common interest. In points, Miss Pearl Luckey won first prize for the ladies and Seth Kerron the first prize for the gentlemen. The members of the fraternity entertained were: Messrs. Willie Chandler, Louis Henderson, Clyde Payne, Ross Plummer, I. H. Watts, Geo. Eyere, Ray Goodrich, Joe Tompleton, DeFoe Shirk, Seth Kerron, Claude Wright, Kirk Sheldon, Judge Hale, — Taylor, Condon Bean, Ernest Bean, Tom Hawthorne; the other guests were: Misses Rosalie Friendly, May Marshall, Ruby Hendricks, Lulu Renshaw, Mary Gray, Ella Dobbie, Pearl Luckey, Gene Gray, Dollie Ankeny, Bertha Tompleton, Mary Dale, Carrie Benson, Carrie Paine, Ada Hendries, Vergil Noland, (Astoria), Mrs. Geo. Noland, (Astoria), Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Smith, Mrs. C. L. Wintor, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Goodrich.

The week has grown to be incomplete without a record of some "doings" by the Beta Kappa fraternity. They appear regularly with social brilliance which is well grounded in merited popularity. Last evening was business meeting night and the decorum of a sage assembly had barely been assumed, nay, the president's rap with the gavel had hardly died away in the distance, when feminine footsteps were distinguished without. Business to the winds, new officers were of no consequence—let the ladies in and let mirth reign supreme. 'Twas done in a trice. Under the chaperonage of Mrs. C. W. Lowe, the young lady friends of the frat boys had congregated to spoil the bus-

Is it Only a Fashionable Feminine Accomplishment?

In the novels of a generation or so back, fainting seems to be generally regarded as an accomplishment of a fashionable woman. Whenever there was an awkward situation to be covered the woman discreetly and decorously fainted. It is also intimated that place as well as time had to be considered in the fitting exercise of this accomplishment. There must be a convenient couch to lie on and still more there must be a pair of manly arms to support the limp burden as it swayed and slipped to the ground. Women did not as a rule exhibit this accomplishment for the benefit of their own sex, but only when some observant male was at hand to see and record. The heroines of the modern novelist are not given to fainting. The "accomplishment" seems to have gone out with the working of samplers. Weakness was once a woman's weapon. Now she despises weakness, and all its symptoms. It may be taken for granted therefore that now-a-days if a woman faints it is because of genuine weakness that she cannot conceal. Instead of wanting male observation she avoids it, and despises herself for her own frailty.

WHY WOMEN FAINT.

In general women who faint are more liable to do so at some special periods than at others, and the liability to faint is generally increased with the recurrences of the periodic womanly function. From this fact alone it might be fairly argued that there is a close relation between local womanly weakness and the physical weakness which causes women to faint. Womanly ailments surely undermine the general health. Irregularity, suppression, profusion, unhealthy drains, inflammation, ulceration, and female weakness, are the diseases which drain the vitality and weaken the general health of women and render them liable among other things to "fainting spells." Cure the local womanly diseases and there is at once a gain in the general health. "It gives me great pleasure," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. "to thank Dr. Pierce for the great good received from the use of his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not rise to my feet at all without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better, had better appetite and slept better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all sleep in two months' time when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all."

ness meeting and substitute a social frolic. The evening was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Lowe and the other visitors presented the fraternity with a beautiful floral leather emblematic pillow as a token of their esteem.

The swirl of social functions for this week has been gay despite the Lenten sobriety which pervades the atmosphere. Yesterday afternoon one of Eugene's most popular matrons, Mrs. Emma Thompson, entertained at her home on Lincoln street. The party was given in honor of Miss Dee Ankeny, whose engagement to Mr. John Orth, of Jackson county, was announced by the hostess. The wedding will take place soon after Easter. The amusement of the afternoon was appropriately selected. "Hearts" occupied the attention and at the end of the fascinating game Miss Louise Yoran was declared the winner of first prize, a book of selected poems. The second trophy went to Miss Belle Brown. It was the famous picture of "Chilly Cupid." Refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by Misses Stella Pitt Dorris, Dollie Ankeny, Rosalie Friendly and Ruby Hendricks. Following is a list of the guests: Mrs. H. E. Ankeny, Mrs. Geo. B. Dorris, Mrs. F. N. McAllister, Mrs. G. D. Linn, Mrs. Claire Willoughby, Mrs. Geo. Smith, Mrs. P. E. Snodgrass, Mrs. C. H. Park, Mrs. L. L. Whitson, Mrs. Luke Goodrich, Mrs. C. M. Young, Misses Dee Ankeny, Dollie Ankeny, Sue Dorris, Cecile Dorris, Bennetta Dorris, Ada Hendricks, Belle Brown, Lulu Renshaw, Carrie Paine, Libbie Yoran, Louise Yoran, Bonnie Kelly, Laura Miller, Carrie Hovey, Edith Hoffman, Ross Moyer, Maude McCully, Stella Robinson.

WEAK WOMEN MADE STRONG.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It does not matter how great is the weakness or how chronic the sickness, "Favorite Prescription" may be used with the utmost confidence and assurance that it will cure and strengthen if the disease lies within the bounds of a medicinal cure. In many a case where local physicians have said there was no aid in medicine and pointed to a hazardous operation as the only alternative to a life of suffering, the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has resulted in a perfect and permanent cure. It is such cures as these which have given "Favorite Prescription" pre-eminence among medicines for the cure of woman's diseases. "I suffered for twelve years with female trouble," writes Mrs. Milton Grimes, of Adair, Adair Co., Iowa, "which brought on other diseases—heart trouble, Bright's disease, nervousness, and at times would be nearly paralyzed. Had neuralgia of stomach. I can freely say your medicines (nine bottles in all, five of 'Favorite Prescription', four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets), have cured me. I can work with comfort now, but before I would be tired all the time and have a dizzy headache, and my nerves would be all unstrung so I could not sleep. Now I can sleep and do a big day's work, something I had not done for over eleven years before. You have my consent to publish this testimony, hoping it will be the means of helping some other invalid."

WOMEN ARE THE WITNESSES.

It is the women who have acclaimed Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as the greatest and best medicine for the cure of womanly diseases. The witnesses to its power are the men it has cured. There are hundreds of thousands of healthy women to whom have been restored by "Favorite Prescription" to a happy, useful life after years of suffering, and years of useless medical treatment. If you are suffering from any disease peculiar to women there is every motive for you to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and every encouragement to expect a complete cure. No matter how severe the disease, the wonder will be not that "Favorite Prescription" cures you, but that it should fail to do so. Its cures are so uniform, so reliable, that if it did not cure you, you would stand alone, a wonder and a marvel, a solitary exception among hundreds of thousands of weak women who have been made strong and sick women who have been made well by the use of this great remedy. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. As a tonic and nerve for weak, worn-out, run-down women, it is without an equal. It promotes the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep. If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit.

A HELP FOR WOMEN.

"I received the 'Medical Adviser' and am much obliged for it," writes Mrs. Elmer D. Sheary, of Mount Hope, Lancaster Co., Pa. "I would not part with it if I could not get another in its place, as it is a help every woman should have." Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing more than a thousand large pages and over 700 illustrations is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the volume bound in cloth, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
