

Corporations in Politics.

As has been previously predicted by the Guard, the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company is reaping the reward of a corporation that attempts to run political affairs.

It is regrettable that this company saw fit to enter the political arena. Up to the time they commenced to take an active part in politics the firm was liked by everybody, regardless of party creed.

Now a change has taken place. The Guard regrets that such is the case and it is not too late for this company to eschew politics from its business credo.

The Guard does not know whether the articles published by the Roseburg Plaindealer are true or not, but it does not seem possible for a paper to make the statements the Plaindealer does unless they are true. The editor of the Plaindealer has said some very harsh things. He openly accuses Senator Booth of standing "pat" with the Democratic paper at Roseburg, etc., etc.

The Plaindealer has said much that the Guard has not used. We give this matter to the public as of public interest. We give herewith a portion of a statement made by the Plaindealer:

"The editor came to Roseburg with the intention of editing a straight Republican newspaper and he has tried to do so faithfully. It is his custom to praise that which merits praise and to denounce that which deserves denunciation. Early in the year he saw how monopolies and combines sought to control the people and to make the citizens of Oregon to be nothing more than burden bearers for political bosses who by virtue of their office sought to have specious schemes of legislation passed."

"The Plaindealer, as it is well known, opposed two bills introduced by Senator Booth and poked fun at the 'big pill' gotten up by an overzealous Methodist divine to compel the molasses faith healers and Christian Scientists to be converted, will ye, nill ye, to the allopathic faith and practice. At once a crusade was waged against the Plaindealer and it was determined that its utterances against the schemes of the politicians and hoodlums by legislative schemes should be stopped and every scheme that could be devised by crafty cunning."

The business rightfully belonging to the Plaindealer was held up and given to a Democratic paper by so-called Republican officials for the only reason that the Plaindealer would not stand quietly by and see the rights of the people legislated away in the interests of grafters. By the scores of kind letters we receive we know that our work in the interest of true Republicanism is appreciated."

The football season is on and the really big teams are teaching the little fellows the game at the cost of big scores and hard bumps.

A Montana man has eloped with his mother-in-law. It is a question whether his wife or his father-in-law is to be congratulated more heartily.

During the congressional vacation the sugar trust has gobbled up the beet sugar industry. This is one way to circumvent unfriendly legislation.

English dispatches say that King Edward, while a great lover of dogs, has a strong dislike to cats and will not allow them in any of his residences. It used to be different—at least as to cats.

If the bill which the German government proposes to introduce into the reichstag, regulating the sale of intoxicants, shall become a law, the man who has not the price will be obliged to retain this thirst, as credit at the bar is to be prohibited.

Oregon weather this fall has been all any one could ask. It gave the wheat growers fine weather for harvest. Then the hop raisers had excellent weather to care for their hop crop and now the prune men have such weather as they desire. The Oregon farmer ought to be happy.

While Wall Street fears a pinch, the farmers of the country are preparing to enjoy a winter of ease and plenty. The financial situation is not troubling them in the least. With a full granary and barn and money in his pocket or to his account in the bank, he feels that the financial situation is all right so far as he is concerned.

You know what you are looking for when you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic, because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing that it is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure. No pay 25 cents.
