(From N. Y. Herald, January 14, 1902.)
"The widow of Dr. Lescare, who, in the employ of the Government, went to Cuba, was inoculated with Yellow Fever through mosquito bites, and died, applied to Congress for relief to-day."
The above tells of the sad culmination of a series of experiments by the Government, all of which proved conclusively that the familiar mosquito is a dangerous vehicle for carrying Malaria, "Yellow Jack," and other malarial fevers.

Those who are exposed to mosquito or other malarial influences should take warning. Iron is the fighting element in the blood and provides nature with sufficient resistance to ward off disease. If you would keep the blood pure and properly nourished with Vienna, Oct. 1.—The insurrection is fast spreading on the Bulgarian frontier. Mehoma was burned and the inhabitants massacred. Melnik has also been destroyed. There has been almost continuous fighting the past two days between insurgents and Turks in the vicinity of Batsheno. A dispatch this morning quotes Zontcheff, the head of the Macedonian organization, as declaring that the Turko-Bulgarian negotiations are worthless. He says the Turks are only temporizing while destroying Bulgarians in Macedonia. He adds that every preparation is being made for the renewal of the insurrection in a more violent form in the spring.

Short addresses were made by Geo. Stone, of San Francisco, Isaac Hamilton, of Chicago, and reports read showing an aggregate membership of 500,000 Republicans who will attempt to obtain the endorsement of candidates for the presidential campaign. The reports were ruled out of order as the constitution of the league forbids such inducements.

An executive session is being held and ways and means of promoting the 1904 campaign are being discussed. Mayor Seth Low, of New York, was one of the most prominent men in attendance.

By noon the contest had narrowed down to St. Louis, Philadelphia and Indianapolis. The committee also evaded the prohibition of endorsement for president by adopting resolutions cordially greeting Roosevelt and wishing him continued good health.

GROSSCUP WILL NOT ACCEPT

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Judge Grosscup in an interview today admitted that he has received a tempting offer to argue the case of the Northern Securities Company in the Supreme Court this fall, but he had declined.

He stated that personally he wished to take the case up, as it would be of immense political and historical importance, but as he had accepted office his conscience would not let him resign for personal gain.

"Another reason which influences me," said the Judge, "is because I believe in the judicial combination of wealth for the public good. But the time has come to insist that corporations be honestly organized and controlled and I believe that I have done something towards creating public sentiment in this case."

The Guard is glad to make this correction, and Mr. Edris' many friends here will be glad to know that he is doing well.

The roadway to the pavilion was also sprinkled and the crowd going from the track to the pavilion was not subjected to enduring the heavy dust. The crowd in attendance today was estimated 1500. Yesterday 1200 admissions were collected. This is a fairly good attendance, this being the first fair to be held about Eugene for some years. Tomorrow will be a good day. Special races will be pulled off in fast order. The stock parade in the morning at 10 o'clock will be a feature well worth seeing. ## KILLING THE PHEASANTS

Open Season Began This Morning—Some Good Bags.

The China pheasant shooting is again lawful, and early this morning the opening of the season, Eugene was surrounded with hunters who shot merrily at the fleeing birds when they could be raised.

A few hunters returned with evidence of being good shots, but many are home without a feather. The general verdict of the sportsmen is that the birds are extremely scarce, because of being hunted at all times of the year, and will jump from cover long before gunshot range is reached. They then fly away to shelter and it is impossible to reach them. Sportsmen from town are inclined to blame the small country lad with a shot gun, who hunts "crows" all summer, winter, spring and autumn. The birds are targets of these at all times of the year. The strenuous work done by the game warden is of little value towards protecting the birds. The season will prove fairly good to the sure shot, but it would be a good thing for both the birds and sportsmen, if they could all escape for two or three years.

Brevities.

The Agricultural College at Corvallis will have a glee club.

Dan Tarpley, the Portland lawyer, who makes frequent trips to Eugene, a few days ago was thrown out of a buggy, breaking his right wrist.

Bowling season has opened again and the record-breaking scores are in order. E. O. Tobey, if we remember, rightly holds the championship for the last season at cooked hat.

It was transpired that Dirty Dora, a carnival attraction of Portland, instead of eating mud, only eats jam, with a mixture of molasses, etc., looking exactly like mud. Verily there is a fake at every cross roads.
