Wasco, Oregon, Nov. 17.—Fire this morning here burned the Oregon Trading Company's big store, the opera house and several residences. Loss $132,000; insurance $62,000.

The town would have been wiped out had not the wind died away, there being no fire apparatus.

YOSEMITE PARK RECOMMENDATIONS

Washington, Nov. 16.—Acting Superintendent Gerrard of the Yosemite National Park in his annual report recommends the purchase by the government of all patented lands that constitute forest approaches to the park.

He says these forests will be completely destroyed within the next few months unless purchases are made. The land sought can be bought for an average of $10 per acre.

He recommends the appointment of a U. S. commissioner and that the park be formed into a United States court district. In this way he believes an adequate enforcement of regulations and a punitive system may be established and the park indefinitely preserved. He recommends reduction of toll rates and the government acquisition of the main roads.

Burns, Or., Nov. 17.—Sheriff Allen of this county, and Constable T.

N. McCoy, of Elko, Nev., arrived here Monday night with Harry Egbert, alias Jack Frost, the murderer of John G. Saxton and Jack West. Egbert was arraigned before Judge Clifford of the circuit court, to whom he denied the name of Jack Frost, asserting that his true name was Egbert. Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 10 a. m., was set as the time for bringing the case to trial.

There has been no demonstration of any kind against the prisoner. There is general satisfaction that he is safe within the grasp of the authorities and that his trial at an early hour is assured.

ESCAPES DEATH ON DARK LONELY ROAD

State Superintendent Ackerman Had a Narrow Escape.

Salem, Or., Nov. 18.—Prof. J. H. Ackerman had a narrow escape from serious injury on Saturday night while on his way from Dallas to Salem. The road a portion of the way is narrow and winds through and around the hills between Eola and Salem. It has recently been graveled and improved, but is barely wide enough for a team to travel on it. When Mr. Ackerman reached this portion of the road darkness had fallen. The team overtook another rig and attempted to pass, when the buggy capsize, throwing the driver down the embankment, while Mr. Ackerman was caught in the top of the buggy. Fortunately the driver retained the lines, and though dragged a short distance was able to stop the team. The only damage done was a severe bruising of the bodies of both Mr. Ackerman and the driver and the thorough covering of their clothing with mud. Mr. Ackerman was able to come to this city, and after a couple of day's confinement following the severe shaking up he received will be able to go to Eastern Oregon, though he will not be in shape to take the stage trips to interior towns as he had planned.

Had the team not been thoroughly under control when the buggy capsize Mr. Ackerman would doubtless have been dragged to death by the horses, for the road is rocky, crooked and narrow and he was wedged in as to make escape almost impossible.—Journal.

THE PACKERS WILL STRIKE

PRINCESS LOUISE'S CONFESSION

Says Did Not Love the Man She Eloped With.

She Used Him As a Means for Her Divorce and Then Kicked Him Out in the Cold.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Royal and titled circles as well as those lower down in the social scale are not a little interested in a book containing the confessions of the eloping Crown Princess Louise of Bavaria, given to the public here today.

It reveals the princess' disappointment and sorrow through her sad flight with the Frenchman Giron, the tutor of her children, whom she condemns for basely deserting her for a supposed money consideration. She says she expected the world to accept her as a champion of the freedom of her sex.

She also asserts that she never loved Giron, but simply used him as a means to procure a divorce from a cruel, hated husband, and that she ejected him as soon as her husband took a divorce.
