

A GUARD MAN IN THE EAST

Tells of Salt Lake, Denver and St. Joseph.

Says He Hobnobbed With Polygamous Mormons -The Women Do Work in the Fields.

The following are excerpts from a letter received by the city editor from E. L. Campbell, business manager of this paper, who is now in the East on business:

"I spent two days in Salt Lake City, but was much disappointed with the Mormon city, as it was not up to what I expected. I had always heard that it was one of the most beautiful cities. It has wide streets 132 feet, including sidewalks, which are twenty feet wide, and paved with asphaltum. This is in the business portion, but outside the business streets the city is not well kept; the residences do not compare with Portland.

"Denver is a good city and they claim 200,000 population. Twenty-one railroads enter the place. The fire limits extend nearly to the corporate limits, hence nearly all of its buildings are of brick and stone. Pressed brick, red sandstone and granite are common in the residence portion of the city. The state is full of fine quarry stone of all kinds and the sidewalks and streets are built largely of this material. The large office buildings are models of up-to-date architecture and money has been lavishly spent on the structures. Its streets, like Portland's, are narrow. Between Denver and Salt Lake nearly all farm houses are built of brick, but are poor affairs at the best. Brick is cheaper than lumber.

"While at Salt Lake I met a Mormon with seven wives; didn't see his crop. The women plow and do nearly all the work, the presiding husband being kept busy seeing that the women have plenty of work to do.

"St. Joseph, Mo., has a population of 140,000, but being very old is not so up-to-date as the former cities, but the present buildings being put up are very fine. The city enjoys a large wholesale and retail trade, and is growing rapidly. In this section of the country lumber is used extensively, but is so high that people complain very much. There are out few brick residences here."

Brick Work Finished.

The brick work on Eli Bangs' new block on the corner of Olive and West Ninth streets has been finished and the roof is now being put on. The building is two stories high and will be used by Mr. Bangs, when finished, in connection with his livery business. The office, harness rooms and carriage room will be on the first floor, while the second floor will be made into living rooms for Mr. Bangs' family and sample room for commercial men. Mr. Bangs is arranging to take care of commercial men's baggage and run his sample rooms independent of the hotels.

NATIONAL GUARD CAMP

Adjutant General Finzer Interviewed by the Guard.

Not Certain Whether a Department or Division Encampment -- Either at American Lake or in Southern California.

In reply to a question regarding the annual National Guard encampment, Adjutant General Finzer, who was in the city today, said that the encampment this year would either be a department or a division camp, which in either case would be a large one. If a department camp, it will be held about the 7th of July at the American Lake, near Tacoma, Washington, and would include the state troops of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, besides all the U. S. regular troops in this territory. If a division camp, it will be held in Southern California and will include all state and U. S. regular troops on the coast.

When asked if there was a possibility that the state troops would meet with a disappointment, as they did last year, and be taken out to a small camp, such as the Roseburg camp, the general replied that such an arrangement as was had last summer would never be repeated, as the small camp was a total failure and was discouraging to the men. The general says he finds the members of the First Separate Battalion discouraged and very little interest taken in military affairs, which is probably the result of the small camp held last year. The Third Regiment is much more enthusiastic in their drills and military matters in general.

In regard to the First Separate Battalion hospital corps, of which Dr.

METHODISTS WANT MORE LICENSE

General Conference Will Decide Whether the Church Will Allow Dancing.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which meets in Los Angeles, Cal., next month, will have the settling of just how far the people of that denomination can go when it comes to attending balls, parties and the many other social and public gatherings to which man's inclinations may draw him.

Paragraph 248 of the present church constitution prohibits the members of that sect from participating in many forms of amusement, such as card playing, dancing and theatergoing. This paragraph has caused, at many times, many rumors of church disintegration, and various conferences have discussed the question in all its phases. The sentiment, especially in conservative states like Oregon and the down East commonwealths look with disfavor on any change, while the younger generation of adherents of Wesley are asking, even demanding, a little license in these matters.

Just how the question will be decided remains to be seen, but in the meantime, there is plenty of pro and con argument.

THE REGISTER AND TOM BAILEY

Democratic Delegates Think They Can Nominate Whoever They Please.

Springfield, Or., April 14, 1904.

Editor Guard.—We call attention to an article in the Eugene Register under date of the 13th inst., wherein a pitiful plea is entered for the nomination of Tom Bailey, of Junction City, as sheriff on the Democratic ticket, and while it is very kind of the Register people, who are well known for high character and purity of morals, to suggest, or rather name the candidate for the ticket to be presented by the Democratic party in the coming election for county officers, yet we are egotistical and heartless enough to think the Democratic delegates can attend to such matters without any assistance from the Register force whatsoever. Of course, we know the Giltraps' very hearts bleed for Tom Bailey, and they would throw their entire support to cause his election! Every one knows it is not a selfish motive on the Register's part, just simply looking out for the welfare of the county. Their unselfish entreaty and great devotion for Tom Bailey or any other Democrat should appeal at once to every true citizen—in a pig's eye.
