GOOD SAWMILL NEWS

Southern Pacific Railroad Restores Old Rates.

Booth-Kelly Company Will Put Logging Camps on Both Rivers at Once.

Through the courtesy of Hon. R. A. Booth, of the Booth-Kelly Company, the Guard gives the people of Eugene and Lane county some very good news today.

This big lumbering concern, with modern mills at Colusa, Wadline, Springfield and Seginaw, all Lane county points, capable of cutting close to 500,000 feet of lumber each twenty-four hours, is to resume logging operations immediately, and start the mills on full time, with the possible exception of Wendling, for which it is not certain cars for shipment may be procured. Anyway, the Wendling plant will be started up by September.

The Colusa and Seginaw mills have never been shut down, having sixty million feet of logs on hand at the time the high rate became effective, which it was necessary to put into money, even though there was no profit in the milling.

The logging camps will be put back on the McKenzie and Willamette rivers at once, and drives started as soon as a sufficient number of logs can be banked.

THE DIFFERENT RATES.

The rate for dressed lumber that the railroad restores to the shippers of interior points is $3.10 per thousand feet and $3.17 for rough lumber, the rate superseded being $5.00 per thousand feet.

Portland mills are not given the benefit of the reduced rates, as they can ship as cheaply by water, besides the railroad has only sufficient equipment to carry the products of the interior mills.

The interstate commerce law provides that before a railroad operating in two states may change rates it shall give ten days' public notice. This has been done, and at the expiration of that time the old rate will be in force.

It is a matter of congratulation that the different systems of labor necessary to the operation of this great industry will be put in employment at once. The manufacturer of the rough and finished product from the time it is taken from the tree till it is put aboard the cars for shipment requires a class of labor that commands good wages. And in a case like that of the Booth-Kelly Company with their four large mills, hundreds of men are given direct employment, while the money paid in wages is scattered among all lines of business.

Died.

Luella Parker Bundy, wife of Wm. Bundy, died at Springfield April 20th, 1904, after a lingering illness of ten months. The deceased was born at Pleasant Hill, Lane county, September 19, 1830, and was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, well known pioneers. The funeral services will be held at the family residence at Springfield Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in Pleasant Hill cemetery.

A PRETTY WEDDING TODAY

John B. Winstanley and Miss Celia Loomis the Happy Couple.

Daily Guard April 21

The wedding of Miss Celia Loomis and John B. Winstanley of Portland occurred this morning at ten o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Loomis, 428 East Twelfth street.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the drawing room and dining room being embellished with Oregon grape and tulips and the double parlor in ivy and apple blossoms.

The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. D. E. Loveridge, of this city, took place in the parlor under a large bower of ivy, the bride and groom being unattended.

The bride was charming in a gown of cream crepe de chine, while the groom wore the usual black. Little Gertrude Livermore as flower girl was bewitching in a dainty dress of white. About fifty guests witnessed the wedding, after which a reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Winstanley receiving the congratulations of their friends. Mesdames Sweetser and Fred Dunn assisted in entertaining.

The wedding luncheon was presided over by Mrs. Archie Livermore, Mrs. R. S. Bryson and Miss Grace Mount.

Mr. and Mrs. Winstanley were the recipients of many beautiful presents, consisting of cut glass, silverware and fancy ware, pictures, furniture, etc.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Portland, mid a downpour of rice and old shoes. They will make their home in Portland.

KING LEOPOLD'S TROUBLES

Belgian King Will Not Have to Pay Inheritance to Daughter.

The Monarch Avoids Payment by Plea That None of His Wife's Estate Is Left.

Brussels, Belgium, April 20.—The Court of Appeals hearing the claims against King Leopold by creditors of the Princess Louise of Coburg, his daughter, and the claim of Countess Lonyay, another of Leopold's daughters, today decided in favor of the King. Princess Louise contracted debts on the strength of the inheritance due from her mother's estate. King Leopold claimed there was none of it left. Princess Lonyay sued for her portion of her mother's estate. The King gave the same answer.

DOGS TEAR UP GROUNDS

High School Lawn is Ruined by the Pranks of Mischievous Canines.

The faculty and students of the high school are making every effort to beautify the grounds about the building, and have just finished planting flowers and vines in the preparation of a lawn, the seed having been planted a few days ago.

Uncoubtedly the grounds look good to the dogs in the neighborhood of the high school, for they make it their play ground and have dug holes and scratched it up so that one could scarcely recognize it as the nice, smooth lawn of a few days ago.

The members of the school feel that the dog owners should make some effort to take care of their pets and prevent this nuisance, as it is to the public interest to have the high school grounds beautiful.

The students have sworn vengeance, and will be onto the dogs if they begin a crusade.

A Shocking Story.

According to dispatches in the San Francisco press, Dunsuir was terribly stirred up Friday night and Saturday over the alleged attempt of a middle-aged man of that town to criminally assault a four-year-old girl. The dispatch says: R. H. Harrington, a young painter who has lived in Dunsuir for a year, was accused Friday night of a criminal assault upon the four-year-old daughter of William Hodgkinson, a machinist employed in the railroad shops at that place. Saturday morning Harrington was missing, and it is claimed that he was beaten to death by a mob and that his body was thrown into the Sacramento river.

When the story of the assault became known in Dunsuir Friday evening and Harrington was accused of being the child's assailant, the man was taken in hand by a mob, terribly beaten and placed on a southbound train. Then a second mob, containing some members of the first, took him from the train and administered a second beating.

Reports from Dunsuir yesterday indicate that Harrington was not killed, but made his escape southward.

Baseball "Dope."

There has already commenced the task of weeding out the men on various Coast League teams. San Francisco is the first to go to work, and Uncle Henry Harris has already issued a few blue envelopes, in addition to rumors that are flying about regarding other men who may go. Win Cutler, pitcher, so report says, has already received his transportation homeward bound.

Hanson, the catcher, is slated for removal, now that Tommy Leahy is in shape again. Leahy will be reinforced by Gorton, so that Hanson's services will not be needed. As "Dusty" Miller is with the San Francisco team, either Andy Anderson or Claude Schmeer, it is expected, will be benched. Which one of the two will be compelled to look for some other job, is hard to say. Harris has not signified his intentions further than to say that one of the men must go. The other one of the two will likely be kept as a substitute infielder, being considered hardly fast enough for all-around and every day work. Another man Harris let go is young Downing, who has been acting in the capacity of a utility fielder. He will not be out of a job, however, for he is going to play ball with the Eugene team, in the Oregon State League. —Portland Telegram.

Albany, April 19.—The "Young Albanians," this city's amateur baseball team, has scheduled two games with the Lebanon team. The first game will be played in Lebanon next Saturday, and the second in Albany Saturday, April 30, 9:15. First Friday or Saturday in May the Young Albanians will play the Eugene high school team in Eugene. New suits will be ordered for the team, which has commenced active practice, and is developing into a strong aggregation.

Portland Journal: First Baseman Jerry Freeman has been appointed captain of the Browns in Castro's place. Manager Ely decided upon this move on account of the fact that the responsibility of the captaincy disturbed the playing of Castro. Fred Ely has been seriously ill for the past week and the physicians feared that he would not be able to make the trip to Portland, but Fred's grit stood by him and he started the long journey with his men.

Delayed Mail.

A large amount of Eastern mail which has been tied up east of Baker City on the O. R. & N. and Oregon Short Line on account of the wash-outs, arrived here today and kept the post-office clerks busy nearly all afternoon distributing it. Ordinarily the work is done in less than an hour.

SPOKE ON "NEW JAPAN."

An Interesting Address by Dr. Elliott at the University.

Daily Guard April 21

Dr. T. L. Elliott, of Portland, spoke at the university assembly this morning very interestingly on the subject, "The Forces that are Making New Japan."

Dr. Elliott stated that the purpose of the address was to induce his hearers to take Japan more seriously. "We have the feeling that much that is being done in Japan is play." In order to keep his remarks within the time he gathered them about two great names in Japanese history, General Ieyasu and Fukuzawa, a great commoner.

In the history of Japan there was a time corresponding to the Wars of the Roses in England. After these wars appeared the first of three great men, General Ieyasu. In the system of anarchy of that time the emperor was the nominal head, but the government was in the hands of the general at Tokio. The feudal age was carried forward in Japan to its ultimate consequences, much farther than it went in Europe. In this Japanese system was a most wonderful thing, a reflex current, a power of individuality. It was because of this individuality that Japan was able to develop when she discovered America and Europe. All of new Japan is an evolution of old Japan. The old stock was intense, modern, full of power. The idea that the Mikado was the real head of the empire was almost ripe when Japan was opened to the world, and would soon, in any event, have produced a revolution. Events which have come so rapidly were due to the revolution already started, and to the great energy of old Japan.

Passing to the new Japan, history centres about the great commoner, Fukuzawa. He was a pioneer of that class which crosses the border between the aristocratic class and the trading class. It was at this time that Commodore Perry came. Fukuzawa did not join the runaway class, as did Marquis Ito and many others, but put in his time at home in study to discover the secret of the West. With infinite pains he learned Dutch and English. Later he made three great journeys to Europe and America. On his return he took up the role of a popular educator. He was the author of 55 original books, and the translator of 100. He was the author of a great newspaper, and the founder of a university which has graduated some 1000 students.

New Japan is not a grafted product but is a nation which has a high civilization as our own, in its way, and simply leaped forth to its own. Dr. Elliott spoke strongly for the establishment of the study of Japanese history in the university, and it is very probable that such a course will be given soon.
