

GOLD ON SIMMONS CREEK

A Rich Camp Within Two Miles From Blue River City.

A correspondent writes as follows from Blue River:
I have been up on Simmons creek looking at the Crown Boys mines. They are owned by Oregon City people, and they certainly have a bonanza. They have one 92-foot tunnel cross-cutting their ledge, and its good ore all the way across. They have one cross-cut 45 feet, all ore, and not across the ledge. They have another cross-cut 40 feet, with the same result, another 20 feet, same result, and H. B. Nicksels and Mr. Green are still at work on another ledge that shows up in good shape. They have eight claims grouped, and from present indications they have the best property in the district. It is only two miles from Blue River, and they can work all the year and not be bothered with the snow.
This camp on Simmons creek will be the making of the town of Blue River. I saw ore that had free gold in it larger than a pin head. It is blue to look at.

Robert M. Day.

Robert M. Day, Democratic candidate for county coroner, was born in Lane county, his parents being of the hardy pioneers who crossed the "plains" with ox teams.
Provided with a common school education he started out for himself in life by learning the turning and cabinet maker's trade with the late David Cherry, some years afterward buying the stock and business of his former employer. To the furniture business he added an undertaking department, which latter business places him in line for coroner work, the office with few exceptions being conceded to the undertaking profession. And right here we might correct the impression that a coroner if a doctor can make the necessary medical examination at an inquest. The law provides that a doctor must be called as a witness to testify as to the physical cause of death. The coroner may not personally supply the jury with that information. The writer's personal acquaintance with Mr. Day extends over the years of boyhood and since, it is such that he can say that any trust the people of Lane county see fit to confide to him will be faithfully executed.

Note and Comment.

Eugene has a first-class baseball team, which the Guard predicts will be at the top of the percentage column at the end of the season. It is up to the people of Eugene to support the team by attending all the games possible.

Here's hoping that the Eugene Blues will make a better record than the Portland Browns have since the opening of the Coast League season.

Homes for Old Soldiers.

Governor Chamberlain has officially visited the Soldiers' Home and directed that new barracks be furnished at once providing quarters for 40 veterans on the waiting list. The barracks will be opened soon after June. This had not been done for the reason that no provision was made by the last Legislature for the maintenance of any additional members in the home. There are now between thirty and forty applicants on the waiting list, several of whom are in a needy condition, and a few are being cared for in county hospitals.

Governor Chamberlain believes the new building should be furnished and opened, and these aged veterans admitted as soon as possible, even though it should cause a deficit in the maintenance fund during the months that yet intervene before the next legislative session.

ARE YOU AGEING?

Dr. Holmes used to say he was "seventy years young." Some men are old at half that figure.
Age is not in years. It is in the blood. Scott's Emulsion helps to keep you young by keeping your blood young; by supplying it with an abundance of rich, pure, vital nourishment; carrying constant life and renewal to every fibre of your body. TO THE READER

The selection of a range is of vastly more importance than the selection of any other article of household use, because it is so closely associated with the life and work of the housekeeper. Three times a day and 365 days in the year is the usual record.

Even though a selection may prove far less satisfactory than was hoped at the time it was made, the housekeeper will continue to put up with the range for years as she had already done with the old cast iron cook stove.

Our object is to make clear to the intending purchaser of a cooking apparatus, the points or parts of a steel range on which continued satisfaction depends. Every intending purchaser will be well repaid for a careful INSPECTION OF
