An ideal Medicine.

MISS LOUISE MATHER, 13 Church St., Burlington, Vt., Vice-President Bureau of Exchange, writes:

"Your medicine is an ideal woman's medicine and by far the best I have known to restore lost health and strength.

"I suffered for several years. My back ached, I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches.

"I would often wake from sleep in such pain that I would suffer for hours before my eyes would close again. I dreaded the long nights as well as the weary days.

"I consulted two physicians, hoping to get relief. Finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, a friend advised me to try Peruna.

"I am certainly glad that I followed her advice, for Peruna was the only medicine for me. Every ache and pain disappeared in four months and I am in perfect health now.

"My earnest advice to suffering women is to try Peruna, for I feel sure they will not be disappointed in it."—Louise Mather.

Enjoying Splendid Health.

Mrs. L. E. Tyler, Santa Monica, Cal., Secretary Santa Monica Musical Society, writes:

"I was troubled for over three years with systemic catarrh, complicated by female weakness and inflammation.

"This induced frequent headaches, nervousness, hysteria and sleeplessness, which nothing could relieve until I tried Peruna.

"I began to feel better after I had taken the first bottle and improved from week to week until at the end of about eleven weeks I was entirely well.

"I am pleased to say that I have enjoyed splendid health now for nearly a year. I have a fine appetite, enjoy sound sleep and do not suffer from any more headaches or other pains."—L. E. Tyler.

Completely Regained Her Health.

Miss Edith Reams, 726 North Main St., Dayton, O., writes:

"I suffered for some time with both lung and female troubles.

"I had been under the treatment of a good physician for about nine months without obtaining any relief, when Peruna was recommended to me. After taking twelve bottles of this medicine I have completely regained my health.

"I am pleased to recommend Peruna to any one suffering from the above ailments."—Edith Reams.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of female disease.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. Give him a full description of your symptoms, previous treatment and age.

He will promptly reply with full directions for treatment, free of charge.

BAPTISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Tuesday's Daily Guard.

The first session of the Oregon Baptist Minister's conference was formally opened last night at the First Baptist church. The lecture for the evening was "A Webfoot Abroad," by Dr. C. A. Wooddy. He gave a very full report of the World's Baptist Congress held in London last July. At this meeting 4000 delegates were present from all over the world.

This morning the main topics discussed were "The Minister's Reading," by A. L. Wadsworth, field secretary of the Pacific baptists. A general discussion which followed led the chairman to appoint a committee for the purpose of advising concerning the establishment of a circulating library in Oregon among the pastors. This is very much needed, many pastors are unable because of small salaries to keep in touch with the latest books.

The next topic, "By What Authority," was clearly presented by Rev. Jas. Clark, editor of the "Pacific Baptist." He said: "It has been a question asked of the ages, 'By whose authority?' There have been many claimants to this distinction. The throne of authority has been claimed by the Roman church." He said that the authority could be reduced to two parts, the Bible and Christian experience. "We have these statements made in the Bible concerning Jesus Christ, but they must be worked out in experience or they are useless, yet each are necessary to the other. Christianity could not survive without the Bible, and Christianity could not remain a power without Christian experience."

Mr. Clark went on to say that many are led away by various so-called religions because their leaders spoke with apparent authority. "Jesus spoke with authority and he has commanded us to speak as he did. Why should the minister's knees shake when he rises to speak? He read an article concerning a young clergyman rising to address his congregation as follows: 'Brethren, in accordance with an ancient custom I preface my remarks with a quotation from an ancient collection of devotional literature, part Hebrew and part Greek, properly known as the Holy Scriptures. Brethren, all I hope for in this sermon is that some may find it rather suggestive.' Mr. Clark concluded his remarks by saying: 'A minister should preach what he knows and he should first should know Jesus Christ. I would much rather have a man say of me that he did not know I had a text when I preached a sermon than have him go away and not know I had preached Jesus.'

The next topic, "Progressive Evangelism," was made interesting by the young pastor from Oregon City, Rev. Henry B. Robins. He said: "I can only hold up to you an ideal. What is progressive evangelism? Is it a series of meetings in which everybody gets excited for a few weeks? No. It is an evangelism that will last all the year around. But our topic has another meaning. It is an evangelism which is accumulative. It is not progressive evangelism unless it makes each convert an evangelist to win another. It makes him question his own conversion unless he can go after his fellow men. It is an evangelism that works from Christian to Christian, and from Christian to un-saved all the year around."

ELECTION OF OFFICERS. The annual election of officers was held with the following result: President, Rev. F. W. Carstens, Medford; first vice president, Rev. Harry Seacor, Baker City; second vice president, Rev. A. L. Black, Portland; secretary and treasurer, Rev. J. B. Sight, Hood River.

STATE CONVENTION. This afternoon the session of the ministers' conference was concluded, and the work of the Oregon Baptist state convention began. The sermons will be delivered by F. W. Carstens, of Medford, and this evening the main address is to be given by Rev. E. E. Chivers, D. D. of New York. All are welcome.

DEDICATION OF BAPTIST CHURCH

Monday's Daily Guard

Yesterday was a day long to be remembered by the congregation of the First Baptist church of Eugene. It was the occasion of the dedication of the remodelled church building. The auditorium, galleries and lecture room were almost packed at both the morning and evening services, probably 800 people being present at each. Rev. J. Wattecomb Brougler, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Portland, the "White Temple," preached two powerful sermons. His theme at the morning service was "Why He Was Put Ont," and in the evening, "What He Got for His Curiosity." The discourses were listened to with great interest by the vast audiences. Members of all churches in the city and many who are members of no church were in attendance. Special music characterized the services. Professor I. M. Glen rendering a solo in the forenoon and Miss Eva L. Stinson in the evening.

The sum of $1500 with which to pay off the indebtedness of the building was needed before the forenoon services began and within a short time $1000 of the amount was raised. Nearly the remaining sum was raised at the evening service.

The church edifice as it now stands is one of the most commodious and conveniently arranged of any in the city. The seating capacity has been more than doubled. The auditorium, with a seating capacity of 400, is 60x50 feet in dimensions, with a balcony which seats 300 around three sides. The pulpit, which was formerly in the north side of the auditorium, has been changed to the east side and the choir box is in the southeast corner of the room. To the north of the auditorium is a large lecture room seating 300. This is connected with the auditorium by sliding doors, making a combined seating capacity of 1000, with every seat in view of the pulpit. There are ladies' dressing rooms, special class rooms, the pastor's study and plenty of room in the basement for boys' club rooms. The heating plant is also situated in the basement.

The interior of the building is handsomely decorated and numerous incandescent lamps afford plenty of light at night.

Much of the success of this undertaking is due to the popular pastor, Rev. O. C. Wright. Since he came here from Ogden, Utah, in May, 1904 ago, the church has made a wonderful growth and every department of the work is now active and in a prosperous condition.

The sum of $6500 has been expended upon improvements during his pastorate.

CHURCH OFFICERS.

The officers of the church at present are as follows: Deacons, B. F. Dorris, A. J. Harlow, S. C. Marsh, Rev. H. A. Green, T. N. Plank, C. W. Converse, Professor E. E. DeCon; trustees, C. S. Frank, M. H. Harlow, M. D. Mitchell; clerk, B. F. Dorris; treasurer, Professor W. P. Boynton; bible school superintendent, Frank Needham; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Mary E. Young.

SOME NEW DEVELOPMENTS HAS IT IN FOR SENATOR BOOTH

Portland, Oct. 5.—Longenecker testified to taking up land in the Siletz reservation under agreement with defendants in the land fraud trials today. When Galloway left the land office in Oregon City final proofs for entry were made before defendant Ira Wade at Toledo. He said he only answered two questions in making final proof, the balance of answers being filled in by Wade, many of which were false.

Portland, Oct. 7.—In the Jones land fraud trial today it developed that R. B. Montague, deputy county clerk of Linn county, on learning Jones' plot to secure land through old soldiers, gave the defendants the double cross by offering the veterans $200 more for their homesteads than they had contracted for with Jones. Nine argued to sell the patents issued. The land is now in the name of Faber and Nels, the Albany brewers, who furnished the money for the scheme. Louis Paquet and Geo. J. West were the old soldiers who testified to having taken the land at the instance of defendants.

Portland, Oct. 9.—Senator Fulton called as a witness on the Jones fraud trial this morning. He testified the letters he had written regarding the alleged fraudulent claims in question be passed, and recommending the defendant. The letters also asked that the proceedings be delayed until Fulton had time to introduce a bill in congress for some modifications to the land laws that were available to the old soldier applicants.

Portland, Oct. 10.—The testimony in the land fraud case this morning showed the defendants were the victims of blackmailing plots in the acts of a number of people who discovered the fraudulent character of operations and extorted money in amounts ranging from $250 to $500. Several old soldiers were under contract with the defendants and joined

HOW BUSINESS WAS HANDLED

New York, Oct. 10.—Robert Oliphant was the insurance witness today. He said he had authority to draw money on his own vouchers for legal expenses. He said he didn't know why the money was unpaid to the general solicitor.

Oliphant said eight payments of $25,000 each had been made to him as chairman for legal expenses, and said that he had turned them over to the officers and didn't consider it his duty to know the specific uses. He said he supposed some was contributed to the Republican fund, because he had not heard of contributions coming from any other fund. When asked: "If a vice president of the company asks for money do you give it to him without knowing anything about what it is for?" he replied: "I have to."

R. A. Graniss, vice president of the Mutual, testified in regard to political contributions. The committee was surprised to hear that Geo. W. Perkins had sailed for Europe.

Graniss said he never heard of any campaign contributions. He was unacquainted with Hamilton, and could not recall whether he had conferred with a New York Life representative regarding legislation anywhere in this country, and said Thummel looked after legislation, but could not recall having given him instructions. Gillette another vice president, was called. When shown vouchers for $25,000, each bearing his signature, he said it was for legal expenses Hughes asked what legal expenses were. Gillette said the general solicitor told him the money was to be used for legal expenses. Hughes persisted, and Gillette said he was not told any specific purposes. Gillette's attention was called to the fact that the legal expenses of the Mutual last year cost $360,500; New York Life, $172,000; Equitable, $24,000. When asked to explain why so much larger he indicated he thought it was a matter for the general solicitor to answer.

At Harker came to Eugene five or six days ago from Acme, where he had been employed for some time past by the Siuslaw Lumber Company. Acme and Florence are now "dry" towns and in consequence Harker had accumulated nearly $400, receiving good wages as a log scaler. When he hit Eugene he and his money began to separate. He bought champagne for the boys and literally threw the money about the saloons. He was put in jail two or three times to get him sobered up and was begged by the police to deposit his money in a bank before it was all gone, but no; he was out for a good time and was going to have it. Saturday night the last of his money was spent and he willingly accompanied the officers to jail. He appeared before Police Judge Dorris this morning and was fined $12. Not having the necessary "mazuma," he will board six days with the city. He wonders why all his friends have deserted him in his hour of adversity.
