

CLAUDE ROYCE'S DEATH

The Guard yesterday printed an error in the effect that Claude Royce, formerly of Eugene, was killed by falling over a cliff while out hunting. A press dispatch from Albany gives the particulars as follows: Claude Royce, of Woodburn, plunged to death over a precipice while hunting in the Cascade Mountains near Astoria yesterday afternoon. The remains of the unfortunate man were brought to Albany this evening by a courier on the hunting trip. Royce last Sunday went to Bear River with Frank W. Hammond and his two sons, Roy and Howard, who came from Nebraska recently on a visit, and whom Royce was entertaining by the hunt. The men had established camp and started on the first hunting expedition in the timber when they lost their bearings. While wandering about they came upon a high ledge, which ended in a sheer precipice. Seeking for a place of descent, Royce slipped and plunged down 70 feet to the bottom. When found Royce's head was crushed and his body mangled, life being extinct. The deceased was a pattern maker in the factory of his father Ed Royce, of Woodburn. He was 22 years of age and unmarried. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment in Albany and prepared for shipment to Woodburn tomorrow.

The track will be 120 yards long, and in time will be extended to 220 yards. Bids have already been called for.

CATARRHAL TROUBLES PREVALENT

Fall Months Cause Sickness—Breathe Hyomel, and Be Cured of Catarrh

Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than at any other time of the year. The sudden changes that come during the fall months are productive of many cases of catarrh that without proper treatment will become chronic.

The pleasantest, most convenient and only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh is Hyomel. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day. No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the system when Hyomel is used. Breathed through the inhaler, the balsamic fragrance of Hyomel penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane, and gives complete and permanent cure.

Thousands of testimonials have been given as to the astonishing cures made by this remedy. J. S. Nagent, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Company, writes: "Hyomel has completely cured my daughter of catarrh, from which she has been a sufferer for years."

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but one dollar, and as the inhaler will last a lifetime and there is sufficient Hyomel for several weeks' treatment, it is the most economical catarrhal remedy known. Extra bottles can be procured for fifty cents. Ask Hull's drug store to show you the strong guarantee under which they sell Hyomel.

PICTURES WILL ADVERTISE

A. L. Craig, general passenger agent for the O. R. & N. Ry., has detected that Oregon be canvassed for photographs of all principal products and points of interest, and in doing so he is carrying out a carefully planned scheme for advertising this state.

A. W. Rice, a skilled photographer from San Francisco, has been added to the staff. Yesterday he completed the labor of securing views of Portland, including everything of interest at the Exposition. Today Mr. Rice is at Oregon City, and Saturday he goes to Astoria. Later he will visit Salem, Dundee, Dallas and Albany for pictures of dried fruit, packing houses and orchards. At Medford he will take pictures of apples, orchards and packing houses, and hops in the growing state. The mode of capturing the elusive Chinook at Astoria, the process of canning and scenes about the canneries will be his plan of action in the character of views taken at that point. In fact, no industry in the state will be overlooked.

Under the head of industries and their location a set of pictures will be taken of lumber mills at Portland, Springfield, Salem and Grant's Pass; excelsior factory at Eugene, chair factory at Albany, canneries at Eugene, Salem, Springbrook and this city. Scenery will be taken along the Columbia, Willamette, Rogue and Umpqua rivers, and forest nooks in various sections. State buildings at Salem, Chemawa, Corvallis and Eugene are to be features.—Telegram.

TEAL DUCK CLUB ORGANIZED

The "Teal Duck Club" has been organized among a number of Eugene's sportsmen. They will build a house on the Gibson swamp, a well-known hunting place west of the city. The members of the club are Dr. W. L. Cheshire, Dr. F. M. Day, J. W. Hobbs, F. L. Poindexter, A. J. Tolmie and E. E. McClanahan.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember that after marriage many quarrels can be avoided by keeping their digestions in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." W. L. DeLano, druggist, sells and guarantees them, at 50c a bottle.

FELL OFF OF PASSENGER TRAIN

Early this forenoon the sheriff's office was notified by a resident in the vicinity of Bang's Park that a man who had fallen off of a train was lying beside the railroad at the crossing leading to the lower end of the park, and was badly hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Bown and Chief of Police Stiles, accompanied by Dr. D. A. Paine, drove down and brought the man to the Eugene hospital. He gave his name as Ed Lacy and his home as South Omaha, Neb. He stated that he was beating his way on the south-bound overland train last night, getting on at Salem, and riding on the top of a coach. He says one of the trainmen pushed him off, but it is thought that he simply fell off, as a trainman would not climb to the top of a car to put off a hobo between stations.

The man's injuries were found not so serious as at first thought. One rib was broken and he was pretty badly bruised up.

PROBABLY WORK OF A CRANK

Sunday morning's attempt to wreck the Southern Pacific train at a point five miles south of Eugene by placing dynamite on the track, is the fourth attempt of this character in the past three years. The belief is expressed by the railroad officials that the dusky act was the work of a demented person, as most of the cases have upon investigation proved to be the work of cranks. The railroad detectives have been unusually successful in running down these criminals in the past.—Telegram.

CATTLE CROSS MOUNTAINS

Springfield News: Jim Stewart arrived home Tuesday evening with his large band of nearly 300 head of cattle. For the past five months he has been ranging them in the Deschutes country. Regardless of the long trip across the mountains without feed, the herd is fat and in good order, and show that the cattle have had good care. Mr. Stewart says he made a trip to Klamath Falls recently and that Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, former residents of Springfield, are well pleased with their new location and are enjoying a good business. Mrs. Stewart, who is now visiting her mother, Mrs. Jacobs, will remain at Klamath for a short time.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Herman Holl Elison, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elison, was burned to death at their home, southeast of Cottage Grove, September 14, 1905. The little one was playing in the yard and had gone outside, where there was a small trash fire, and thinking to put it out he stomped it, as he had no doubt seen others do, and this started fresh flames, which caught his dress, burning him badly under the arm, and it is thought he inhaled the flames, as in half an hour he died, before the doctor arrived.—Cottage Grove Nugget.

Jewell, the 6-year-old daughter of W. P. Bailey, residing at the corner of East Fifteenth and Mill streets, is ill from diphtheria and Chief of Police Stiles has quarantined the place.

GEORGE DINEHART SENT TO ASYLUM

George Dinehart, a resident of Eugene, married and aged about 50 years, was this afternoon examined before County Judge Chrisman for insanity and committed to the insane asylum. Drs. J. W. Harris and Geo. O'B. DeBar were the examining physicians.

It appears that Dinehart drove to Cottage Grove and began to act strangely while there. He returned to Eugene on this morning's train, and his folks at once noticed that something was wrong. He said he did not know where he left his team and declared that some one was after him to do him bodily harm.

He will be taken to the asylum at Salem tomorrow.

Hull, about two and a half miles south of Cottage Grove, on the Coast Fork of the Willamette. He had been living at Cottage Grove ever since 1891.

ANOTHER GOULD STORY

A press dispatch from San Francisco says:

It is learned upon good authority that George Gould is definitely planning to reach Portland with a branch of the Western Pacific. This explains the presence of his surveyors in Southern Oregon.

It is learned that an engineering force went from this city to Eugene nearly a month ago and has since been running lines toward Diamond Peak pass, following the southwest fork of the Willamette river.

The proposed Oregon survey way of Diamond Peak pass to Cottage Grove, from which point Klamath and Lake county regions are easily accessible.

Although not officially admitted, the Nevada-California-Oregon narrow gauge road, which extends northwest from Reno, Nevada, to Madeline, California, and is projected northward to Lakeview, Oregon, it is understood has been acquired by the Gould interests. It is believed that surveying operations now in progress in Oregon are intended to solve the question of an outlet in Portland for the narrow gauge line, which will be converted into the standard gauge.

It was drawn on the same bank that the other one was and was signed the same way.
