

MINERS MAY BEAT BOOTH

Between Robert A. Booth and re-election to the state senate stood an indictment and the miners of Oregon, as the Portland Telegram. Those who are pressing the criminal charge say that their revelations will bar him from representing Lane in the upper house of the assembly; the miners assert that even should he clear himself in the Federal court their cause against him is so strong that he will be defeated.

Senator Booth, it is said, will be opposed by I. H. Bingham, representative from Lane in the last legislature, who offered and worked for a bill modifying the corporation laws by removing the arbitrary tax on mining properties, and placing them on an income basis. Booth fought the measure, and all the arguments that those interested in its passage presented to him in its behalf were turned into weapons against it. At that time the miners are said to have resolved that Booth should no longer represent Lane in the senate, and when their bill passed they began to prepare for the election of the man who championed it. And now Bingham is having himself fitted for Booth's toga.

MORE BUILDING IN PROSPECT

Building in Eugene and Springfield seems not on the wane as the winter months approach. The Eugene planing mill received orders within the past few days for work for a new store building for J. A. Ellis, of Springfield, and a large addition for H. N. Casteel, and a residence to be built at that place, and also for the work for the new Schneider building on Eighth street. With what orders they have in sight, they will have work to keep them busy for a long time.

GEO. CRAW RETIRES FROM POSTAL

Geo. F. Crow, who for the past 18 years has been manager of the Postal Telegraph Co.'s office in this city, will retire from active business life on November 1st. H. E. Morris, the piano dealer, succeeded him at local headquarters. As stated in yesterday's Globe, the office will be moved from 117 1/2 to 118 1/2 in the Sherman block, where Mr. Morris is moving his stock of goods. Miss Orpha Harms, the efficient operator, will be retained by the new manager.

Mr. Crow established the Postal office in Eugene in 1887, and has been manager continuously since. He is compelled to retire from business life on account of poor health. He has served his company well and faithfully, and all regret that the condition of his health makes it necessary for him to give up the office. His successor is a first-class business man and the office will be in good hands.

MEETING OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Lane County Medical Association met in the rooms of the president, Dr. J. W. Harris, last evening and a large amount of business was transacted. The object of the meeting was to get the members of the profession outside of the city more thoroughly acquainted and to establish cordial and harmonious relations between them. The members of the profession in Eugene, and every practicing physician in the city, except one, is a member, enjoy the most cordial relations and they work together without the slightest friction.

The meeting opened with the customary banquet, which was given at the Smeede Hotel, after which the members repaired to Dr. Harris' rooms and many matters of interest to the society were discussed at length, including the arrangement of a uniform fee bill. It was decided to hold two regular meetings a month at which post graduate work will be discussed, pathological specimens presented, including patients recently recovered from operations, demonstrations in histology and any other matters that may be of interest to the profession, and for the benefit of the community.

Besides a good attendance of the local physicians there were in attendance from out of town: Dr. C. T. Hockett, of Cottage Grove; Dr. L. D. Carbrongh, of Creswell; Dr. R. A. Janey, of Springfield, and Dr. J. L. Owen and David E. Ruff, of Junction. The next meeting will be held at Cottage Grove on Saturday, November 11. The officers of the society at present are: President, J. W. Harris; vice president, Dr. T. W. Harris; secretary, Dr. F. E. Selover.

EUGENE GETS A PRIZE WINNER

O. J. Hull, the enterprising druggist, has installed his new 20th Century Sanitary Soda Fountain, which won the gold medal at the Lewis and Clark exposition. It is a thing of beauty and a departure from the ordinary styles of soda fountains. All the syrups and flavors are stored in sterilized glass bottles with silver caps, in plain view of the public, and which insure pure sanitary soda water. The superstructure, or back bar, is fitted with a plate glass mirror, 5x12 feet, which is sure to be a popular feature to the ladies. This is held in place by four massive oak columns, with gold caps. The soda water is drawn from an onyx draught stand on the counter, which is fitted with the L. A. Becker Co. patent duplex coolers, from which it is impossible to draw warm soda. The workboard, or kitchen of the soda fountain, is all made of copper, and has two ice cream cabinets, drain boards, sinks, etc. It is the most beautiful and modern fountain in the state of Oregon, and should receive a liberal patronage from the people of Eugene. Mr. Hull is to be commended for his enterprise in purchasing such an apparatus.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO LADIES G. A. R.

Mrs. Olive Van Orden, department president, and Mrs. Jennie Wardlaw Lyon, department secretary of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, came in from Roseburg this afternoon and are inspecting and instructing the local lodge in Odd Fellows' Hall this afternoon. The national president was expected, but was unable to be present.

MORE MONEY TURNED OVER

Frank Reiser, city treasurer, and also treasurer of the school district, received $1811.90 from Sheriff Flak, leaving the city's share of the delinquent tax collected up to this date, and $1063.29 for the school district.

E. M. Warren, who had charge of the Lane county exhibit at the Lewis and Clark exposition, shipped the furniture and fixtures to the pavilion at the state fair at Salem, to be used at the county exhibit there next year.

KINCAIDS' PORTLAND PURCHASE

H. E. Kincaid, editor and publisher of the Oregon State Journal and formerly secretary of state and Lane county judge, has within the past few days invested heavily in valuable Portland real estate. He bought the Southern rooming and boarding house, at the southeast corner of Yamhill and West Park streets, with a lot having 50 feet frontage on Yamhill and 100 on West Park. The building is three stories high and a frame structure, and has been used as a rooming house for several years. The consideration was $25,000.

Phil Metschan, formerly state treasurer, one of the proprietors of the Imperial Hotel, and Mr. Kincaid have also purchased the half block facing Ninth street, between Flanders and Everett, the consideration being $32,500. No building is contemplated for the present to replace the small cottages occupying the tract, but next year larger structures may be erected. Mr. Kincaid recently sold two lots in Portland for something like $40,000. He had held them for 25 years.

BRYANT IS BOUND OVER

In the case of the State against Bryant, charging statutory rape on one Ida Conrad, under the age of sixteen years, this afternoon some five or six witnesses were examined and the conclusion of the judge was that the defendant be bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $750, which he promptly furnished. The defense was conducted by L. Blyen, and it was evident from the hearing that an alibi will be set up as a defense. Miss Conrad is only a stripling of a girl and is said to be eccentric.

DEATH OF MRS. DETMERING

Mrs. Ella Detmering died at her home at the corner of West Sixth and Washington streets this morning at 8:30 o'clock. She had been an invalid for about ten years, but her last sickness commenced about ten days ago and her death was somewhat unexpected.

Ella Taylor was born in Lowell, Indiana, in 1853, and came to Eugene with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Taylor, while she was yet an infant, via the Panama route. They settled at Dayton, Yamhill county. She was educated at St. Helen's Hall in Portland, and in 1880 was married to G. E. Detmering. They moved to Eugene eight years ago. Mrs. Detmering was an only daughter and leaves only her mother, Mrs. Taylor, and her husband as immediate relatives. She was a zealous Christian character, beloved by all her acquaintances, and her memory will long be cherished by those who knew her. She was an earnest member of St. Mary's Episcopal church in this city, and a zealous worker for all that was pure in life. She was also a member of the local Order of Eastern Star.

The remains will be taken to Dayton, Oregon, for interment on the 6 a. m. train tomorrow. She was at the time of her death president of the Ladies of the G. A. R. of this city.

BROWN WINS THE DOG CASE

The case of Homer Brown vs. Bert Vincent, in the justice court, to determine the possession of a bird dog, was decided yesterday afternoon in favor of Brown. This case has been in court for several weeks and has attracted considerable attention. The costs of the suit on each side are many times what the dog is worth.

FARMS SOLD TO EASTERNER

The Katie D. Berlin farm of 430 acres and the E. Bostwick farm of 180 acres, adjoining each other in the Llewellyn neighborhood, ten miles west of Eugene, have been sold to Martin Jettmundson, recently from Spring Grove, Minn., for $8445. ## Mrs. Fanny Crandall

Mrs. Fanny Crandall died October 23, 1905, at the home of her son, E. C. Crandall, at Coburg. Mrs. Crandall was born in Watertown, N. Y., June 9, 1824, and came to Oregon about five years ago. She leaves besides her aged husband, two daughters and one son. The deceased was a most estimable Christian woman, and beloved by all who knew her. She was a member of the Presbyterian church from early childhood until several years ago, when she united with the M. E. church at Coburg. The funeral took place at the house today, Thursday, at 2 o'clock p. m., the Rev. W. H. Mayers officiating.

Press Clippings Concerning Dr. Darrin Now Located at Hotel Smeede, Eugene

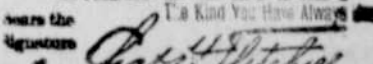

Dr. Darrin, the specialist, has his office crowded every day, and the list of testimonials of his cures are eloquent tributes to his ability.—Independence Enterprise.

The Republicans of Linn county won't thank Dr. Darrin for rescuing that old Democratic warhorse, Judge J. J. Whitney, from the grave.—Salem Journal. Only from deafness. Otherwise the judge has been as sound as a dollar.—Albany Democrat.

Judge J. J. Whitney, of this city, has been taking treatment from Dr. Darrin for his hearing and is surprised himself at the quick and complete restoration of his hearing. His letter to the public speaks much for the successful treatment of this specialist.—Herald, August 30.

There has always been a prejudice against advertising doctors, but Dr. Darrin has overcome this prejudice and has received patronage from the most influential citizens of the county. When such men as W. W. Parrish, of Sodaville, and Judge Whitney, of Albany, testify to his merits as a healer, he is surely entitled to the consideration of the suffering public.—Lebanon Critterion.

As will be seen by an article on the first page of this paper, the eminent physician, Dr. Darrin, is again in this part of the Willamette valley, being located at the Smeede Hotel, Eugene, to remain until November 12. During the doctor's stay in Salem last summer he made many marvelous cures, and the sick and afflicted of this section can congratulate themselves upon being able to take advantage of his remarkable skill in the treatment of disease.
