

FORMS DELAY TRAINS

present stormy weather has its effect upon the schedule of southern Pacific overland trains. Morning's overland, due about three o'clock, did not start until about one o'clock, ten minutes late. This delay was caused by a landslide in Cow Creek canyon between Roseburg and Grant's Pass. The train, with two locomotives attached, was coming along at a good speed when, rounding a sharp curve, it ran plump into a landslide and the engines could be reversed. The first locomotive left the track and rolled down the canyon into the water. The engineer and firemen themselves by jumping in the time. The second engine, with the baggage car left the track. They were easily re-railed. The accident occurred Saturday evening and the track was cleared by 7 o'clock the following morning.

The morning's early train did not start until 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, it being delayed in the Siskiyou mountains. It is not learned what the cause of this delay is, but it is reported that the locomotive of the southbound train No. 100 was derailed.

The daylight overland due at 12:42 this afternoon was over an hour late.

OREGON PRESS ASSOCIATION

The Oregon Press Association commenced its 21st session at Portland Saturday. The Telegram says of the event that past presidents but one has been elected to the beyond, Ira L. Campbell. We may add that he was a charter member, took great interest in its affairs, and never missed a meeting. The Telegram publishes the names of the 20 past presidents of the Oregon Press Association having since permanent organization effected, in 1886. It is interesting to note that all, with one exception, are still alive today; 12 are actively engaged in newspaper work, and ten in attendance at the annual convention held last week. Prior to the 1904 it had grown to be an old tradition that "to have been president of the Oregon Press Association was to have been president of the world." But the spell was broken over a year ago, when Ira L. Campbell, who served as president in 1903, died at his home in Eugene.

The first president of the association was Martin L. Pipes, who was elected in 1886. He is now engaged in the practice of law in Portland.

Second president, J. R. N. Bell, Baker City, retired from newspaper work and entered the ministry. He has served as chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masonry for the past 15 years. Charles Nickell, of Roseville, is still in the newspaper business, as is also A. Noltner, of Astoria, the fifth president. L. L. Bell, of Portland, is in the insurance business. James B. Eddy, the president, is right-of-way agent of the Harriman railroad system.

Campbell, of Eugene, the secretary, is dead, and John R. Beagle, of Astoria, is United States collector of customs for Alaska, stationed at Sitka.

A. Noltner, the oldest member of the association in point of service, is 75 years of age. He has been actively engaged in newspaper work ever since, and today connected with the Register, published in this city. Being the first president of the association, Mr. Noltner conducted a paper in Eugene in partnership with Joaquin Miller, the "Hermit of the Sierras," during the civil war, which displayed such anti-Union tendencies that its publication three times suppressed.

A schooner is reported ashore on the coast between the Siuslaw and Clatsop rivers, but as the telephone lines between here and Florence are out, it is impossible to learn the name of the vessel or anything concerning it.

DON'T NEGLECT A COLD.

How Pretty Miss Powell Was Restored to Health by Pe-Ru-Na.

PE-RU-NA CURES COLDS AND COUGHS.

Miss Lillian Powell, Aurora, Ind., writes:
"Last spring I caught a severe cold from getting my feet wet and being out in the rain, and in a day I had a most miserable cold, but I neglected it, thinking it would soon leave me. But it hung to me for two weeks, when I felt something must be done, as my condition was serious.
"I had heard so much about Pe-Ru-Na and in its praise that I bought a bottle and began taking it regularly. I was gratified to find that in a week the cold and cough was broken up, and three weeks' treatment completely restored my usual good health."—Lillian Powell.

How Consumption Develops.

Nine cases of consumption out of ten occur in this way:
A person catches cold. The cold is not properly cured, and another cold is caught.
This cold is dilly-dallied with, either by no treatment whatever or some treatment that is ineffectual, and the cold continues.
Then another cold is caught and a cough develops. Cough syrups are resorted to, but they give only temporary relief.
By and by the patient gets tired of taking medicines and cough syrups and gives up in despair.
The cold continues to develop and the cough grows worse.
Then the doctor is called in, only to discover that the patient is in the first stages of consumption.
It was just in this way that Miss Powell, of Aurora, Ind., became sick. She caught a cold, and not considering it serious, neglected it, thinking as many others do, that it would "wear off."
However, it clung to her tenaciously, and in two weeks she found her health in a serious condition.
Fortunately, Pe-Ru-Na had been brought to her notice, and she took a course of this remedy before it was too late.
In a week the cough and cold were broken, and a three weeks' treatment completely restored her to health.
This is what Pe-Ru-Na is doing all the while. Not a day, and probably not an hour passes in which some one does not have a similar experience with Pe-Ru-Na.
Cure the Slight Colds and Avoid Consumption.
The first step toward consumption is a cold. The next step is a failure to cure it promptly. The third step is the development of catarrh, which gradually becomes chronic. The fourth step, the catarrh begins to spread from the head to the throat, then to the bronchial tubes, and finally into the lungs. It is then consumption in the first stage.
At any time during the progress of catarrh, from the first onset of the cold to its final settlement in the lungs, Pe-Ru-Na can be relied upon to stop the disease. If you have taken a cold, buy Pe-Ru-Na without delay. One bottle in the beginning will do more good than a half dozen bottles after the catarrh has fastened itself on the lungs.
Thousands of Testimonials.
We have on file thousands of testimonials from people who have been cured of catarrh of the lungs by Pe-Ru-Na. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month. No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Pe-Ru-Na.
