Thought Dead Man Alive That is a curious story that came from New York yesterday

"laborant of the fact that be had Neen cand for nearly two days, workmen made Charles Brady, au employe at the Consolidated Gas Company, the butt of joker, while his lifeless form rested on a ladder at the house at 90 Washington street. He had been asphyxlated by gas while putting in a meter. His head and one hand were still in the small compartment and he appeared to be at work.

" 'Say, old man,' said Louis Bach, elevator man, who had seen Bredy anter the building Saturday aftermoon, 'are you going to sleep over Mat job? You'd better get a move on you; the boss is after you."

"John Woods tried to shove a please of board under Brady's left foot as a joke. When Brady did not move the police were notified. It was found be was dead. His hand was firmly grasping a plug with which he opened a gas sock. From the open vent gas was pouring."

Kicks the Man Down

The Washington correspondent of the Oregonian effects surprise that Congressman Hermann should choose a time to appear before the speaker of the house to take the oath of office when his appearance would be the least noted by fellow members. Did be expect Mr. Hermann, under indictment for a penitentiary offense, to merch in with a brass band? Mr. Bermann is not seeking publicity these days as of yore.

As for his attending at once to Smwing hts $1200 mileage as noted by the correspondent, that is an indication that Mr. Hermann, however he has helped his friends, has not profitad Spannish by reason thereof and was in need of his mileage, or at least some part thereof. It may be noted that several yeras ago the Oregonian's Washington correspondent ran after Mr. Hermann and got man; favors from him. But it is the way of the world-get a man down he does not lack getting kicked.

TIMBER LAND

DEAL

The sale of 1388 acres of fine timber being $3300. and up the Mohawk, between 17 and 20 miles northeast of Eugene, and belonging to Dr. T. W. Harris and B. L. Begart, of this city, is about to be made to the firm of Whitten & Bryant, of Portland, representing a wealthy Eastern man by the name of Lewis. Messrs. Whitten and Bryant returned to Portanid today after having examined the land. The only hitch in the deal now is said to be the price. Messrs. Harris and Bogart ark $15 an acre for the land, but the Portland firm is at present willing to pay only $12. This matter may be settled, however, within a few days and the sale be completed.

The timber on the land about to be sold is some of the best in the state and has the advantage of being only a short distance from the railroad. It lies in township 17, south of range 2 take possession March 1. west, and is easy of access. The prospentive purchasers are well pleased with the timber, as evidenced by the price they offere for it.

It is said that if this sale for any reason is not completed another ouyer is ready to take the laud at once.
