eral cords of wood have been taken away in limits since it was large enough to trim. In winter small birds roost about the trunk, where it is dry and protected even in the stormiest weather.

Three of the telephone operators, Mattie Jenkins, Elva Mulkey and Myrtle Haskell, are ill with typhoid fever.

Spencer Clapham, the journalist-lecturer who spoke at the university assembly, a week ago will speak again in Viillard hall this evening on the political and social conditions of New Zealand.

The funeral of Mrs. E. D. Poole was held this forenoon at the residence of her brother, J. J. Moore, 514 Willamette street. The remains were interred in the Pleasant Hill cemetery.

James Drummond, the Coburg mill hand who attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat Sunday, is improving and is now in no danger.

The lower front of E. J. Farsier's new building at Sixth and Willamette streets is being put in.

Glenn E. Benedict, a Lane county patient, has been released from the insane asylum on a month's leave of absence.

A marriage license was issued today to Wm. Dick and Libby Barney.

Three more cases of smallpox have been discovered in the city. They are at the home of Mr. Coie at East Fifteenth and Mill streets.

EXTEND BOHEMIA RAILROAD

A. B. Wood, manager of the Oregon & Southeastern Railroad, informed us Monday that he was looking for men, and was ready to let contracts for the extension of the road to the 99-mile post, after which all trains will be run to the end of the line, which is just about two miles from the present stopping place, at the foot bridge. This will shorten the stage travel two miles, and the heavy wagon travel three miles to the mine, as the wagons have to load a mile below the foot bridge.—Herald.

MARSHALL FIELD'S ESTATE

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The executors of the estate of Marshall Field estimate the estate to be worth $75,000,000—$25,000,000 personal and $50,000,000 realty. Today they filed a petition to have the will admitted to probate.

DEFENDS RATE BILL

Washington, Jan. 31.—Bartlett, of Georgia, was the principal speaker on the railroad rate bill for the Democratic side today. He attacked the motives of the corporations in trying to block legislation, and declared that any man or party standing in the way of rate legislation would be swept away by the people.

GETTING OUT LOGS WITH A DONKEY

C. L. Williams is down from the New river country, where he has just installed a donkey engine with which to get out logs for the Eugene Lumber Co. The logs are hauled on cars to Eugene and dumped into the tail race in the factory district, then floated down the river to the sawmill. When the spur from the railroad to the mill is completed the logs will be hauled directly to the saws.

WOMEN REFUSED TO GO

Would Not Enter the Lifeboats When Asked to

Valencia Wreck Investigation in Progress at Seattle—No Boat Drills on the Entire Trip

Seattle, Jan. 31.—At the Valencia investigation today Walter Chas. Hodgson said he asked women to go in the lifeboats, but they refused. No boat drills were held during the entire trip. The witness was thrown into the water, but was saved by a life raft.

Frank Rieley, a fireman with the Bunker party, said they could have reached the cliff to get a line, but other members of the party got cold feet. He could not go alone. The investigation seems to be a whitewash for the government inspectors for allowing such conditions on the boat.

MOSAIC LAW IS GOOD

Governor Chamberlain Expresses Himself on Capital Punishment

Salem, Or., Jan. 30.—Replying to a letter from Ohio women asking him to endorse a movement for the abolishment of capital punishment in all states, Governor Chamberlain writes: "Where one man with deliberate premeditated malice takes the life of another he ought to pay the penalty with his own life, in accordance with Mosaic law. Its wisdom has been vindicated in every state where capital punishment is in vogue. Life imprisonment is not sufficient to protect the public from murderers.

"I would extend capital punishment to highway robbery and burglary in the night time, because those who commit the crime intend to take life if necessary and refuse to give their victims any chance for life."

MISS ALICE'S SORE THROAT

New York, Jan. 1.—Miss Roosevelt will go to Washington this afternoon on account of a slight sore throat, which necessitated a physician's attendance this morning. It is not serious.

TELEGRAPH BREVETIES

Seattle, Jan. 30.—Cornelius Allison, the eldest survivor of the Valencia wreck, testified at the investigation before the inspectors this morning that the Valencia's life preservers were not buoyant. He stated no storm was raging at the time of the wreck. He denounced both the surviving officers and the masters of standing by vessels for not making an effort to save those aboard. He says no heavy sea was running when picked up by the Topeka and that the volunteer crew landed at Cape Beale, after notifying the world of the disaster, should have made their way back to the scene of the wreck. Had any one reached the life line shot ashore all would have been saved.

Spokane, Jan. 30.—In a head-on collision a mile west of Columbia Falls, Mont., last night on the Great Northern between passenger trains three were killed and many injured. It was caused by one train's failing to obey orders to take a siding. Both engines were demolished and a number of cars smashed. The dead are Fireman Harrison and Flindley and Express Messenger Wolsbecker.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The president has nominated Amos Wilder, of Wisconsin, consul-general at Hongkong.

New York, Jan. 31.—Friends say John A. McCall is very ill with congestion of the liver. D. B. Hill left today for the south to remain until April on account of his health.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—President Mitchell in a speech this morning to the coal operators of the Central district, declared there would be no agreement without an increase of wages. The operators asked for time for further consideration.

Roseburg, Or., Jan. 30.—Because George Spracklin's dog annoyed Charles Allen's cow, the owners quarreled, using rifles at short range. Spracklin's left elbow was shattered and he loses the arm as a result. Allen was not injured. No arrests have been made. The shooting occurred Friday 15 miles west of here.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Edward Morris was recalled to the witness stand in the packers' case this morning and testified that he was under the impression when he talked to Garfield that the conversation would be treated confidentially. The court adjourned at noon, Morris hurrying home to the bedside of his three-year-old son, who is thought to be dying.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 31.—The supreme court this morning confirmed the sentence of "Lord" Seymour Harrington and set March 15 as the date for his execution. A rope and knife, believed to be intended for suicide, were found in the cell of the bogus Lord this morning before the decision was told him.

RUSSIA HAS BAD LUCK

The Troopship Odessa Struck a Mine Today

Two Thousand Soldiers Were Saved by Beaching the Vessel—Great Loss by Incendiary Fires

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The losses by incendiary fires recently total $500,000.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—The troopship Odessa struck a mine today. Two thousand soldiers were saved by beaching the vessel. The explosion killed one and injured 20.

Twenty thousand liberal refugees induced to return on implied promises of amnesty have been arrested and will be exiled to Siberia for ten years.

SANTO DOMINGO TREATY

Washington, Jan. 31.—The senate committee on foreign relations today took up the Santo Domingo treaty with Secretary Root today.

ROGERS WINS HIS CONTENTION

New York, Jan. 31.—The supreme court has decided that Rogers need not answer any of the questions put to him by Hadley.

Justice Gildersleeve said Rogers need not answer in view of the fact that the courts of Missouri were now passing upon the legality of the action of Attorney General Hadley to oust the Standard Oil from that state.

AGED PIONEER SUICIDES

Roseburg, Or., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Gibbs, a pioneer resident of Myrtle Creek, Or., aged 85 years, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself with a rope. She lived with her daughter, who was temporarily absent at the time. The daughter came home about noon and found her mother hanging to a rafter in the woodshed. An enfeebled mind, as a result of continued illness and old age, is the cause of the act.
