TRAGEDY IN HIGH LIFE PROVIDES SENSATION FOR GOTHAM'S GOSSIPS

New York, June 26.—When Harry Kendall Thaw was arraigned this morning, accused of the murder last night of Stanford White, whom he killed at Madison Square roof garden, he still wore his bedraggled evening clothes. Police Captain Hodgkins handcuffed Thaw to him this morning and took him to police headquarters, where he was measured and photographed for the rogue's gallery. He was lined up with petty thieves and pickpockets, and forced through the routine through which all prisoners must pass. Returning to the police court Thaw shielded himself as best he could from the photographers, who were on hand in force.

He was met at the Jefferson Market police court by Dan O'Reilly, the famous criminal lawyer, whom he has engaged to defend him. O'Reilly was prominent in the defense of Nan Patterson for the murder of Caesar Young. There was a conference with Magistrate Barlow and then Thaw was remanded to appear before the coroner.

The police located Evelyn Thaw and she was unmolested, but detectives will watch her until her part in the tragedy is explained. Thaw was cool last night, but is a nervous wreck this morning.

The proceedings before the coroner were brief. On affidavit of Patrolman Debs that Thaw said to him, "I shot him." Thaw was held without bail and sent to the Tombs prison. Assistant District Attorneys Knott and Turnbull are conducting the prosecution.

At the Tombs Thaw found that the police had procured him a business suit from his apartments and he quickly changed from his dinner jacket. He was taken to a cell and conferred with his counsel. It is said now that O'Reilly is only acting temporarily as counsel, until the arrival of a member of the firm of Delafield & Delafield, who have been retained as chief counsel for the defense. Thaw is likely to enter a plea of emotional insanity.

It transpires that Thaw and White were together at Burns' restaurant Sunday night until 3 o'clock Monday morning, engaged in earnest conversation. The past relations of White and Evelyn Nesbitt, now Thaw's wife, is supposed to be the cause of the latter's hatred that led to the killing of last night.

The tragedy occurred at 10:30 o'clock last night, when the Madison Square roof garden was crowded with merry makers. While Harry Short, who fills the principal comedy role in the piece, was singing a comic song and the garden was echoing with laughter and applause, a series of shots rang out and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who fired the shots fled, pistol in hand, towards the nearest exit, where he was seized by the police. A panic immediately ensued and a wild stampede for exits. The man who was shot was quickly identified as Mr. White, but his assailant was not positively known to be Thaw until after he had been taken to the station house. He is alleged to have said to the officer who arrested him: "He deserved what he got. He ruined my life and deserted the girl."

Stanford White, the murdered man, was a member of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, and an eminent architect. When the shooting occurred Thaw got up from his seat beside his wife, walked down the aisle rapidly, stood for a few minutes right behind White, looking at him hard. White was apparently utterly ignorant of his peril. Then Thaw pulled his pistol from his trousers pocket and in quick succession fired three shots. Two of them took effect, either wound being mortal.

Thaw is a member of a rich and prominent Pittsburg family.

New York, June 27.—Thaw's determination to rid his wife of the persecutions of Stanford White, according to the story told by an intimate friend today, dates from an evening of last year when the couple were in the Ritz hotel, Paris, when Mrs. Thaw was taken suddenly ill at dinner. Thaw accompanied her to her room and pressed inquiries upon her as to the cause, until she told him the story of her former life in the gilded district of sin, and of White's part in her career. Thaw told White if he ever accosted his wife, or even spoke to her he would stir up a scandal which would drive him from the United States. Instead of showing fear White turned and told Thaw to care for himself and never address him again. It is claimed that since the Paris encounter White sent notes to Mrs. Thaw frequently, demanding an appointment.

District Attorney Jerome has decided to call the friends of White to refute, if possible, the charges against White's moral character, as the prosecution is beginning to feel that if the stories are true, or if untrue and not smothered at their birth Thaw will never even be tried for White's murder.

EXAMINED BY DOCTORS.

Physicians examined into Thaw's mental capacity this morning, among the doctors being Flint, McDonald, Mahon, Foster and McGuire. Thaw stood the ordeal well and kept his temper when asked queer questions. He simply refused to answer. Even upon the advice of Judge Olcott, of his counsel, he refused to answer, and the physicians spent an hour fruitlessly.

His wife drove to the jail shortly after the doctors left, accompanied by Thaw's brother, Josiah, of Pittsburg, indicating that the family will stand by Harry.

He was allowed to meet his wife and brother with the bars between them. Both broke down and wept, as did Josiah, the brother. The couple hugged and kissed as best they could through the bars and talked rapidly in low tones undisturbed for thirty minutes, when visitors are by prison rules forced to depart.

An immense crowd made way for Mrs. Thaw and Josiah, who entered an electric cab and drove away.

PJR FOOD BILL AND RAILROAD RATES

Washington, June 24.—The pure-food bill was passed yesterday by the House and the conference report on the railroad rate bill adopted.

Nearly the entire day was taken up with the consideration of the pure-food bill under five minutes rule, and while many amendments were offered, most of them were voted down. Those that were adopted were corrections and changes in verbiage. The pure-food bill was passed by a vote of 242 to 17.

The conference report on the railroad rate bill was taken up and, while there was discussion of the anti-pass agreement, the previous resolution was adopted by a vote of 121 to 97, the conference report being agreed to, 216 to 4.

At Sheephead Bay Saturday Jas. B. Brady's Accountant won the $20,000 Tidal stakes, mile and a quarter in 2:14.

LOCK CANAL BILL UP TO PRESIDENT

Washington, June 27.—In less than two minutes this morning the house passed the senate lock canal bill and it only requires the president's signature to become a law.

The senate passed a bill today creating the United States court of China and fixing places for its meeting at Shanghai, Peking, Tien Tsin and Yankow.

George Hadley, of Hadleyville, was a business caller at the Guard office today.

Walter Combs this morning wired his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Combs, in this city, that he had successfully undergone the physical tests and is now a full-fledged cadet at the United States naval academy at Annapolis. As stated by the Guard yesterday, he had previously passed his mental examination.
