WORK BEGINS ON WILLAMETTE RIVER BRIDGE

Electric Railway Company Busy Preparing to Span Stream at Wilsonville--Contract for Steel Bridge to Be Let Within Next Two Weeks

Portland, Aug. 1.—Work has been commenced at the Wilsonville site of the Willamette river bridge to be constructed by the Willamette Valley Traction company for its electric road from Portland to Salem. Chief Engineer Donald has rented three acres from Peters & Auden for a site for bunk and construction houses. Scaws have been built for use in the bridge construction. The materials are being assembled and preparations are complete for pushing the work. This means that the building of the Portland-Salem road is from this time forward to be carried on steadily and completed by the first of next year.

At the Wilsonville site a camp is being built to accommodate about 80 men. A cement warehouse is being erected. Plans and estimates for the bridge have been submitted to bridge companies and a contract for the steel structure will be closed within the next two weeks. The bridge will have a weight of 8.0 to 900 tons of steel. The Willamette Construction company, which has the contract for construction of the road, is not trying to rush the project nor secure a force of several hundred men.

Its plans have been carefully laid out and labor saving machinery will be employed in every possible way in view of the unparalleled difficulties that are being encountered by railroad companies in securing laborers. A traction engine and grader has been purchased by Chief Engineer Donald and will be utilized all along the line. It is said the road will practically be built between the dates of January 1 and May 1.

At the present time attention of the construction company is being concentrated on the section between Salem and Chemawa, which according to the franchise granted at Salem, must be completed and in operation by September 10. A force of 50 men is at work on the grade, there are plenty of rails on the ground, and it is said the first five miles will be completed within the time limit. Rolling stock has been secured with which to comply with the letter of the franchise provision.

Work at the other end of the survey awaits the action of the United Railways company, which under its franchise, must construct the line within the city limits. It is said that should this company fail to build this year the Willamette Valley company would be compelled to wait until the expiration of a year from date of granting to construct this part of the line.

MAYOR JOHNSON NOT IN CONTEMPT

Cleveland, Aug. 1.—The court today decided in favor of Mayor Johnson in the contempt case. The court's ruling was that inasmuch as the city officials are so liable to injunction proceedings in the discharge of their official duties the court could not be assumed to know the merits of an injunction without being told specifically.

CUMMINS IN CONTROL AT DES MOINES

Report of Credentials Committee Gives Him Thirty-Five Majority--Bitter Fight is Expected on Floor of Convention This Afternoon When Report is Submitted.

Des Moines, Aug. 1.—The republican state committee has adjourned after a continuous session of two days. It has issued tickets to the delegates seated and as a result of the contests Cummins will have a majority of 35, while his running mate, Garst, will lack a few votes. There is certain to be a fight on the floor of the convention when the credentials committee reports this afternoon.

Senator Dolliver predicts the "most bitter fight on any convention floor" and anticipates a long session. At the mention of Secretary Shaw's name by the temporary chairman most of the convention cheered, but the delegates from Shaw's home hissed. Shaw's district is a strong supporter of Governor Cummins.

After the temporary organization was effected the convention adjourned until two o'clock this afternoon.

Secretary Shaw says he keeps up hope of harmony, but has grave fears. Cummins in his fight will go to the end without the slightest waver from his original position.
