UTE INDIANS MARCH TO JOIN CHEYENNES

If Two Tribes Unite on Warpath Trouble Is Expected--Rumors of Battle With Cheyennes Have Reached Omaha But are Discredited by Officials

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 31.—The Utes have crossed the Wyoming line and are apparently making for Ashland, appointed as the meeting place with the Cheyennes. Unless the troops head off the Utes there will probably be a juncture with the Cheyennes on Friday night. Additional troops will be started from here tomorrow. Ranchmen from near Ashland say the report that all the Cheyenne warriors are at work on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad construction is a mistake and that the tribe would muster 600 armed and mounted warriors in case they go on the warpath with the Utes.

RUMOR OF FIGHT. Omaha, Oct. 31.—Rumors of fight between the troops and Cheyennes in Wyoming is discredited at military headquarters here. Messages received here state that the Indians are peaceably inclined.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 31.—A special dispatch to the Journal from Augusta, Ga., says: "Dr. Julian P. Thomas, a New York aeronaut, is today thousands of feet in the air in a runaway balloon without a basket or ballast. Thomas, in making an ascension from the fair grounds, became entangled in a telegraph wire, and while trying to disengage the balloon basket he was forced to cut it to pieces. He was caught in dangling ropes and at 3:30 o'clock was acrobatically visible, going in a southeasterly direction. Grave fears are felt for his safety."

A NEW PICTURE OF QUEEN WILHELMINA.

Queen Wilhelmina, whose failure to provide an heir to the throne of Holland has spread gloom throughout the Netherlands, has lost neither her good looks nor her remarkable popularity since her marriage. If she should die without issue, Holland would be in grave danger of absorption by Germany, since the present heir apparent is the Duke of Saxe-Weimar, a German of the most enthusiastically patriotic type.

COOL TEACHER STOPPED PANIC AMONG PUPILS

Argentine, Kas., Oct. 31.—A cool-headed teacher, Gertrude Williams prevented what would have been a serious panic during a fire in her schoolhouse yesterday. ### CASTELLANE DIVORCE CASE NOW ON TRIAL

Counsel for Countess Makes Sensational Statement in Which Allegations of Cruelty are Made Against Count--Struck His Wife in Presence of Servants

Paris, Oct. 31.—The Castellane divorce case was heard this afternoon. Neither the count nor countess was present. The counsel for the countess said she was seeking divorce for the purpose of ending forever the peril of moral desolation of her household. Domestic difficulties over money matters had been followed by ill treatment, the count striking the plaintiff before the servants. Counsel also designated several co-respondents as Madame "A" and Madame "B" and so on.

The custody of her three children was asked for by the countess. It was shown that the income of the countess when she married Castellane in 1898 was $700,000, and that the happiness of the honeymoon was disturbed by the demands of the count for money.

The count allowed his wife $80 a month for pin money.

A recess was then taken. At the afternoon session of court counsel for the countess read extracts from passionate letters written by "A" and "B" to the count. The hearing was then adjourned until next week.
