DEMANDED MILLION DOLLARS OF OIL KING

Demented Woman Succeeded in Getting Check From Standard With Aid of Revolver But Payment was Opposed--Woman Lands in Insane Asylum

New York, November 28.—Charged with threatening to kill John D. Rockefeller unless he paid her $1,000,000, Mrs. Rose Beauvois Hanfield, aged 40 years, was arrested in front of the offices of the warrant issued by a police magistrate. At the district attorney's office Mrs. Hanfield said that her husband had been in the oil business and had been ruined by the Standard Oil Company. She is charged with having forced her way into the office of Rockefeller's secretary last Friday and threatened if he did not get her a million forthwith she would kill Rockefeller and burn down the building the company's offices is in. It is charged that she displayed a revolver. Some one in the office made out a check for $1,000,000, drawn to Mrs. Hanfield's order and payable at the Guardian Trust Company. She accepted it and was followed to the Trust Company's office, which in the meantime had been notified not to cash the check. The cashier of the Guardian Trust Company made the excuse that he had not a million on hand and told the woman to return Wednesday. In the meantime the warrant was issued.

When arraigned the woman said she had tried to save Rockefeller's soul and would do it if it took "blood atonement." She had a revolver and said she was a "saint of the sun, moon and water." Her husband is foreman of a trunk factory and never had any relations with the Standard. He said his wife had been acting queerly of late.

She was sent to the hospital for observation.

CARUSO'S ACCUSER IS MRS. STANHOPE

New York, Nov. 28.—The Evening World says the woman who gave her name as Hannah Graham and who failed to appear to prosecute the singer, Caruso, is Mrs. Stanhope, wife of Adam Stanhope, the baseball player. It quotes Mrs. Stanhope as saying there was no question but that the insult was offered by Caruso intentionally. She did not know he was Caruso at the time and did not want to make a complaint, but did so because Policeman Cain said the man had insulted other women there that day and wanted to lock him up.

EUGENE TO KLAMATH FALLS BY RAILROAD.

Hundred Miles of Eastern Oregon to Be Built—Evidence That Klamath Falls Line is Soon to Be Completed by Southern Pacific.

Klamath Falls, Or., Nov. 28.—Mason, Davis & Co., of Portland, contractors of the first unit of the Klamath project, have secured the first bid contract on the Klamath Falls end of the Oregon Eastern railroad, said to be for a stretch of 100 miles. Archie Mason, who has had personal direction of the work here, is now on the way to Portland to confer with his partners and officials of the road. It is stated, on what is apparently authentic information, and arrangements are being made for a vigorous winter campaign.

Awarding of the contract is evidence that the intention of the management of the Harriman system is to complete the entire line from Naton to Klamath Falls during 1907, and make the through route by way of Weed a realization as soon as the line is finished to this point, which will be about August.

The contract was given to the Portland firm some time since, but it has not been made public for reasons satisfactory to the railroad officials. Plans for labor are well formulated. Large quantities of forage have been purchased in order to keep stock now on the canal at work through the winter in this vicinity, and if the weather is favorable, much progress may be made. Considerable stone work is to be done, and will be let to contractors, it is understood.
