

OREGON GIRLS NOT PLEASED WITH NEW YORK CITY

New York, June 2.—A New York paper today says: Fourteen Oregon girls who were sent here to study New York are greatly disappointed with the country's metropolis. New York is not all that they imagined from the full-page Sunday paper accounts of the largest city of the Western hemisphere. The buildings along Broadway are small, the women are "actressy" looking, the men impolite enough to retain their seats in the cars while women stand, and the streets are dirty. Philip S. Bates is chaperon of the party and is the editor of the paper, because the girls hustled subscriptions for his paper. Mrs. C. E. Redfield is the chaperone proper. Everybody at the Martha Washington hotel, where the tourists are stopping, agree that the girls are so sensible, so well-behaved and so interested in the higher things of life that Mrs. Redfield must have an easy job.

JEFF DAVIS' STATUE IS UNVEILED AT RICHMOND

Richmond, June 3.—An everlasting memorial to Jefferson Davis, "patriot and statesman," who was the chosen leader of the "lost cause," and first and only president of the Confederate states of America, was unveiled here today, the crowning feature of the annual reunion of Confederate veterans. Mrs. J. A. Hayes, of Colorado Springs, Colo., daughter of Mr. Davis, pulled the cord that held the canvas shroud which covered the statue. The drawing aside of the veil which draped the figure representing the veterans' beloved leader and the first gun of the presidential salute which followed, was the signal for an outburst of cheers which was swollen to thunderous applause by the sons and daughters of the veterans. The event today was a fitting close to what is universally recognized as probably the most grand gathering of the Confederate veterans. The unveiling of the monument was the fruition of eighteen years of patient and loving effort, and every man who wore the Southern uniform had in his heart a desire to be present. A devotion which knows no equal in American history is responsible for its building. It was a work the South had to do without help. There was no united nation to bear the expense. Love and sacrifice were the masons who piled the stones and spread the mortar that cemented them into one enduring memorial.

A speech by General Clement A. Evans, of Atlanta, Ga., evoked the most applause. The sentiment occurred in the dedication of the "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy" by Mr. Davis, and is addressed to the "Women of the South of Yesterday" as follows: "To the women of the Confederacy, whose pious ministrations to our wounded soldiers soothed the last hours of those who died far from the objects of their tenderest love; whose domestic labors contributed much to supply the wants of our defenders in the field; whose zealous faith in our cause shone a guiding star undimmed by the darkest clouds of war; whose fortitude sustained them under the privations to which they were subjected; whose annual tributes expressed their enduring grief, love and reverence for our sacred dead; and whose patriotism will touch their children to emulate the deeds of our revolutionary sires."

The grand parade to the unveiling started at 11:30 a. m. The military parade was similar to the first day of the reunion, when the statue of Major-General G. E. B. Stuart was unveiled, but there were far more veterans in gray in the line. They appeared to have been saving their strength for this event and though the walking was bad none who could walk at all shirked their duty.

Along the line of march a dense crowd lined the streets, the windows were filled and many of the house-tops covered with cheering and singing groups. Flags were waved in beating time to stirring Confederate airs. In the great concourse of veteran organizations which preceded in perfect order was a constant succession of bands and rifle and drum corps.

Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, of Richmond, chairman of the central committee, Jefferson Davis Monument Association, made an address of welcome, to which a response was made by Mrs. William J. Behan, of Mississippi, president of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association. Mrs. Geo. S. Holmes, of South Carolina, president of the Monument Association, made a report of the work done and Representative John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, read a response that had been prepared by Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, president-general of the United Doughters of the Confederacy. The crowning feature of Richmond's great monument avenue. It is the combined work of E. V. Valentine and William C. Noland, of Richmond.

Geo. Midgeley, of this city, has bought the L. S. Logan farm of 287 acres near Irving for $11,350. Professor E. R. Parker, principal of the Trent school, was in the city today. He informed the Guard that his school gave a very enjoyable graduation picnic at the school Saturday. There were eight graduates this year, as follows: V. O. PERKINS' LIFE INSURED FOR HALF MILLION

Lawrence, Kan., June 3.—Whether Lucius H. Perkins, secretary of the board of bar examiners and president of the Kansas Bar Association, who died yesterday from the effects of a fall from the roof of his house, committed suicide or met an accidental death still remains a mystery. Relatives declare that there was nothing unusual in his going to the roof, and he was evidently intent on investigating a leak. He was insured in the big life insurance companies for over $500,000 but his family did not know he carried such heavy insurance and an investigation will be held.

THOMAS F. RYAN HAS MONEY ENOUGH

New York, June 3.—Thomas F. Ryan has ended his days of activity in Wall street. His departure for Europe on Friday signaled his breaking away from the personal management of the gigantic corporations with which he has been associated for the last 25 years. The news of Mr. Ryan's retirement was confirmed today in Wall street by those who knew him intimately and have watched his movements closely in the stock market during the last year. There is a Wall street tradition that Mr. Ryan's ambition, after he became an important factor in the financial world, was to accumulate $100,000,000. This he has accomplished. His fortune is estimated by those in a position to know at considerably above that figure.

JAMES O. DAVIDSON.

Governor J. O. Davidson's career illustrates the opportunities open to the penniless European who settles in America. Mr. Davidson came from Norway. When he arrived at Madison, Wis., at the age of eighteen he did not have a cent, and he owed for his passage. But he had grit. He worked hard, went into business, got into politics and was sent to the legislature. He was lieutenant governor when Governor La Follette became senator. Mr. Davidson succeeded La Follette and was elected governor for a full term later.

JAP LEADERS FEAR TROUBLE WITH U. S.

Tokio, June 3.—Leading persons in and out of politics seem to have a feeling of apprehension regarding Japan's future relations with the United States. Actual hostility, however, is not thought of, but it is considered here that the peculiar position in which the federal government is placed in regard to state autonomy and the defiant attitude of the labor interests against Japan's treaty rights, as manifested in the second San Francisco incident, make the politicians here uneasy.

GENERAL NEWS IN BRIEVITY FORM

Washington advises are to the effect that the matter of the prosecution of E. H. Harriman and his railroad merger interests will be decided this week. It is also stated that the interstate commerce commission is divided on the question, but their attorneys are in favor of prosecution. The president is said to be against taking any further action.

A Salem, Ore., dispatch says: Probably influenced by rapid advances in the price of prunes in California, packers here have been raising their offers for 1907 contracts and on Saturday at 2 3-4c basis price, or 4 1-2c for the 40-50 size, was freely offered. This price has been refused by several growers, however. According to the latest advices from California a 4c basis price was offered there several days ago, or 5 3-4c for the 40-50 size. Now that buyers are active and the market advancing, the growers are doing a great deal of figuring before making contracts. At the same time, it is reported that quite a number of contracts have been made. W. C. Tilson & Co. report having made contracts for about 45 cars.

William Brown & Co., of Salem, have bought the Seio wool pool, 20,000 pounds, at 21 1-4c. This is the first pool of valley wool sold this year. Strawberry receipts at Hood River Sunday were 1500 crates. The berries went at $3 per crate, one carload shipment being made.

RECORDS SHATTERED BY QUAKER TEAM

Boston, June 1.—Five star athletes from the University of Pennsylvania won the intercollegiate championship in the Harvard stadium today in what proved to be a series of wonderful athletic performances. New intercollegiate figures were written in six of the thirteen events and one more record would have gone down, that of the high hurdles, had not the officials decided that the runners were too much favored by the wind.

Pennsylvania was given a splendid fight for first place by seven men from the University of Michigan, winning by only four points. The Pennsylvanians scored 23 to 29 for Michigan. Yale was third, with 23 points, and Cornell fourth with 15 points; Princeton had 10, Syracuse 8 and Harvard 7. Intercollegiate records were broken in the mile, the shot put, quarter mile, two miles, high jump and pole vault. Garrison, of Michigan, ran the high hurdles in 15 1-2 seconds, but Kraenzlin's record of 15 2-5 seconds will remain the intercollegiate figure. Several of the other events were almost up to new marks, the 100 yards being run in 16 seconds and the half mile in 1:57 7-8.

Captain Garrels, of Michigan, led the field with 13 out of the 29 points for the Westerners. Garrels won both hurdle events from such fast men as Shaw of Dartmouth and Hubbard, of Amherst, and also showed his strength in the shot put by getting second place over Stephenson, of Harvard. Haskins, of Pennsylvania, won the mile and half mile and Curtmelo, of Pennsylvania, won both the dashes. Haskins' victory in the half mile run decided the meet for

HILL MILITARY ACADEMY WON HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Corvallis, Or., June 1.—A neck-and-neck struggle between three leading teams that continued until the very finish resulted finally in a victory for the Hill Military team in the big Oregon high school meet on the O. A. C. track this afternoon, the successful Portland team coming out of the struggle with 26 points to its credit. The prize is a handsome silver cup. EUGENE TEAM VICTOR OVER THE DALLES

Stabling's Columbias from The Dalles were again beaten by a Eugene team in a well-played game of ball yesterday afternoon. McCormick's frisky colts were the lads that turned the trick this time and the score was 7 to 5. The Columbias started the run getting in the first chapter, when two men pranced across the plate. These were the gift of Empire Jim Hartley, who did not call the first runner out for cutting third base by at least twelve feet on his way home. While Weed was protesting against the umpire's lack of vigilance the second man slipped home before any one saw him. After that inning the visitors were unable to find Fred DeNeff's benders often enough to count for anything until the eighth, when they made three more runs, but the Colts were already so far ahead that no neapiness was felt.

The feature of the game was DeNeff's pitching. He fanned 13 opposing batsmen and played like a professional throughout. Marine, the slabster for the visitors, went up in the air in the seventh, and was substituted by Charley Tallafiero in the eighth. The crowd present was not what it should have been, the local management losing money on the game, the expenses being greater than the receipts. The score is as follows:

POET WILL SEEK TOGA IN OREGON

Joquin Miller Will Come North to Run for Seat in United States Senate—Will Live in Lane County. Oakland, Cal., June 1.—Joquin Miller intends soon to desert his home at Fruitvale and take up his residence in Oregon. The aged poet says his mining ventures have resulted so successfully that he has concluded to enter the political arena and his purpose in removing to Oregon is to establish residence there and make an effort to land in the United States senate.

Miller expects to leave for the north in a few days, when he will set industriously to work to build his political fences with the view of becoming a figure in national politics. Miller will establish a residence on his mountain ranch on the Suislaw river, in Lane county.

"There is a protest going up at La Grande because there is no pretense of making Gardiner, the convicted and sentenced briber of city councilmen, to serve his time in jail. He is at large, although his sentence is not expired, and has been ever since sentenced."

LOST EIGHT JERSEY COWS IN BARN FIRE

Saturday night at 12 o'clock James Elgaard, who owns the old poor farm two miles west of the city, lost eight valuable Jersey cows and a good barn by fire. It is not known how the fire started. Mr. Elgaard was up hill all right at that time. Captain Bergman, who was on his way to Eugene from the western end of the county, while passing along the road discovered the barn on fire. He awoke Mr. Elgaard, but it was too late to save the cows, which had been shut in while a fence around a grain field was being built. A wagon and eight horses were saved, but the cows were left to perish in the flames, as it was impossible to get where they were.

The barn was a substantial structure and was of good size. The cows were valued at $50 each. The total loss is probably $800 or $900, with no insurance.

The blaze was seen in town by Nightwatchman Croner and others. If it appeared to be close in, and Croner awakened the firemen and had horses hitched to the engine to be ready to start in case an alarm was turned in, but it was soon learned that the fire was too far out.

KEEN INTEREST IN PORTLAND MEETING

(Special Correspondence.) Portland, Or., June 3.—Tremendous interest is being developed in the convention of the Oregon Development League June 21st and 22d, and large delegations are assured from all sections of the state as a result of the low rates of transportation. An advance meeting of the presidents and secretaries of the different organizations composing the league will be held in the convention room of the Portland Commercial Club (second floor, Sixth and Alder streets) Thursday night, June 26th, at 8 o'clock. The hope of the league officers relative to this meeting is that the active men of Oregon may be able to unite upon plans that will greatly aid to the population of the state, and agree upon some scheme which will secure the co-operation of the entire population of the state in getting the full advantage of the colonist rates which begin September 1st and continue until October 31st.

The Portland rose show and fiesta is to be a great attraction, and it will certainly be of much benefit to visitors from all parts of the state of Oregon, as any movement that brings us nearer to nature's beautiful things does us good.

Dr. J. T. McCormac, president of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, spent two days last week in Portland studying the advertising carried on by the league and the commercial bodies, and also to decide upon plans which will result in the greater advertising of the Coast Bay country.

Hon. John Barrett's address before the Portland Commercial Club on "Oregon's Growing Influence in National Affairs" was easily one of the very best development speeches ever delivered in Oregon.

The success of the Livestock Association is assured. Thursday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a meeting in the parlors of the Portland Commercial Club to solicit subscriptions for stock, and Portland owes the perfecting of the organization to the state at large, for every one realizes that the greatest success of the Lewis and Clark exposition was the livestock show; that the greatest advertisement Oregon received at the St. Louis exposition was the fact that "Loretta D." by giving first prize, proved to the world that Oregon was the world's best dairy country, and that with the location of both Armour and Swift, Oregon and the Northwest should be forward in the development of livestock and supply the Orient and Alaska, the best markets in the world.

The tourist rates, at a little more than one fare for the round trip, and the good for Oregon from all parts of the United States, went on sale Saturday in all the ticket offices throughout the country.
