

National Commander Army and Navy Union

Says: "I Have No Hesitation In Endorsing Peruna As An Efficient Remedy For Catarrh."

J. EDWIN BROWNE.

J. Edwin Browne, National Commander Army and Navy Union of U. S. A., 410 11th street, N. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I have no hesitation in endorsing your Peruna as a most efficient cure for catarrh. My own experience and that of many friends who have been benefited by its use recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."

Says Peruna Saved His Life. "Peruna has cured me of catarrh. I can work all day, eat hearty, sleep well, and my digestion is all right. I was not able to do a day's work last year. I candidly feel that using your medicine was the means of saving my life. I find it is just what it is recommended to be, and I speak in highest praise of Peruna. I shall recommend it to all my friends."—Alvis A. Nelson, Virginia, Va.

When any one has catarrh of the head or throat they know it. Snuffing, sneezing, coughing, spitting, gagging, choking—these are some of the symptoms. When any one has catarrh of the bronchial tubes they are not quite so apt to recognize their trouble as catarrh, although there are a great many people who begin to appreciate the fact that catarrh of the bronchial tubes is sure to create a cough.

Catarrh produces symptoms according to the place in the body where the catarrh is located. Catarrh deranges the function of any organ. If the catarrh be in the stomach it produces dyspepsia.

If in the lungs it is apt to set up consumption. If located in the kidneys or bladder it produces urinary disorders.

If in the bowels it deranges the bowels. Catarrh medicine, in order to be effective, should be an internal remedy, and not a local application.

Peruna has maintained its reputation for many years as an internal catarrh remedy. It operates throughout the whole system. It benefits catarrh of the pelvic organs the same as catarrh of the head or throat.

The Family Relies on Peruna. A. Howitt Nickerson, Capt. U. S. Army, Adjutant General on General McCook's staff, writes from the Census Building, Washington, D. C., as follows: "It affords me great pleasure to recommend Peruna as a most excellent tonic with many medicinal qualities that assist nature in overcoming the various ills with which the human family is often afflicted, and is always in danger."

"As a general thing, I have been opposed to what are known as patent medicines, but Peruna has long since overcome this feeling. It is now, as it has been for a long time, a well established family medicine with us, upon which we rely to give tired nature substantial restoration."

Terrific Case of Indigestion. Mr. Donald Robb, Jr., 16 Weights Ave., Halifax, Nova Scotia, Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger, Independent Order of Foresters, writes: "While on a visit to Boston I must have eaten something that did not agree with my stomach, as a terrific case of indigestion followed. Peruna was recommended to me, and after using three bottles I was entirely cured. I therefore recommend Peruna to any one suffering with stomach trouble."

Every Trace of Catarrh Gone. Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City, for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 10th Ave. He is Past Deputy of Grand Knights of Regina Cella Council, Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh, that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times also. I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Agreeable and Effective Tonic. General John Finn, Washington, D. C., veteran soldier of the civil war, a prominent Grand Army man and commander of the oldest post in the United States, John A. Rawlins Post No. 1, department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, writes: "Peruna was recommended to me by many of my associates and I have given it a fair trial. Have found it a most agreeable and effective tonic, pleasant to the taste, and leaves one free from the deleterious effects produced by the many nostrums now on the market. I have suffered from catarrhal affections the past winter, and have found Peruna most beneficial and commend it for what it has done for me."

Relieves Mind and Body. Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basketball Team, writes: "When body and mind alike were weary and refused to work, a few doses of Peruna restored lost strength and invigorated quicker and more permanently than anything I know."

NEW DIVINITY BUILDING BEGUN THIS MORNING

FOUNDATION BEGUN — PLANS ARE PARTLY FINISHED — BUILDING WILL BE ONE OF THE BEST IN THE CITY—CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

(From Friday's Curr.) The work on the Divinity School building commenced this morning, when A. Lombard began work on the foundation. The building will be one of the best structures in the city, having by far the finest material in

JAMES C. McREYNOLDS. Assistant attorney general of the United States, who was appointed special counsel for the government in the proceedings against the tobacco trust.

It. D. L. Hardin, an architect from Portland, who has decided to locate in Eugene, is drawing the plans, which will not be completed for about three weeks.

This morning he explained the main features to a Guard reporter. The building will be three stories high and 60x80 feet in dimensions. The material is Phoenix stone, resembling granite, and is the best that can be obtained in Oregon. It comes from a quarry in Douglas county near Oakland. Its appearance is a soft gray, and it is of such quality that it properly constructed the structure will last for an age.

In the building there will be about six class rooms. On the first floor there will probably be two. The second floor will be taken up by a large library, class rooms, and offices for the president and secretary. On the third floor will be a museum and a large lecture room that will hold 300 people.

The plans for the building are not all completed, but the present idea is to have it heated by steam or hot water. It will be modern in all respects. The main hallway will probably be finished in marble. The campaign for funds is still going on, Dean E. C. Sanderson going to Eastern Washington today. Rev. Ella Humbert being in Eastern Oregon on the 10th inst. The church here pledged $5000, and the organization of over two hundred churches in Oregon and Washington, the district on which the faculty may draw, have pledged themselves to raise the whole $30,000, the amount the building will cost.

DR. BEST CLEARED BY JURY TRIAL

(From Saturday's Guard.) Dr. E. Best, was cleared for the third time last night, after a trial lasting through the whole afternoon and a part of the forenoon, of practicing medicine without a license. A great deal of interest was taken in the case by doctors. Fifteen or sixteen witnesses had been subpoenaed, and the trial was a hard fight.

While the prosecution proved conclusively that Best practiced medicine, and that he received money for cases, the defense brought out, especially by the doctor's own testimony, that he had not taken any money for services, but only for livery teams, medicines and other similar things. Six big diplomats, ranging from a commission by Governor Chamberlain to a medical congress in the East a year or so ago to two medical certificates granted in the state of Michigan, and diplomas from medical schools also helped the jury toward their verdict of acquittal.

The council on next Monday evening, but it is not known yet where the depot will be located or just how the road will enter the city.

The contract for building the bridge across Mary's river has already been let, and it is expected that work will commence at once if nothing unforeseen turns up.

Mr. Carver is in town pushing business as rapidly as possible in all ways. The question of right-of-way within the city is up before the council and the ordinance is up to its second reading, and the rights for tracks, depot and the running of trains will perhaps be given at the meeting of

TEN HOUR LAW NOT SERIOUSLY VIOLATED HERE

The Eugene merchants who employ women clerks chiefly, state that the observance of the ten hour law will not discommode them in any way. Furthermore, the merchants have not been breaking the law, at least, seriously or regularly, and have no reason at all for not desiring the rules to be followed literally.

The Eugene clerks go to work at eight o'clock five days, and quit at six o'clock on every day but Saturday, when they work until nine o'clock. It is the intention of the stores to have the clerks that will work evenings come on at nine o'clock, and thus avoid all conflict with the law.

The laundries have more or less frequently worked the employees overtime, when they had no objections, and consider the statement made that most of the business men and laundries, with the list of other establishments that come under the law, as rather personal. They claim that the only law that they were aware of was one that prohibited working their employees more than sixty hours a week, which they assert they have never broken.

Generally speaking, in any cases where any law was broken, the case was not serious and but very little difficulty will be caused by its strict enforcement.

STOREY-BRACHER CO. BUYS EUGENE AND EASTERN

Last evening in Portland the sale of the Eugene-Springfield electric railway's franchises, plant, material, right-of-way and other property, known as the Eugene & Eastern railway, was consummated. By the deal the controlling interest in the company passed from A. Welch, Oregon manager for the Willamette Valley Company, to the Storey-Bracher Lumber Company, and J. O. Storey, president of that company, becomes president of the railway company, with George Bracher, secretary. Whether or not they have been formally selected yet, it is understood that A. Welch is slated for vice president, J. O. Storey, A. Welch, E. W. Hall, J. C. Bracher, George Bracher, John Elliott and C. A. Hardy, directors. Of the board of directors Storey, Geo. and J. C. Bracher and J. M. Elliott are members of the Storey-Bracher Lumber Company.

The sale means that the electric railway project has passed into the hands of capitalists who have both the means and the inclination to carry out the plans of the promoters, and even to enlarge upon them. The Storey-Bracher concern owns not less than 14,000 acres of timber lands in Lane county, and have large holdings in other parts of the state which they are constantly adding to by purchase. Their property interests will be an incentive to the work of development by means of electric transportation.

It is given out by Senator I. H. Bingham, Lane county agent for the company, that construction work upon the railway will be pushed without interruption and extended to Springfield and up the McKenzie just as fast as it is possible to do such work, assemble plant and material and secure labor. The river will be bridged at some point between Eugene and Springfield to be determined immediately. It is also the intention of the new owners of the railway to make such other extensions of their lines as will perfect a system covering the entire upper Willamette valley, with Eugene as its centre.

Much credit is due Senator Bingham for his share in bringing about this transfer of ownership of an enterprise which means so much for the future development of Lane county, and for interesting heavy capitalists in the project. Mr. Bingham's operations, since opening an office in Eugene, have been along such lines that already splendid results are apparent. The need of capital has been greatly felt in this section of Western Oregon in the past and he is meeting with excellent success in directing its attention to the opportunities for investment offered here.

"BUTCH" THAYER TURNS TO PRACTICE OF MEDICINE

Dr. F. G. Thayer, who recently passed his examination before the state board of medical examiners, has located at Wendling. Dr. Thayer is a graduate of the University of Oregon and of the University of Chicago's medical school.

"Butch" is the man whom the crowds used to cheer when making ten-yard plunges through the line on Kincaid Field, and who used to raise the roosters on thirty-yard gains around the end. "Butch," as he was known then, was one of the best track men in the Northwest, being probably the fastest of the old school of hurdlers. He also drew applause in the armory, where he represented the university in basketball, and a thousand old admirers wish him success in his new profession.

MRS. WARRING IMPROVES IN PORTLAND HOSPITAL

Portland, Aug. 8.—Mrs. John Warring, of Thurston, Or., who came to Portland three weeks ago, is improving nicely at the Good Samaritan hospital, where she underwent an operation and a tumor was removed from her stomach. She will return to her home at Thurston in a short time.

OUR BUSINESS MEN BREAKING LABOR LAWS

COMMISSIONER HOFF HERE INVESTIGATING COMPLAINTS—MERCHANTS AND LAUNDRIES WORK WOMEN OVER TEN HOURS, SO HE ASSERTS—NOTICE GIVEN THAT CUSTOM MUST BE STOPPED.

O. P. Hoff, state labor commissioner, visited Eugene yesterday to look into the complaints made that the merchants, laundries and some other concerns of the town are employing women and girls in disregard of the ten hour law. In an interview with a Guard reporter he said the complaints are true and that nearly every store, the laundries and some factories are doing so. No prosecutions will be begun this week, but if any cases arise hereafter, prosecutions will at once be begun.

"Nearly every merchant in the town demands his women clerks and other women help to work until 9 o'clock Saturday evenings, and at other times over hours. The new law which effects stores went into force May 26, and the commissioner considers likely was unknown to but a very few. In the case of laundries, factories and mechanical establishments, the law has been in force since 1903. For those concerns there is less excuse. The law was amended in 1907 to include hotels, restaurants and stores, and prohibited any female employee from working in one day more than ten hours.

"In Portland the merchants did not think that they could adjust their business to it, but found it easy to do so upon trial. In case they wanted their clerks to work until 10 at night on Saturday, they do not have them come on until 10. In Eugene, on Saturdays, customers are served until nine at night, and clerks can easily begin work at nine, which will be a very simple question. In laundries there are really no serious reasons why the law should not be enforced to the letter, while in hotels the waitresses can be off between meals, as most of them are here.

"While some of the merchants may not like the idea of cutting down the hours, when it has been done at other places, they have taken very kindly to the idea, and find that no loss is felt.

"The law, too, is one that is in force in other states, and is an important preservative of the health of the women, the bearers of the new generation.

"In the state there are three inspectors to see that the laws are obeyed, not one in the number of hours, but in the construction of machinery.

"Very few employers pay attention to the danger in unprotected wheels and shafts, and when pointed out to them by inspectors are usually only too glad to right the matter. In between three hundred and four hundred mills inspected, only three have been obstinate, all others making the necessary changes willingly."

W. B. Chance is the inspector for this district. The extent of country he covers ranges from Lincoln, Polk and Marion, on the north, to the California line on the south, the Pacific ocean on the west and on the east down the summit of the Cascades from Marion to Klamath counties. To Lake, whose outline is followed to Lake, whose outline is followed to the state line between Oregon and Nevada.

Mr. Chance is now inspecting the mills of the county. Mr. Hoff went to Cottage Grove this afternoon and while glad to hear the arguments of employers, is determined to follow the law and do his duty. He declares emphatically that the merchants and manufacturers of Eugene will be prosecuted if they work their women employees more than ten hours.

SKELETON NOT IDENTIFIED AS BARNEY'S

Denver, Aug. 8.—A special dispatch to the News from Telluride says that what is said to be the skeleton of P. J. Barney, a timberman employed in the Smuggler Union mine, who mysteriously disappeared in June, 1891, was exhumed yesterday near the Altz mill, twelve miles from town, by General Buckley Wells, manager of the Smuggler Union mine, and others, who removed the remains from their improvised grave. Its location was pointed out by Steve Adams, now in jail in Idaho awaiting a second trial on the charge of murder, when he was here in June, 1906, in custody of General Wells. Adams accompanied Wells to the place, but the snow was so deep on the ground and as several years had elapsed, he could not locate the spot exactly, but Adams gave a good idea of where the body could be found, and there was little difficulty in uncovering the grave yesterday.

Part of the body, including the teeth, was brought to town, and the identification of the remains as Barney is complete.

Barney incurred the ill-will of the union by working after the strike of April, 1901.

It was after Adams made the alleged confession, which he afterward repudiated, and in which he is supposed to have acknowledged being the assassin of Arthur Collins, formerly general manager of the Smuggler Union mine, and to be familiar with the places where the bodies of Barney and Wesley Smith, shift boss of the Liberty Bell mine, were buried, that Adams pointed out to Wells the spot where the bodies were buried.

Adams is also said to have pointed out to Wells the tree behind which he stood when he fired the charge of buckshot into the back of Manager Collins.

Denver, Aug. 9.—Contrary to the report of last night a special dispatch to the News from Telluride, Colo., says that Dr. S. Lord, dentist, failed to identify the teeth in the skeleton found Wednesday by General Wells as those of W. J. Barney, the miner said to have been murdered in 1891 because of his hostility toward the Western Federation of miners. Dr. Lord discontinued keeping a record of his work before he filled the tooth for Barney, but remembers that the only filling in Barney's teeth was one in the upper back molar.

General Wells in an interview declares that Steve Adams admitted burying the body two years after the murder, but denied having committed the act. Wells says that Adams told him that St. John and six Austrians beat up Barney on the night of the murder.

W. D. Hayward, in an interview today, gives his opinion that the skeleton is not genuine nor was it discovered in good faith. He said the renewed enforcement of the card system at Cripple Creek since his acquittal at Boise indicated the intention of the mine owners to continue their war upon the Federation.

EUGENE IS BUSIEST TOWN ON WILLAMETTE

Eugene is the busiest town in the Willamette valley, according to the statements of people who have recently been all over it. Salem is Eugene's chief rival, and while the business there is considerable, Isaac Barney, of Fall Creek, says that they do not come up with this city. There they have big stores, in which for hours only a few people enter. How they do business he cannot see. They must telephone the orders in and deliver them underground.

Mr. Barclay took in everything there, from the state house to the asylum, and he could not get the Salmettes to keep him anywhere. He considers them rather inhospitable, for even when the penitentiary is supported by the state they won't take a man in there when he himself knows he belongs there.

Mr. Barclay is 72 years old and likes Lane county the best of any place in the world.

COUNTY COURT ADJOURNED TODAY

(From Saturday's Guard.) County Commissioners' court adjourned today. The only important piece of business was the granting of the application of S. A. Sage and Ella V. Neal for a roadway and gateway from their property, lot 10, sec. 17, and lots 7 and 8, sec. 20, tp. 18, r. 3 w., to the nearest county road.

The property is seven or eight miles west of Eugene. D. E. Yoran, J. W. Kay and David Lins filed objections to the roadway and the county commissioners granted the application, assessing the damages at $100.

It is said that the three men who objected will carry their case higher. The property is a wood ranch, and the land through which the roadway will run is also a wood ranch. Some sort of a disagreement arose.

ADVANCING PRICES OF EUGENE PROPERTY

John Davies has been offered and refused $12,500 for his lot at the corner of Oak and East Ninth street. It fronts 64 feet on Ninth and 114 feet on Oak street, and has one two-story and two small one-story wood-frame buildings on it. The buildings are worthless for any thing but temporary purposes, so the real value of the property for a permanent investment is all or nearly all in the land, making the Ninth street frontage worth over $190 a front foot.—Oregon State Journal.
