

GEMETERY OF MASONS ONE GOAL OF CAR LINE

NOT LIKELY TO MAKE CIRCUIT AND COME BY COLLEGE HILL SOON—NO SWITCHES HAVE BEEN PUT IN YET—S. P. SECTION MEN CRITICISM MERK SUPERSTITION

The Eugene & Eastern Railway Company expects to build its track to the Masonic cemetery and Gross addition, south of Eugene, as well as to Springfield, this year, and rails are being distributed along the line toward the cemetery. The line south will leave the one on Thirteenth street at the eastern border of the university and will go by the Odd Fellows cemetery. Somewhere this side of the Masonic cemetery another branch is likely to be built to Hendricks' Park, for the purpose of accommodating the crowds that would come to that place at certain times. The reason the track will be laid to the cemetery is not to make a great circuit, coming back by Willamette street, but simply to accommodate funerals in those two burial grounds and travel to the additions to the city. It is customary for street railways to have electric car houses, which will carry the coffins to the burial grounds, and it is expected that the Eugene line will have one by the time the track to the cemetery is done.

It is understood that some of the property owners, who so vigorously insisted on the railroad running up Eleventh street, wished that they had allowed it to go up Thirteenth street, for they believe that the former street will be materially spoiled as a driveway. If the company had been allowed to go up Willamette to Thirteenth, and then turned up the latter street, their track would have had but one turn until it reached the railroad track in Fairmount. As it is it has three, which may lessen the speed to some extent.

As yet no switches have been put in, and it would look as though one car would be all that would be run in town, until the line is connected up with Springfield. One car should make a trip to Fairmount and back in twenty or thirty minutes.

Work is progressing on Eleventh street rapidly, teams doing the plowing in place of the traction engine. Some of the Southern Pacific section men have advised the laying of the rails on the track, saying that the side with the name of the factory on it should be placed outside. Foreman Utterback says that belief is simply a superstition of some railroad section men, and it makes no difference which side is turned out. The railroads themselves, when the rail is worn on one side, turn it around and put the unworn edge to the inside of the track against the flange of the wheel.

TRUST COMPANY FAILURE AFFECTS THOUSANDS

Portland, Or., Aug. 23.—Representing a city with a population of 17,000 is the vast army of depositors of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank, who lost some little, some all of their savings, for there were between 14,000 and 15,000 savings accounts and between 2500 and 3000 checking accounts in the bank.

The failure hit high and low alike, some who can easily afford to have their money tied up for a few months or a year, and others to whom the blow is one from which they will not soon recover.

For example, the young women of the Working Girls' Home had over $1000 on deposit there. It means hardships for them. Little Charlie Peterson, former office boy at the Chamber of Commerce, lost over $100, his own and little sister's savings of a long time.

Jack Day recently sold a timber claim for $4500, and at the urgent solicitation of his friends last week he put it all in the bank.

A young man employed as salesman in a local cigar store had been working his finger nails off saving money to get married. He had accumulated $1500, and he will be obliged to postpone his wedding.

A waitress in the Alder restaurant had $225 of her own and her mother's money in the bank.

A French truck gardener, who withdrew $1250 from another bank and deposited it in the Oregon Trust only last Saturday night, called at the Chamber of Commerce information bureau this morning and wanted to know if he couldn't get his money at the city hall. He said if he could not get access to his money as he needed it he would mean his ruin.

Hoban & Taggart, real estate brokers, were on the point of turning a big timber deal and had put $11,000 in the bank only a few days before the crash came.

Al Wickham has every cent he possesses in the world tied up in the failure. The Portland baseball club and members of the team are out about $8000. A Washington street waffle house wasn't able to buy its daily supplies today because it had all but a few dollars that were taken in yesterday on deposit in the bank.

Ed Schiller says he is "stung" for several thousand dollars, and declares he is a blamed fool for putting money into a bank surrounded by $5000 automobiles owned by its officials and with a "snake" sign in front.

An elderly woman who lives out on the O. W. P. line has been in the line in front of the bank almost constantly since yesterday, when she first heard the news. She had over $300 in the bank, representing her savings from selling garden truck

For many years. She stayed at her post till dark last night, and was on hand bright and early today. She had understood that the bank's doors would be opened today.

Mrs. Homer Hallock, who lost her husband in the Chamber of Commerce building last year, is said to be out $1800.

There were a few lucky ones. The manager of a local cigar store got a "tip" about three weeks ago that something was wrong and he drew out $600. Constable Lou Wagner said this morning that he had repeatedly warned his father to take his money out of the bank, and the money was withdrawn, nearly $1400 in all, about two weeks ago. When Lou called up his father and told him that the bank had failed, the latter replied: "Lou, that's the first time in your life you were ever right."

GENERAL GOOD CROP REPORT IN MCKENZIE VALLEY

(Special Correspondence.)
Thurston, Aug. 22.—The past two weeks have been one of the busy times, and one that has drawn on the people for help; so much so that I saw one lady putting Oregon hay all alone, while at another ranch two women were on the bundle wagon helping to pitch wheat and by the way one of them made the bundles fly.

Well, cutting hay and grain is a thing of the past and threshing is nearly over, with full granaries of wheat and oats, a good yield, and next comes the corn crop, a larger planting than at any previous year, and a promise of a much greater yield.

The potato crop was hurt by the drought and will be light compared with other years. The cherry crop has been a good one and apples are plentiful, but as the law has not been complied with the crop is wormy. There is no better valley for the apple in the state of Oregon than the McKenzie, and when the law is obeyed it will rank with the best.

EXCITING HORSE RACE OCCURS AT ALBANY

Albany, Or., Aug. 23.—Before a crowd of 1000 people John A. Crawford, owned by Al Thomas and driven by A. Woodcock, won a quarter-mile racing event on the S. S. Bailey track this afternoon in this city over Oregon Babe, owned by J. D. Isom, and driven by Charles Barrow. The race was won by a lead of more than 50 feet, and as Oregon Babe broke on the start, and Crawford was not pushed, the time was slow. The race aroused great interest here for several days, and $1500 changed hands on the result. The betting was all at even money.

The Brown Lumber Company, of Cottage Grove, will start up its mill about September 1st. The company has started a new camp about six miles from Cottage Grove. They have 1,500,000 feet of logs in their storage pond.—Timberman.

COTTAGE GROVE FORMS POULTRY ASSOCIATION

FIRST EXHIBITION WILL BE HELD NEXT SEPTEMBER—LIBERAL PRIZES WILL BE OFFERED—LOCAL AND PERSONAL NOTES OF THE GROVE.

Last Thursday evening the representative poultry fanciers of this vicinity met at the office of F. H. Rosenberg and organized a poultry association, the object of the organization being the promotion, upbuilding and fostering of the poultry industry of southern Lane and northern Douglas counties, and the holding of poultry shows and dissemination of information relative to poultry keeping both for profit and pleasure.

The meeting was called to order by F. H. Rosenberg, who after stating the object of the meeting, announced that nominations were in order for officers of the new association, whereupon the following named persons were made the unanimous choice of those present: Supreme rooster, F. H. Rosenberg; vice cockalorum, J. C. Johnson; keeper of the sacred feather, W. C. Conner; guardian of the golden nest egg, Chas. Walker.

It was voted that the newly formed organization should be known as the "Cottage Grove Poultry Association." The admission fee was placed at $1 and the annual dues at $1. An executive committee was appointed consisting of President F. H. Rosenberg, Secretary W. C. Conner, Treasurer Charles Walker, Thomas A. Wray and Rufus Arne. A committee on ways and means was appointed as follows: D. B. Chamberlain, D. T. A. Wray and H. K. Metcalf. It was voted to hold the first annual meeting of the association at this place December 12, 13 and 14, 1907. The Eugene association has promised to co-operate with the local association to make the show the desired success.

Local Mention.
G. F. Garoutte and Charles Teeters with their families have just returned from a camping trip of two weeks, taken on the Middle Fork, Three miles. In that ramble they got neither venison or fish, except two messes that were given them by more successful mountain men. The weather was fine and the mountain air and scenery put new spirits in place of that tired feeling. On their return they passed near the Veatch camp at Crowbar Point, where they spread their blankets, having broken their wagon. The wagon master had to come back a distance of thirty miles to the last blacksmith shop on the road for the necessary repairs.

The Coyote Club, of Cottage Grove, a local association of farmers and stockmen, has been organized and paying bounties for coyote scalps since last December. During the night and a half months of its active work coyotes have been killed. The bounty paid is $10 for each animal killed, and $5 for the outsider whose dogs kill the little wolf. The membership of the organization is now about 65. The general fund of the club is replenished by levying an assessment on the membership whenever a scalp is brought in for cancellation.

The Doreen school is adding another room to the schoolhouse this summer and will at the beginning of the year enlarge the curriculum by adding a two years' high school course. Miss Elsie Lea, of Cottage Grove, will be principal, having in her charge two classes in the high school and three in the eighth grade school.

The Brown Lumber Company has lately been operating the planer mill on local orders. Twelve hours per day is the rule, and these would probably be lengthened if the electric current were available for light.

Tom Meaden is in town from his mining property in Bohemia on the old Noonday route into the hills. Tom is showing some handsome quartz, and the schoolhouse, which had the Knott property famous, and says that he has lots of it.

It is told that Mrs. John Currin, living on the old Row river homestead, is not very well this summer. She is nearing the 90-year milestone, and every little indisposition is alarming. Pioneer John, however, is quite rugged and is carrying his 90 years easily.

Harry Parker is down from the Parker Brothers property on Noonday ridge. The Noonday boys all report handsome showings so far this season.—Western Oregon.

James H. Jones, of Creswell, and a pioneer of '55, expects to take his family to Pendleton next week to live. He has traded his fine seventy-acre farm one mile from Creswell to Fred Noff, of Tacoma, for a splendid home in Pendleton, and expects to make his home in that city in the future. Near Pendleton he has a fine ranch of 840 acres of wheat land. Mr. Jones formerly lived in Umatilla and resided there 34 years before he came to Lane county. He has made a host of friends in this country.

Joseph Fellman and L. R. Edmondson returned yesterday from Victoria, B. C. While there they bought some timber land. Other Eugene people still there are Lee Travis and Walter Shumate. The country is full of men wanting to make investments and a number of Oregon people are investing. Timber is advancing very rapidly in price.

The John Widdicombe Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has purchased 750 acres of timber in Lane and Marion counties, Oregon. The Widdicombe Company are furniture manufacturers at Grand Rapids and Charlotte, Mich.

TRUST COMPANY FAILURE WILL NOT AFFECT OTHERS

Portland, Or., Aug. 22.—The failure of the Oregon Trust and Savings Bank will not cause any embarrassment whatever. Portland bankers say, to other interests here. The Portland Clearing House Association investigated the other financial institutions of the city to determine if the disaster to the Oregon Trust will pull down any others, and all were found to be in good shape. The old-established banks of the city were never so strong. Portland banks today have deposits of $60,000,000. These are divided about as follows: First National, $14,000,000; United States National, $7,250,000; Merchants' National, $5,500,000; Ladd & Tilton, $14,000,000; Security Savings & Trust Company, $5,200,000; Bank of California, $3,500,000; Canadian Bank of Commerce, $2,500,000; Portland Trust Company, $1,800,000; Bankers' and Lumbermen's Bank, $1,300,000; Hibernia Savings Bank, $1,000,000; Title Guarantee & Trust Company, $1,500,000; Merchants' In-

JUNCTION NEWS OF PAST WEEK

Irving Wolf is nursing a sore hand that came near proving fatal. While hauling hay three weeks ago a splinter entered his finger which he extracted with his knife. It is supposed that his finger came in contact with some poisonous weed, and by evening it began to pain him and the next day he came to town to have it treated. Blood poison had set in and it required heroic treatment to subdue it.

The father and brother of M. J. Harper left Monday morning for their homes in the East, the former to Monroe, Mich., and the latter to Rochester, N. Y. The elder Harper during his visit here to balmy and invigorating Oregon gained seven pounds and considering the fact that he has passed his 80th milestone, is a remarkably good showing. Mr. Harper's brother gained fourteen pounds.

C. W. Washburne brought in a specimen of the genuine Canada thistle which he found west of town. This is a very dangerous weed and every effort should be made to exterminate it at once. As published last week, there is a heavy penalty for permitting this weed to grow and property owners should see to it or it may cost them dearly.

The Junction City Hotel changed hands Monday. M. M. Gilbert, of Tacoma, succeeding Royal Cummings. The hotel under the new management starts off with bright prospects and will no doubt be a successful venture and a popular resort for the traveling public. Mr. Gilbert's family consists of his wife and two sons.

J. C. Burns has lost two more of his fine cows, making three within the past ten days. Investigation proves that the cows died from dry murrain. There is no remedy from this trouble, but it may be prevented by giving the cattle free access to salt.

G. W. Winn, who resides some eight miles northwest of here, will have a public sale on Saturday, September 7. He offers for sale a fine lot of horses, cows, sheep and hogs, and farming implements.

J. S. Evans has sold his farm to F. E. Makenson, of Elmira. Mr. Evans will have a public sale of his stock and farming implements on Saturday, September 14.—Times.

While threshing yesterday on the farm of L. P. Hanson, four miles west of Eugene, the separator of Jas. Humphrey caught fire from the engine and burned. The grain stack also caught fire and was a total loss. Humphrey suffered a loss of about $500 and Hanson of $300.

CONTRACT FOR BANK FURNISHING LET LAST NIGHT

Y. D. HENSILL HAS DRAWN SPLENDID PLANS FOR MERCHANTS BANK — HECKART GETS CONTRACT FOR $3380

The contract for fitting up and renovating the Hampton room at the corner of Seventh and Willamette street, formerly occupied by Hall & Shumway, for the new Merchants' Bank was let last night to W. O. Heckart for $3380 by the promoters of the enterprise, and work was begun this morning. Y. D. Hensill drew the plans, and they show that the building will be one of the neatest banks in the state outside of Portland. The sum of the contract does not include the vault or the expensive grille work or vault lining. The building will be ready for occupancy by October 15, according to the contract, and in order to do this the grille work will have to be made in Portland or San Francisco in order to have it in time. Mr. Hensill is arranging for the work now.

In showing a Guard reporter the plans the architect gave a minute description of the interior. The dimensions of the building will be 22x30, the front, or working room, being 22x45 just back of the working room will be the 8x12 two-story vault. Back of this will be a commodious directors' room with closets and lavatories. In the front of the building is a handy little telephone booth and nicely furnished office 10x10.

But it is not in the size of these things that the true quality may be realized, but in the excellence of the finish. The interior will be finished up with beam ceiling and panel work. Around the public places will be a seven-foot panel wainscoting. The whole plan of the finishings will be of the Doric order, and in all probability will be stained in Mission or Flemish oak.

The public places will have Race-able flooring. The bank counters will be unusually well made and the grille will be in bronze and plate glass artistically proportioned, the wickets and openings being of a special design.

The bank will be well lighted, for in the front there will be one large plate glass window and on the south side five other plate glass windows will take the place of the present wall. The windows will be set in copper Kawneer plate.

From the above it may be seen how fine and rich the effects of the interior will be, and it is safe to say, after so much has been done to make the structure a fitting home for the bank, that success will follow it from the opening.

MATCH FACTORY FOR SPRINGFIELD

Mr. Duffey informs us that there will be a new match factory started in Springfield soon. A large building will be erected, and modern machinery installed and everything will be strictly up-to-date. The factory will be run on a wholesale basis, and as Mr. Duffey is an experienced match-maker, we have no doubt that he will find a ready market for the sale of his products, and bespeak for him success.

Miss Letitia Winzenfeld had quite an exciting accident one day this week. She was riding her pony near the home of her uncle, J. F. Powers, where she was visiting, when the animal suddenly became frightened, throwing her to the ground. She was rendered unconscious, but soon recovered. However, she feels the effects of the fall yet.

Mrs. John W. Hodgson, a sister of A. Welch, the railroad magnate, has purchased a half interest in the store of Mrs. C. H. Pickett, and will shortly move to Springfield. Mrs. Hodgson who is from the East, is an experienced dressmaker and, as an expert, says that Springfield is the best opening which she has seen between Portland and Southern Oregon.

J. F. Powers met with quite a severe accident Monday. While driving a loaded wagon the team became frightened, throwing him to the ground, and one wheel passed over his body. He is getting along nicely and will soon be about family.

C. W. Dairymple and family, who have been visiting at the home of J. J. Browning, have returned to their home in Oklahoma.

Mrs. L. Jacobs and daughter, Wava, formerly of Springfield, but now of Klamath Falls, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Jacobs' daughter, Mrs. J. E. Stewart.

E. C. Morgan, who had the contract for the erection of the new bell tower, has completed the work. The tower and bell are a credit to Springfield.

Mrs. McElroy and child, who have been visiting in Eugene since Monday, returned to Springfield yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fry, who have been on an extended visit in the East, have returned home. They report a very pleasant trip.—News.

Latest Fall Suits Shown at Hanson's

We carry high grade goods, and a man feels dressed up when he gets into one of our Michael Stern suits. They wear better and cost little if any more, than some of the unnamed lines of clothes, that are poorly tailored and soon get out of shape. This Fall's Patterns are nobby and you ought to come in and look at them.

We are disposing of all our summer clothing and furnishings at genuine clean-up sale prices. We want to clean them all out to make room for our big fall and winter lines.

We pay no rent and can sell lower than some of our competitors.

LAND FRAUDS TO BE CLEARED UP SAYS BONAPARTE

Washington, Aug. 21.—Attorney-General Bonaparte, when asked today concerning the plans to be followed by his department in dealing with the pending land fraud and other criminal cases in the public land states, said that an effort would be made to clear the dockets of all these cases as soon as practicable. In relation to the indictment which is pending against United States Senator W. E. Borah, of Idaho, he said a speedy trial would be given the senator and others included in the indictment. Action in this case has not been pressed because Senator Borah was actively engaged in the important duty of aiding in the prosecution of the case against W. E. Haywood. With that case out of the way there is no further reason for delay, and there will be an immediate trial.

In the very many land fraud cases which are awaiting trial it is expected valuable light will be obtained by the department of justice when the secretary of the interior, Mr. Garfield, returns early next month from his allsummer trip through the West.

MARRIED.

TWO HORSES BURN THREE MILES NORTH OF EUGENE

(From Saturday's Guard.)
Two horses and a barn, together with the contents, valued at $1800, were burned this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock on the place of Lycurgus Davis three miles north of town on the river road. The origin of the fire is not known. The barn and contents belonged to Mr. Davis, the team and one wagon to Gen. H. Diekerson. There was $400 insurance on the barn.

When the family first discovered the fire the barn was a solid mass of flames. As no one to the knowledge of the family had been in the barn since the night before, and then without any light of any kind, the only conclusion to be drawn seems to be that some one set the barn on fire probably some tramp who had appropriated the hay for a bed.

In the barn were fifteen tons of new hay and a considerable quantity of oats and millfeed, two sets of double harness, one set of single harness, the wagon and team of Diekerson, and a wagon and buggy belonging to Davis.

It is thought that $1800 will cover the entire loss, the barn being worth alone probably $1200, the team and wagon $300 and the other things about $300.
