PORTLAND MARKET REPORT

Portland, Or., April 15.—A strong demand developed in the egg trade today the result in part of a steady falling off in receipts and in part to the fact that some stock is now going into cold storage. At the Board of Trade offers of 16 1-2 cents for candled goods was made for an aggregate of 250 cases, but only limited quantities were available at that figure.

The butter market was reported fairly firm for the best brands. Country creamery is accumulating on Front street, and some shading of prices has already been done. Considerable stocks of California butter now on the market tend to weaken country creamery.

Sales at the exchange today were 25 cases candled eggs, at 16 1-2 cents and five cases full cream cheese, new stock, fancy, at 14 cents.

Better Potato Prospects.

On April 13 there were unsold in the state of Oregon and Washington in every district, 4500 cars of 1907 crop potatoes out of a total production of 10,500 cars. Of this amount Western Oregon produced 3500 cars, while Eastern Oregon and Washington combined produced close to 5000 cars.

To date the sales of potatoes in Western Oregon, counting the shipments outside the state and the estimates for home consumption, reached 2500 cars, leaving unsold at this time in the hands of the producers 1,000 cars. On the date named the combined districts of Eastern Oregon and Washington held unsold within their borders 2000 cars of potatoes of a total crop during 1907 of 5000 cars. This would make the total sales in that section up to April 13 3000 cars.

Demand Good From Southwest

At this time the Pacific Northwest is playing in some unexpected luck, viz., the unexpected heavy demand for potatoes from the Southwest. Eastern Oregon and Washington with their freight rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds to Missouri river points are taking the trade in that entire section and are selling considerable supplies to Texas points. This territory is unable to buy in Western Oregon because of the higher freight rate. Western Oregon is disposing of its enormous crop of potatoes to Arizona, Southern California and portions of Texas.

Our Potatoes Bring High Premium

Although the price of potatoes in the Northwest is rather low at this time owing to the heavy crop all over the Pacific coast, present prospects are that everything for sale will be moved away before the present season ends. This is an unexpected occurrence—the new conditions making this possible appearing but a few weeks ago. According to W. S. Broadus, an extensive shipper for the Southwestern trade, his firm is receiving from 15 to 20 cents more per hundred pounds for Western Oregon potatoes than California shippers are frantically offering supplies at. The reason for this is the most excellent quality of the potatoes from this section the present season. One of the greatest helps toward finding a new market for our surplus stocks is that our potato growers here are putting up their potatoes in better shape; the sorting being the best that can be secured anywhere. When a sack of potatoes is opened the quality and size of the entire lot can be readily seen. This is what the buyers in the Southwest like, and are willing to pay 15 to 20 cents more for than they can obtain stocks elsewhere.

In Eastern Oregon and Washington the shippers are paying 40 cents per hundred pounds for the bulk of their supplies, while in Western Oregon those shipping to the Southwest are generally paying 50 cents per 100 pounds. At these figures it is believed that the entire holdings of the marketable potatoes will be moved this season.

First Oregon Asparagus In.

W. B. Glafke & Co. report the arrival today of the first important shipment to this market this year of Oregon asparagus. The product came from Springfield, is of fine quality and good size, and is held at 15 cents a pound. It will probably be a week or two before home grown grass is in the market in sufficient quantities to displace the California article.

Oregon Prunes in the East

The latest issue of the New York

Commercial says of the Eastern prune market: "Oregon prunes are offered in at least one quarter at a 2 1-2 size four-size bag basis f. o. b. coast. Spot Oregon 20-40s are fairly steady at 7c. Here and there 7 1-2 cents is quoted, on small lots, but no firm offer no difficulty would be found in buying at 7c here. The outlet for prunes is said to be a little better than was noted several weeks ago. The policy of buyers, however, is most conservative.

Oranges Firm and High

The orange market continues strong, and with prices slightly higher. On Front street this morning the range was given as $2.50 to $3 a box. Naves are about all cleaned up, and the late shipments are looking in favor with buyers for they do not hold up as well as the seedlings and sweets that are just now beginning to arrive. Receipts today were one car of naves and one of seedlings and sweets. Lemons are steady at the former quotations.

Cauliflower is Plentiful

The vegetable market generally is fairly well supplied, but there is no marked surplus of anything except cauliflower, which is coming in freely from the gardens adjacent to the city. The stuff is variously quoted, prices ranging from 25 cents for inferior stuff to $1 a crate for the best. Walla Walla rhubarb has practically taken the place of the California article in the local trade. One car of mixed vegetables came in from the south today. Prices generally are unchanged.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Local onion market is very firm. The car of Texas onions which has long been expected passed Sacramento yesterday. Will probably arrive here the last of the week.

Four cars of bananas—the best shipment ever received here in recent years—were unloaded today. Demand good.

Navel oranges are getting very scarce, and within the next two weeks the trade will be forced into the seedlings and Valencias.

A car of cabbage was in from the south this morning. Prices in Los Angeles have doubled within the last ten days. This will force the local market up.

Eggs are firm and poultry is holding at former prices. Creamery butter is maintaining former figures. City creameries report no lack of demand.

Strawberries from Florin, California, are arriving daily and are finding sale at $3.25 per 15-box crate.

Florida tomatoes in larger supply and price is 25 cents today.

Portland Livestock Market

A good demand for everything was the feature of the local livestock market today. Receipts consisted of 200 cattle and 180 sheep, the cattle coming from California and Eastern Oregon and the sheep from east of the mountains. No hogs came in.

In the Front street meat market country dressed pork was reported extremely scarce with the market firm for the best stock. Fancy grades of veal were in light supply, and the demand for such was good. But the market for second-grade stuff inclining to weakness, too much inferior stock coming in from the country.

There was little demand for country dressed mutton but little offered, and this was true also of spring lambs, which were quoted at 9 to 10c a pound.

Quotations ruling in the livestock market today are:

Hogs—Best, $6.00 @ $6.25; medium, $5.75 @ $6.00; feeders, $5.25 @ $5.50.

Cattle—Best steers, $4.75 @ $5.00; medium, $4.25 @ $4.75; common, $3.50 @ $4.00; best cows, $3.75 @ $4; common, $3.25 @ $3.75; calves, $4 @ $4.50.

Sheep—Best wethers, $6 @ $6.50 spring lambs, nominal.

Portland Quotations.

Creamery butter—25 @ 27 1-2c.
Eggs—16 1-2 @ 17c.
Chickens—13 @ 15c.
Wheat—Valley, 85c; Blue Stem, 87c.

Oats—Per ton—$26 @ $27.
Barley—Per ton—$24.50 @ $28.
Hay—Timothy, $17; cheat, $15.
Grain hay—$15 @ $16.
Mohair—Choice, 20 @ 21c.
Wool—Valley, 14 @ 16c.
Hops—Prime, 4 @ 5 1-2c.

IRVING ITEMS

(Special correspondence.)

Irving, April 15.—Mrs. Miller visited her daughter, Mrs. M. N. Gent, Sunday returning home on the evening local.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allen were in Irving Sunday looking over their large orchard recently planted here. The basket social given by the grange was well attended and the program was good and enjoyed by all. The receipts of the evening were quite encouraging to those managing the affair. Among others who acquitted themselves well on the program were the twin sons of Green Zumwalt, aged 11 years, who are possessed of rare talent for music, both playing splendidly on the cornet. Their eldest son, Ross, is a fine violinist.

Charley Ranyan, aged 10 years, plays the piano well and did credit to himself on that evening.

Mrs. J. M. Kitchin went to Harborsburg last Thursday to visit with relatives.

Arthur Yates came up from Portland for a visit with home folks this week.

IN MEMORIAM

Of Mrs. Emma E. Bray, who died April 2, 1908.

Mother—that endearing word, is music to the ear.

The sweetest mortal ever heard, The one to all so dear.

Thou hast gone from our home To the land of the blest— No funeral services will be held, But forever be at rest.

Sleep sweetly, mother dear, In thy narrow, lowly bed, Thou art freed from suffering here— Death no longer has a dread.

Sleep gently, mother dear, We can but remember now What thou hast been to us here Since death has masked thy brow.

Thou hast filled thy mission well, And done the work left thee to do. Of all thy sorrows none can tell, But Him who'll say "well done" to you.

Thou hast been most dear To all thy children here, And in affliction's darkened sphere Thou always shedst a sympathetic tear.

Sleep now, mother most dear, Nothing shall disturb thy rest; Till our Saviour doth appear To fulfill our soul's request.

Our hearts are filled with sorrow, Our eyes with many a tear; But we look for the happy morrow When our Saviour will appear.

He will open up the grave And let His captives free, For this His life He gave, That we might with him be.
