

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and safe Swamp-Root is the only one that is sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

GERMAN PAPER UPHOLDS U. OF O. APPROPRIATION

Following is a translation of an editorial in the "Nachrichten," a German newspaper published at Portland, in its issue of April 9:

"At the June election, the voters of the State of Oregon will have to vote upon the bill passed by the last Legislature allowing an appropriation of $125,000 for the improvement and support of the State University. We are publishing an appeal to the people concerning this appropriation on page 11 of this issue. On another page we publish resolutions adopted by the German Relief Society of Eugene.

"Every citizen ought to consider it his duty to vote for the appropriation. The University of Oregon receives less financial support from the state, than any of the State Universities of the Union. Oregon is forging ahead and growing steadily and rapidly. Our highest educational institutions ought to be enabled to keep pace with this development so to be a credit and source of pride to all the citizens of Oregon. Therefore stand up for this appropriation individually and collectively, and vote for the amount granted to the State University."

CENSUS TO BE TAKEN MONDAY, APRIL 20

CITY DIVIDED INTO FOUR DISTRICTS—ONE ENUMERATOR TO EACH BLOCK

The census of the city of Eugene, under the direction of the Commercial Club, will be taken on Monday, April 20. The plan proposed by G. W. Griffin, to appoint one man for each block as enumerator, has been adopted and the city has been divided into four districts, which have the same boundaries as the four wards. J. M. Williams will have charge of the census in the first district, and he has the plat of that part of the city at his office in the Cockerline & Wetherbee building. R. McMurphy will have charge of the second district, the plat being in his real estate office in the Matlock building. G. W. Griffin will have charge in the third district and the plat can be found at the Griffin Hardware Company's store. F. M. Wilkins will direct the work in the fourth district, and the plat may be found at the Linn Drug Company's store.

FATHER IDENTIFIES BODY OF HIS SON

The body of the young man who was killed by being run over by a freight train in the depot yards last Saturday afternoon has been identified as that of Fred W. Johnson, by his father, J. P. Johnson, who arrived here on the local last night, having come from Omaha, Neb., to see if the body was really that of his son, who left home three years ago next July. Coroner Gordon met Mr. Johnson at the train and immediately took him to his undertaking room on West Tenth street. As soon as the cover was lifted from the face of the corpse Mr. Johnson declared:

"Yes; it's my son—it's my poor Fred." The features had changed very little since the young man left home. To further identify the body Mr. Johnson showed the coroner a stiff finger on one of the hands, the member having been injured a number of years ago.

The young man was aged 19 years, 2 months and 28 days at the time he was killed. He left home less than three years ago, instead of five years ago, as stated by the boy's companion who was with him at the time of the fatal accident. The boy leaves no mother, Mr. Johnson having married a second time. The latter lives at Forty-third and Vinton streets, Omaha.

The body will be buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery in this city tomorrow at 10 a. m. The funeral services to be conducted at Gordon's undertaking chapel. Mr. Johnson is a Dane and invites all citizens of that nationality, as well as others, to attend the services.

JAPS TRYING TO FORCE WAR UPON CHINESE

Pekin, April 8.—That Japan is trying to force China into an armed clash rather than to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the dispute over Manchuria is the present belief of high Chinese officials. This opinion, they say, is based on Japanese Premier Hayashi's unyielding attitude, which has the appearance of having been assumed for the distinct purpose of driving China beyond the point of endurance. On the other hand, China is inclined to go along on a stiff line of policy than hitherto. An agreement between the Japanese and Chinese remains entirely unlikely, at least until the American fleet arrives, think the Chinese, who believe that the presence of the great armada in the Pacific will tend to bring the mikado to more favorable terms.

Brussels, April 8.—Japan is worried about the negotiations between Russia and the United States concerning the administration of affairs at Harbin.

The sensationalists concerning the coming of American warships with possible future resolutions concerning affairs in South Manchuria. A Washington dispatch says the American government has decided to oppose the action of Russia and Japan in Manchuria. Advice from Harbin quote Consul Fisher as saying that the United States government on its own initiative demands the abandonment of Japan's present claims in Manchuria. These things have attracted much comment here, but the foreign office refuses to accept an alarmist view of the situation and states its belief that the American government is not opposed to Japan's present attitude in Manchuria.

SPRAY FACTORY MAY MOVE HERE

The spray factory has quit work in Albany, closed by order of the city council. It is considering a proposition to go to Eugene, where the people want it, and won't kick if it is brought into the city limits, where it needs to be an account of the transportation facilities. There is a factory at Sagon in a prominent place, and no disturbance has ever been caused there. Most places are glad to secure such a small on occasion. If the fruit business develops this spray business is bound to be a big one, and it will take a big factory to supply the demand.—Albany Democrat.

ANDREWS WILL MOVE HIS LUMBER YARD

W. B. Andrews, who has conducted a lumber yard on the Southern Pacific Company's land, at the east of the depot yards, for the past 25 years, will soon move them to his vacant quarter block at West Fifth and Olive streets. Big lumber sheds are now being built for that purpose and the lumber will be moved just as soon as they are completed. The company, in its depot yard improvement now going on, will need the land occupied by the lumber yard at present.

OPERATORS AND MINERS WILL AGREE

Columbus, April 10.—William Green, state president of the Miners Association, said today that it was probable that an agreement would be reached with the operators and that 67,000 miners, now idle, will return to work about April 15.

WIDOW AT HER RESIDENCE

Died—At her residence at 85 Washington street, Eugene, Oregon, April 2, 1908, of pneumonia, Mrs. Emma E. W. Bray, aged 50 years, 3 months and 2 days.

Decided was born in Lee county, Illinois, December 21, 1853, came to Nebraska City in 1872 and was married to Jacob W. Bray July 3, 1873. To this union nine children were born. Her husband and the following children survive her: Mrs. Nora E. Standley of Eugene; O. H. Bray of Portland; A. O. Bry of Eugene; Mrs. Estelle E. Moore of Eugene; J. Homer Bray of Eugene, and Miss Maud A. Bray of Eugene. Deceased was a great lover of the good and beautiful and lived an exemplary life. After having disposed of some of her things she was asked if she was afraid to go, and answered: "No, I am ready. Life has been a hard fight." She was buried by the ladies of the G. A. R., an order that she belonged to in the East, and deeply loved, the beautiful and impressive burial service being used.

We could not begin to mention all of the many beautiful wreaths and floral crosses that were made by loving hands as a token of love and respect. The services were conducted by Rev. C. C. Bell, of the U. B. Church. The songs sung were "Think of the Home Over There" and "Amen in Jesus." Deceased came from Nebraska to Oregon in 1892 with her family, and always had a good word for beautiful Oregon.

George Kerr, of Marveta, was brought down from that place last for looking his wife. He was fined $75 by the justice of the peace there, but being unable to raise the money he was held in the jail to bond at the county expense for ten days.

Justice Harris, of the circuit court, has handed down a decree in the case of Jordan Purvine vs. the Star Consolidated Mining Company. The plaintiff is awarded $6,178.71, with 10 per cent interest and the further costs and disbursements of the suit.

MAN IN LANE JAIL NOT THE MURDERER

The man who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Hammond and Geo. Cromer last Sunday 32 miles east of Eugene, thought to be Olie Hamilton, who is accused of murdering Julius Wallende at Silver Lake last December, has been proven to be the wrong man, and it is altogether probable that he is telling the truth when he said his name was Martin Peterson, and that he was on the way to Albany or near there, where he has relatives living. A photograph of Hamilton and a further description of him were received by Sheriff Fisk this morning, and it was readily seen that the man in jail here was not the one wanted. Accordingly he was released and he left on the 11:45 train for Albany.

MILLIONS INVESTED IN OREGON'S SHEEP INDUSTRY

Some idea of the importance of the sheep breeding and wool-producing industry of Oregon can be gained from the report of Secretary Dan P. Smythe, of the board of sheep commissioners, and Sheep Inspector William H. Lytle, covering the operations of the sheep commission and the results obtained under the law enacted by the last legislature for the eradication of infectious diseases of sheep. According to this report, Oregon had in 1907 1,800,000 sheep of shearing age, and 1,000,000 lambs of an aggregate approximate value of $9,000,000. The wool of the state amounted to 15,200,000 pounds, of the value of $3,121,200. The average weight of the fleeces was 8.5 pounds, which is the highest average of any state in the union. Oregon exported 250,000 sheep and lambs during the year 1907, and imported 24,000, and most of the latter were mutton for immediate slaughter, and the rams and ewes for breeding purposes and does not include the fleeces trailed into the state from bordering states for grading purposes.

When the sheep law went into effect over 10 per cent, or about 250,000, were infected with scab, and now there are only about 175 fleeces in Eastern Oregon affected under treatment. Owing to the heavy underbrush and timber in the Willamette valley it was impossible for the small force of state inspectors to examine and treat all fleeces, but with the assistance of Dr. S. W. McChure, of the United States bureau of animal industry the sheep were inspected and treated in Ohio.

A new sheep disease has appeared within the last few years. It is known as "foot rot," and in the past two years has spread to such an extent that it is a menace to the industry, but the authorities are fighting it and hope soon to eradicate it. The disease is supposed to have been brought into the state by line-bred rams and was shipped from Ohio. The most serious menace to the sheep industry, however, according to Secretary Smythe, is the "pestiferous coyote," which animal is creating a wholesale slaughter not only of sheep and lambs, but of pigs, calves and other domestic animals. The coyotes have increased rapidly since the bounty laws were repealed, and it is estimated that 25,000 sheep have been destroyed by them annually, representing an annual loss to the owners of $1,400,000. Secretary Smythe recommends the re-enactment of reasonable bounty laws.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL SPEAKS FOR UNIVERSITY

President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon, Wednesday gave the students of the Medford high school a short talk on the University and the necessity of passing the appropriation on which a referendum has been taken. President Campbell has a two-fold object in making his rounds this year. With his yearly inspection of all the high schools of the state he is talking very earnestly in favor of the appropriation for the University of Oregon.

"The eyes of all the United States," said President Campbell, "are watching to see what action the people of Oregon will take in regard to supporting the State University, for it is the first time in history that higher learning has been subject to the direct vote of the people."

Mr. Campbell also spoke on the lack of self-confidence which prevails among the students of today. "I would rather see a boy or girl, with the big head, for a short contact with the cold world will bring it down to its normal size, than a boy or girl who has not backbone enough to tackle the hard things. Aim high," he said emphatically.

He tried hard to plant the seed of ambition in the hearts of the students and many an eye sparkled with resolution in the senior class as he spoke of the boys who are working their way through college.

He ended by asking the co-operation of all the students in relation to the bill on the appropriation for the University of Oregon.—Medford Tribune.

Household goods for Dr. Fletcher arrived here this morning from Kau (Clatsop) Wis., and they were moved to the Striker residence on College Hill, where the family will reside for the present. GEORGE GOULD STILL ON TRAIL OF PRINCE DE SAGEN

New York, April 9.—In spite of all statements to the contrary, Geo. Gould is still on the trail of Prince de Sagen, who is seeking the hand of Mme. Gould, with a view of getting inside information as to his habits. That he has not abandoned his beligerent stand toward the prince is evidenced by the fact that he has engaged detectives to dog the Frenchman's footsteps and has also requested the chief of police of Paris to give him what information he may have.

It is not likely that the Paris police would offer any assistance unless the prince had in some way committed offense that might have been brought to the attention of the department, it is said.

Helle smiled today when told that Gould was seeking information concerning his past.

"I have nothing to conceal," he said. "Let him employ a thousand detectives if he cares to."

NO MORE CUSPIDORS IN RAILWAY DEPOTS

Sale, Or., April 8.—"For the reason that the average tobacco chewer usually misses the cuspidor, and it is impossible to keep the floor in good condition where cuspidors are used," the use of these receptacles has been discontinued at Grants Pass and other points along the line of the Southern Pacific in Josephine county, according to the report of General Manager J. P. O'Brien, to the railroad commission, upon the sanitary condition of stations and county boards of health as to the unsanitary condition of stations in Benton, Clackamas, Josephine, Lane, Polk, Yamhill, Marrow, Sherman, Union and Wasco counties, in which the railroad companies are doing all in their power to remedy the conditions complained of and the objectionable features in the majority of cases have already been removed and corrected.

The school board held a meeting at Clerk Reiser's office last night at 7:30 o'clock at which time the contract for the erection of the addition to the high school building was let to W. O. Heckart, who bid was $8,956. There were two other bids as follows: Soren Jensen, $9,753; Sherman & Hunter, $9,200. Mr. Heckart will begin work on the foundation at once and just as soon as school is out in June the west wall of the building will be torn out and work on the superstructure commenced. It will be completed by the time the classes are resumed in September.
