The BON MARCHE A Place to Save Money

PRESIDENT ATTACKED

BY MARYLAND SENATOR

es of the accusation against him. It permits him to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have process of obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel in his defense.

The president prefers to try the case without any witnesses for the defense, because if witnesses, he definitely proclaims to use his own language, they could not possibly misrepresent the judgment that he had already rendered.

Mr. Rayner appealed to the senate for a vote on his resolution.

"If the senate refuses to act," declared Mr. Rayner, "the only relief that I can now think of would perhaps speedily come if this officer were to die in the place of his captivity. Then the country would, perhaps, come to the conclusion that no other man should die by the same method. One of England's bravest admirals was shot to death on his quarter deck for committing an error of judgment. It was held that an error of judgment was punishable by death. Parliament never moved, but when the work was done the whole world rang in denunciation of the murderous deed."

"I predict," he added, "that if there is no relief anywhere, if the president's resolve in the final scene in this tragedy, then something will occur that has happened over and over again before now. Public opinion does not realize the situation now; all it knows is that the president has punished an officer of the army because in his judgment he is objectionable to the service."

"It has not yet grasped the entire environment. It does not yet comprehend that the president has taken a stand that no sovereign or monarch in any other civilized land would dare to take at this enlightened day. When it understands the proposition fully then public opinion will move—it will move along the avenues of public intelligence; it will be heard through the channels of public expression; it will move slowly but surely to the place of captivity. It will take the unfortunate officer and transfer him from the custody of the president into the presence of the people, and, trampling with an iron heel upon the desperate experiment of authority, that the president has used it will give to his victim, humble, unimportant and unpretentious as he may be, the right to be heard in self defense, a right not only accorded him by the laws of his land, but a natural right which God has given, which it should not lie within the potentate in the universe to deprive him of if there is any conscience or humanity in the heart of man, or any justice left upon this earth."

RESIDENT OF FLORENCE TELLS OF NEEDED WORK

Florence, Or., May 18.—(To the Editor.)—If you will allow me space in your paper I should like to say a few words to the public; first, that I think if the county will open up the road to the ocean beach, or appropriate what is needed after the tax voted in this precinct is expended on the road, it will be a benefit to Lane county generally and help to advertise the county for years to come. Then people who wish to go to Ocean Beach won't have to pay $10 to get from Mapleton to Florence with their teams, or go to Florence and hire their teams kept at Mapleton. Then let the county open up its heart and blast Cape Horn and Beacher rocks down so it will look like they had some respect for the general good of the county and they will have act-of-war and baysy game.

First, a permanent advertisement for the county; second, helping those who want to go for a vacation to the sea; third, give work to men who will leave the most of it in the county, provided, however, the money is not wasted, but carefully and wisely expended.

Now if I have not taxed your time too much, should like to say a little more in the near future.

Respectfully,
F. KNOWLES.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE

Pulls So Hard on the Stomach It Must Have Help

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country makes stomach troubles. Five people suffer today where one did ten years ago with sick headache, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the other symptoms of indigestion.

All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of three in Eugene and other towns, should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet effective; nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na.

So reliable is Mi-o-na that the Red Cross Drug Company, with every 50-cent box they sell, give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures.

MARRIED

James O. Harris, of Eugene, and Miss Edith Galloway, of Portland, were married in Portland Saturday at 6 p. m. on May 16th. They arrived in Eugene on the 12:45 train Sunday morning and a wedding dinner was given them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schafer, Mrs. Schafer being a sister of the groom. Only the immediate relatives were present.

At the home of W. L. Kimble at Cottage Grove, May 17, 1908, William H. Rusher and Mrs. Lillian Hart, Justice of the Peace J. E. Young officiating.

At the Hoffman House parlors this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Calvin H. Durst and Miss Mabel C. Neff, both of Coburg, where they will make their home.

EUGENE LAUNDRYMAN RECOVERS DAMAGES

E. L. Fisher, the Eugene laundryman, who sued Charles F. Harpster for $402 damages for causing him, so he alleged, to locate a piece of worthless land under the representation that he was getting a valuable tract of timber, was awarded the puzzling verdict of $223. Itemized, Fisher's claim was $250 which he paid Harpster for the "tip" to the land; $72 for cruiser's fee and $80 expenses in making the trip to the land and loss of time at his business. By what process of mathematics a verdict of $223 was arrived at the wisecracks about the courthouse have been unable yet to figure out. Harpster's attorneys, Cardwell & Watson, presented a motion for a new trial this morning, but it was overruled by Judge Harris. Notice of a bill of exceptions was then given. The case will probably be appealed to the supreme court.—Roseburg Review.

ODD FELLOWS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

J. M. WILLIAMS, OF EUGENE, CHOSEN GRAND SENIOR WARDEN OF THE STATE ENCAMPMENT.

Salem, Or., May 19.—Salem extended a cordial welcome to 500 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs today, when the members of those orders gathered for their annual meeting of grand lodge and assembly. Streets and business houses are decorated with bunting and with the I. O. F. emblem. Reception committees have met all trains and the visitors have been escorted to rooms and boarding places.

The Grand Encampment convened this morning in Representative Hall, with about 90 delegates present. Very little business was transacted aside from the election of officers which resulted as follows: Grand patriarch, E. J. Seeley, Albany; grand high priest, R. Robertson, Roseburg; grand senior warden, John M. Williams, Eugene; grand scribe, E. E. Sharon, Portland; grand treasurer, W. W. Francis, Albany; grand representative, H. M. Beckwith, Portland; grand marshal, G. P. Rieckley, Harrisburg; grand sentinel, Dr. G. A. Poque, Ontario; grand outside sentinel, J. S. Lawrence, Coquille.

The Rebekah Assembly convened in Odd Fellows hall this morning with Grand President Mrs. Emma Galloway, presiding. The assembly degree was conferred upon 186 new members this forenoon and upon 50 this afternoon. This was the only business of the day, aside from the appointment of temporary committees.

POTATOES STRONGER IN PORTLAND MARKET.

Portland, Ore., May 21.—A slight but steady improvement in the potato market from day to day is reported by the local jobbers and though prices are likely to be low as compared with those of a year ago, the chances are that within the next few weeks the bulk of the fancy stock not yet marketed in the western part of the state will have been disposed of. For inferior spuds and the stocks that remain in Eastern Oregon the outlook is less favorable.

"Our last word from San Francisco was that old potatoes were firm at a slight advance over the prices of last week while new were weaker at 1 to 1 1-2 cents a pound," said a jobber. "As the market stands now we can pay 60 to 65 cents for strictly fancy Oregon potatoes, and we are buying in a moderate way at those figures."

But the relative positions of new and old potatoes in the southern market cannot long be held. Old spuds are still far from scarce, while new stock is steadily maturing and therefore improving in quality. In all probability 20 to 25 cars will go south from Oregon this week, and the strength of the Bay City market will depend upon its ability to take care of these and the heavy offering also of rivers and new stock."

Butter Advances One Cent.

Several of the city creameries this morning raised the price of their first grade butter 1 cent to 25 cents a pound, active trade and a strong demand being given as the factors in the change. As yet some of the city concerns have not fallen in line with the advance, but it is believed that they will soon. Whether the new price can be maintained remains to be seen. Production is now very heavy, but there is no certainty that this will continue through the flush season.

There were no changes today in country butter. Second grades moved in a satisfactory way, but the best brands drag to some extent.

Great Demand for Columbia Salmon.

It is now generally expected that opening prices on Columbia river canned salmon will not be announced until the latter part of the month. Demand for canned fish is the greatest in the history of the Columbia industry. For some time packers have had orders for more than they expect to pack even under the most favorable conditions, but despite this orders continue to come, and are just as quickly turned down. Every day adds to the strength of the canned salmon market because of the very small supplies remaining unsold of any grade.

Pure Food Law is a Help.

In the demand and market for Columbia river canned salmon the food law will prove to be a factor. For years it has been the custom of some of the northern packers to put Columbia river labels on other fish, and the result has been that the quality has not always been up to the strict one that Columbia river packers have set in years gone by. The pure food law will stop this practice and it will likewise cause a discrimination between the prices of spring and fall packs.

Veal is Slightly Weaker.

Receipts of country dressed meats were moderate today, but in the veal line the supply was rather in excess of the demand, especially as regards inferior stuff. At the Board of Trade quotations were unchanged but on the street traders declared 7c the top price for the best.

Poultry was steady at yesterday's prices and there was no change in the egg market.

Much complaint is heard of eggs being held too long in the country and arriving in bad condition.

Berries in Good Demand.

Strawberries were the active feature of the fruit market today. Receipts were the heaviest for a single day this season and the bulk of the offerings was of good quality. The Pearson-Page Company reported the arrival of a straight car of Los Angeles berries, which came through in good shape and found ready sale at $1.25 and $1.35 a crate for 15s. Arizans, while 88 crates of Oregon berries were received. Oregon moved freely at $2.50 to $3 a crate, and the trade in California was exceptionally good.

Eggs Are Firm at 16c.

Receipts of eggs were quite fair today along Front street, but demand is liberal and the price is holding strong at 16c.

Spring ducks are coming in slightly better supply, but demand is good and prices are maintained.

Spring chickens are likewise coming more freely with the market steady at unchanged figures. The regular chicken market is holding its own.

Dressed meats are only in fair supply at this time and former prices are being maintained.

Fair Buying of Hops Continued.

During the past 24 hours quite a number of sales of hops were reported by local and Salem dealers. Generally speaking, however, most of the activity is done, the outside trade alleging that it can scarcely interest its connections in hops at this time owing to the large supplies held by owners and the rapid growth of the prohibition movement. Practically all the business is for the best grade, of which only a small amount is available for the market just now.

Hop Market Review.

The movement in the hop market has slowed down materially, not because of any statement in the demand, but owing to the difficulty of transacting business. Growers have become very firm in their views, as a consequence of the repeated offers made by buyers, and something of a dead-lock has ensued, that can only be broken by the granting of the concessions on one side or the other.

A few of the dealers are of the opinion that a quiet spell will weaken the holders, but it seems more probable, in view of the depleted supplies, that the buyers will have to give in and raise their bids, if they want to do business.

Wool is Dull.

Great interest is displayed by the wool trade in the coming sales in Eastern Oregon, the first of which occurs at Arlington next Saturday. The general opinion is that the auction will not be a success. No one pretends to know what prices will be bid, but it is safe to say that offers will not be satisfactory to the growers. All the sheep-raisers are now acquainted with the unsatisfactory conditions of the wool market and they are prepared for lower prices than last year. At points where the 1907 clip sold for 20 cents, the growers are looking for this year's market to open around 18 or possibly 17 cents. When they find, as may be the case, that the buyers will bid only 15 cents or some such low figure, it is more than likely that they will withdraw their wools from sale.

Portland Livestock Market.

The tone of the cattle market continues strong at the quotations that supply from day to day is just about sufficient for the demand, and there is little likelihood of any immediate changes in quotations. For calves there is a fair demand, but the bulk of the veal stock that comes to the city still goes to Front Street.

For prime fat hogs the demand is very strong, with no change from the quotations of yesterday, but stockers and feeders, of which too many have been coming in for a week back, move slowly at lower prices. The proportion of half-fattened hogs that came in today was smaller than last week, yet there was too much of this sort of stock.

Sheep were weaker but dealers were inclined to hold for the prices that prevailed yesterday, though they admit that quotations will have to be cut in the near future. The demand for lambs is not yet strong, and the complaint of the trade is that too many half-fattened lambs are being sent in.

Quotations ruling in the livestock market today are:

Hogs—Best $6.00 @ 6.25; medium, $5.75 @ 6.00; feeders, $5.25 @ 5.50.
Cattle—Best steers $6.00; medium $4.50 @ 4.75; common $3.50 @ 3.75; calves $4.50 @ 5.50; best cows $4.00 @ 4.25; common $3.50 @ 3.75; calves $4.50 @ 5.50.
Sheep—Best shorn wethers, $4.50 @ 4.75; mixed $4.25 @ 4.50; spring lambs, $5.50.
