EXCURSIONISTS FROM PORTLAND EUGENE'S GUESTS

On the need of irrigation in the valley, stating that there is too much moisture in the winter season and not enough in the dry season to produce the crops that the land is capable of producing should proper drainage and irrigation be employed. Dr. Paine then presented to General Manager O'Brien of the Hatrman lines in the Northwest, the huge gilded key, with which, after his address, he opened the improvised door of the depot, and welcomed the crowds to inspect the building. Mr. O'Brien told of the visit of the delegation of Eugene business men to his office about a year ago, made for the purpose of asking for a new depot. He complimented them upon the business like-manner in which they negotiated for the improvements, which, no doubt, had a great deal to do with his immediate promise to build the depot as soon as it could be done. Mr. O'Brien then shouldered the key, which towered above his head, and admitted the public to the uncompleted building.

The "Choir" Singers. Before the crowd broke up it was announced that a "choir" had been formed on the train coming up from Portland and a song or two appropriate for the occasion had been composed. The first was to the tune of "Sailing, Sailing," and was as follows: Eugene! Eugene! From Portland town are we: We come to pay our homage, To our University—e-e, Eugene! Eugene! Appropriation won. We're glad you say, We're glad the day, For the pride of Oregon!

The other one was to the tune of "Hallelujah," and was as follows: A Lane County drink, we are willing to buy. What is it you drink in a county that's dry? Hallelujah! We are thirsty! Hurrh for Eugene! Hallelujah! We are ready To drink kerosene. The "choir" consisted of C. C. Chapman, W. G. Smith (leader), Hermann Wittenberg, A. C. Jackson, and W. G. Masters. Lunch at the University. After the exercises were over, the excursionists were escorted to the street cars and taken to the University where luncheon was served on long tables beneath a wide canopy of canvas erected for the occasion. The members of the ladies' auxiliary of the Commercial Club had charge and were assisted by a large number of young ladies. Immediately after the arrival of the guests they were seated around the dinner tables and Congressman W. C. Hawley addressed them expressing his pleasure at the improvement of Eugene and the University. The Multnomah choir favored the diners with several select songs of their own composing, after which the hungry visitors began to consume the first course of their dinner, continuing eating for an hour.

Before they arose from the tables several short, interesting and able speeches were heard, all expressing their appreciation of the treatment received. Wittenberg Talks. H. Wittenberg, a member of the school board in Portland said that he believed the University should receive twice as much as it will under the new law, and that Portland would vote for such an appropriation. Tom Richardson followed, telling how they had to put obstacles in the way of the people of Portland to keep more from coming on the excursion. If this had not been done, five thousand would have come to Eugene, he said.

Chamberlain Explains. Governor Chamberlain then made an explanation of how he came to veto the University bill through doing what he considered his simple duty. Moreover, he said he considered it a fortunate happening for the school, for now it undoubtedly was on a sound basis before the people.

State Senator Beach criticized the governor for his stand, saying that it was the only mistake he had ever made, and that for fear that he would know it, he wished to tell him so. He expressed the reasons why the state should by all means maintain such an institution, and said that an attempt would be made in the future to double the present appropriation.

Regent Friendly thanked Portland for its help in the recent crisis, and was followed by State Superintendent Ackerman, who pointed out that the only thorough aid to the public school system must come through the University from the top to the bottom.

C. N. McArthur, headed the committee to show the visitors the grounds. Nearly 200 people sat down at the tables. By the time lunch was finished it was nearly four for the commencement exercises in Villard Hall to begin and the visitors attended in a body. Dinner For Visitors. This evening at 5:30, dinner was served at the Commercial Club. The menu was as follows: Salad (U. of O. Colors.) Mock Turtle Soup (a la University Referendum) Hov's d'Ouvers (Espee Style) (Editorially Roasted) Green Peas (Multnomah style) New Potatoes and Cream Cold Meats (57 Varieties) Mount Hood Ice Cream (Preferred Stock, Unwatered) Strawberries (From Eugene on the Good-River)

Cake (Generally taken by Portland) Coffee (Tom Richardson Brand.) (Wise and Otherwise) The Speakers. Dr. D. A. Paine will officiate as toastmaster and the following are on the program for speeches: C. S. Williams of Eugene; Tom Richardson of Oregon; Dr. L. Whitson of Eugene; J. C. Ainsworth of Portland; Pres. ROOSEVELT WIRES WORD OF SYMPATHY

Oyster Bay, June 24.—President Roosevelt will not attend the Yale-Harvard boat races at New London tomorrow owing to the death of Ex-President Cleveland. He sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Cleveland and expressed the intention of attending the funeral, if it takes place on any other day than Saturday, when he has an important conference.

Washington, June 24.—Secretary Cortelyou, acting head of the administration, received the first news of the death of Cleveland from the Associated Press. He has received a telegram from the President at Oyster Bay instructing him to promulgate an order to all executive departments for the national flags to fly at half mast, and it probably thus will remain for thirty days. Cortelyou who served as confidential stenographer to Cleveland, was greatly shocked.

Funeral Will Be Private. Princeton, June 24.—The following bulletin was issued to the Associated Press: "The funeral of former President Cleveland will be held Friday June 26 at 'Westland,' Mr. Cleveland's residence on Bayard Lane, Princeton, and will be strictly private." The oppressive heat of yesterday had much to do with the death of the former president. When asked for further details Dr. Bryant said: "The heart failure which occasioned his death was induced within 24 hours of the end. Death was due to the heat."

The President's Telegram.

Oyster Bay, June 24.—The President addressed the following telegram to Mrs. Cleveland: "Your telegram shocked me greatly. Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in very deep and sincere sympathy. I have, of course, abandoned my intention of starting today for the New London boat races, that if the funeral is either Thursday or Friday I can attend. I can also attend it if it is Saturday, but if it is Saturday, a number of men are coming here from various parts of the country on a business engagement which I cannot well break. Will you direct some one to wire me when the funeral is to be held and where?" "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Later the President issued a proclamation paying a tribute to the life of Cleveland, and directing, in testimony of the respect in which his memory is held by the government and people of the United States, that flags on the White House and departmental buildings be displayed at half staff for a period of thirty days and that suitable military and naval honors, under orders of the Secretaries of War and Navy be rendered on the day of the funeral.

OFFICIAL STATE VOTE IS CANVASSED

Salem, June 22.—The formal official canvass of the returns of the recent election was made today by the Governor and Secretary of State, and the figures heretofore published confirmed. Under date of June 23, Governor Chamberlain will issue proclamations declaring in full force and effect those measures which received an affirmative majority vote. The acts and amendments adopted will be in effect from the time of the proclamations. Those which will be proclaimed as adopted are the amendment permitting the scattering of state institutions, the November election amendment, the sheriff's custody of prisoners bill, the University appropriation bill, the recall, proportional representation, Statement No. 1 instruction to the legislature, the corrupt practice act, the grand jury amendment and Hood River county bill.

At the steps of each college hall was laid a wreath sometimes of roses, sometimes laurel, but always beautiful and appropriate. Miss Lela Goddard and Miss Angie Williams of the class of '07 led the march.
