PORTLAND MARKET REPORT. Portland, July 8.—Those who are figuring on a very heavy production of hops in Oregon this season will likely be astonished when the final reports of the coming harvest come in. The yards never before showed the backward appearance they do at this time. While in some sections and in a few isolated spots the yards look as well as ever, but the average condition is not very good. The cultivation has been too lax in most quarters to bring forth a heavy yield. This has been an unusual season. During the winter and spring the rainfall was much below the average and it is quite likely that even the best cultivated yards will suffer for lack of moisture before the harvest removes all danger. It is a certainty that the uncultivated and the slightly cultivated yards will suffer—in fact some of them are already showing signs of drought. It would be idle to talk to give an estimate of what the coming crop is going to be in bales and the most prominent growers are not giving out their views—in fact they have none to give, because the condition of the crop is too badly mixed to give an accurate estimate.

Queer Situation in Contracts. It is stated that Carmichael of Salem has taken a number of small contracts on the growing crop for English account at 10c a pound and on receipt of this rumor many growers are said to be invading the office of the supposed buyer in an effort to sell their 1908 growth. Mr. Carmichael neither denies nor affirms the report and there may and may not be anything in it as far as new business is concerned. Some interests are of the opinion that the contracts are merely old transactions which are recorded each year. A year ago a number of term contracts were made around 8, 9 and 10 a pound and these contracts which are now attracting so much attention from the trade may be the ones made at this time.

Egg Situation. Oregon ranch eggs are in light receipt, and quotations advanced this morning to 10c and 20c for candled with a firm tendency. Uncandled are valued at 19c. Dealers in eggs consider the laying season drawing to a close and that receipts of fresh eggs will be lighter from this on. The warm weather helps in the tendency toward scarcity, as they will not keep for any length of time out of cold storage. The egg season begins in the Northwest in January, and the supply increases from week to week until April 1, which is considered the height of the laying season, and the best time for placing in cold storage for the following winter. The stock on such storage is not considered up to the average this year, as prices did not go below 16 or 17 cents, and at this figure it does not pay to place many away and run the risk of Eastern eggs being shipped in from the great packing centers at 20 cents a dozen, to compete with the home storage. This year a great many eggs have been put away in Chicago and Omaha, and it is expected that this stock will be drawn on after the price of Oregon ranch has reached 25 cents in Portland.

Outlook for Potatoes. Portland potato growers are expecting a busy season this year, as the crop of the Northwest gives promise of abundant yield, and the dry season in California, coupled with the late frosts, has caused a shortage in the crop in the Sacramento and other valleys to the south. Already the Oregon product is crowding the new potato of California out of the Portland market, although the shipping season for potatoes will not begin until the middle of October or first of November. Potato shippers are not doing much in buying yet, but are preparing to enter the field about the first of September, when the potato supply of the Coast will be definitely estimated. Farmers who have been watching the conditions confidently expect remun-

Market Notes. Poultry is in light supply, but dealers report demand light also, on account of the abundance of fruits and vegetables and the prevalence of warm weather. Good veal sells well, however. Royal Anne and Bing cherries are on the market in larger supply. The former are quoted at 5 cents and the latter at 9 to 10. Three cars of bananas arrived from New Orleans this morning, in good condition, though the weather tends to ripen the fruit rapidly. A carload of California onions is expected in this afternoon and a car of watermelons tomorrow. Large quantities of fresh cream are being used for summer refreshments and the quotations on butter are firm, as a result of this drain on the supply. Portland Livestock Market. Firmness prevails in livestock quotations of all kinds, and stock dealers are predicting a continuance of present conditions for the season. Most of the fat cattle and sheep arriving this week are from the southern part of the state, it being considered rather early for prime conditions in Eastern Oregon and Idaho. With the growth of population, the demand for beef, mutton and pork is really in excess of the supply, of the three states of the Northwest, and farmers must pay more attention to the raising of cattle, sheep and hogs in order to furnish the local abattoirs of this city and of Puget Sound. While the stock is thus in a measure replenished the raiser of livestock is pretty sure of good prices for all he furnishes. Quotations ruling the livestock market today are: Hogs—Best $6.25@6.50; medium $5.75@6.00; feeders, no demand. Cattle—Best steers $4.00@4.25; medium $1.75@4.00; common $3.25@3.50; cows, best $3.50@3.75; medium, $2.50@2.75; calves $4.50@5.25. Sheep—Best sheared wethers, $3.75; mixed $3.25@3.50; Spring lambs, $4.50@4.75. Florence Vaughn, William Vaughn and Leona Bennett today began suit for partition of property in the circuit court against George S. Vaughn and Roland Vaughn. Walton & Ness are the attorneys for the plaintiffs.

CONTRACTOR CHEZEM ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT John R. Chezem, the Springfield contractor who built the three-story Coleman block and who has the contract for building the two-story addition to L. H. Smith's brick building, was arrested this afternoon by Constable Plank on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon upon John Berkshire, alleged to have been committed at Cresswell on July 3. He appeared before Justice of the Peace Bryson soon after his arrest and waived examination. He was bound over to the circuit court at his bond fixed at $100. Chezem is building the new Odd Fellows' hall at Cresswell and at the time of the alleged assault was engaged in a dispute with Berkshire, who is a resident of that place. VALUE OF OLD COINS Deadwood, Or., July 5, 1908. Editor Guard.—I have a 20-cent piece dated 1868. Will you please inform me if there is any premium on this date of coinage? You may reply either by letter or through the Weekly Guard. L. A. R. (The New York World Almanac says a half-dollar of 1893 will command a premium of from $1.50 to $2.50. It also says that owners of rare coins living at a distance from New York can take impressions of them with lead pencil rubbings on white paper, which may be sent by mail to dealers with minute and careful descriptions.—Editor.) A SUSTAINING DIET These are enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the day of fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained, and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of eating this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

HOGS DYING FROM EFFECTS OF HEAT Nels Raupan, a farmer residing near Eugene, brought to town today a drove of hogs for shipment to Portland. The long drive in the hot sun told on them, and when they reached the stock yards on the depot grounds they were in a bad condition as a result of the heat. Several of them died during the afternoon before they were loaded on the car, and a number of others were expected to die. SCHOOL OF QUALITY Attention is called to the display advertisement of the Portland Business College which appears in another column of this issue of the Weekly Guard. It is well written, and is attractive in appearance. A characteristic of the "Portland Business College is to do everything undertaken in a first-class manner. This will probably account for its being called "The School of Quality," a title of which the institution should feel extremely proud.
