

JUDKINS' POINT ROAD DANGEROUS TO TRAVEL

Complaint has been made that the wagon road around Judkins' point is dangerous, and that at any time a serious accident is likely to occur. The roadway, which is only about sixteen feet in width in places, is bordered on one side by a high and abrupt bank and on the other a bank which plunges steeply down toward the mill race. The road has a heavy and constant traffic, and since the electric railway has been constructed, automobiles are obliged to take the same road as the teams and vehicles. Farmers' teams, which are accustomed to neither a automobile nor the street cars, which will soon be running, are likely to be frightened, and to cause an accident by plunging over the bank into the race below at any time. To remedy the situation, suggestion has been made, that the road be widened considerably, even though the cost be great and that a strong railing be built on the outside, so that no team or horse could jump over or break down when frightened. Judkins' point is the most congested outlet from Eugene. The Southern Pacific track runs around it on the highest level, the electric car track on the next, the wagon road on a lower, and the millrace and river still lower than that. The roads carry the chief travel between Springfield and Eugene.

BOOTH RESTS CASE WITH JURY

Portland, Or., July 2.—By tomorrow night the jury will probably render a verdict in the James Henry Booth case, which has been on trial before the Federal Court for the past 11 days. Not a witness has been placed on the stand by the defense and not a word of the defendant himself, has testified. The defense, contending that the government has not made out a case, placed the case up to the jury. This forenoon, the opening argument for the government was made by United States District Attorney John McCourt. He was followed by County Judge L. R. Webster for Booth. Webster will probably speak until late this afternoon, when Examiner Dan J. Malarky will resume the argument for Booth until tomorrow noon, or later. Tracy C. Becker, special assistant to the Attorney General, will say the final word for the prosecution which will be toward the adjournment hour tomorrow. The case is expected to be given to the jury by supper time tomorrow and as the jurors are anxious to be home for the Fourth of July, a verdict can be expected some time Friday evening.

Prosecution Surprised.
In deciding not to place any witnesses on the stand, the defense sprung a small sized surprise. Before the adjournment yesterday the lawyers were on the point of having James Henry Booth tell his story of how he received the $300 check from Frederick A. Krebs and for the acceptance of which he is charged with bribery. As Malarky said he would have Booth on the stand at least half a day, the court adjourned earlier yesterday in order that the direct examination could be carried on without interruption. Late last night the defense concluded that Booth's testimony was unnecessary and a telephone message was sent to District Attorney McCourt informing him that he could begin the argument for the prosecution this morning.

On receipt of this information W. J. Burns, who was being held here to rebut the testimony of Booth, caught the midnight train for California and the government officers had to work most of the night arranging their data for presenting the case to the jury this morning.

Yesterday Afternoon.
United States Judge Wolverton yesterday denied the motion of the defense for an instructed verdict of acquittal in the James Henry Booth bribery trial. The motion was proposed immediately after the government rested its case and alleged that the prosecution had not presented sufficient evidence to justify or sustain a verdict. After the jury had withdrawn, the application for a non-suit was argued at considerable length by Judge Becker and United States Attorney McCourt, for the government, and Judge Webster and Mr. Malarky for the defense. Following Judge Wolverton's ruling denying the motion, court adjourned at 4:30 o'clock until this morning.

Defense to Submit Case.
Late last night it was decided by counsel for the defense that they will submit their case at the opening court this morning. No evidence testimony for the defense will be introduced, according to Dan J. Malarky, chief counsel for the defense, for the reason that the government has failed to produce evidence that will convict their client. The prosecution closed its case yesterday, so it will go to the jury at once.

"We will offer no evidence or testimony," said Mr. Malarky last night, but will submit the case to the jury as it stands. We have decided upon this step because we are convinced that the jury cannot convict with the evidence that has been submitted.

May End All Cases.
United States Judge Wolverton yesterday discharged all jurors, except those serving in the James Henry Booth trial, for further attendance on the court this term. Judge Wolverton explained that this action was taken pending some arrangement for proceeding with the other cases awaiting trial. It is generally believed, however, that the further prosecution of the land fraud cases at this time actually depends on the result of the Booth trial. It is known that the next case scheduled to be tried is that in which ex-State Senator R. A. Booth, and a number of others, including James Henry Booth, defendant in the case now on trial, are under indictment for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government of its public lands. Should the jury acquit James Henry Booth, it is not considered at all probable that the government would proceed with the other case in which James Henry and his brother R. A. Booth, both are defendants. On the other hand, if the Booth jury should fail to reach an agreement the government wants to be in a position that it may retry the case immediately. At all events, it will not be long before the court will adjourn for the usual summer vacation period, so that it would be useless at this time to set any great number of cases for trial.

COTTAGE GROVE NUMBER OF NOBODY'S MAGAZINE

The Eugene Commercial Club received a letter today from H. Veatch, Assistant Secretary of the Commercial Club at Cottage Grove, to the effect that at their last meeting, the club tendered a vote of thanks to the Eugene Commercial Club and its manager in appreciation of making the July number of Nobody's magazine a Cottage Grove number. The club has ordered an extra thousand for its own use, and some of the members gave the magazine enough advertising to allow the front-piece to be printed in three colors. The write-ups will be furnished by the Cottage Grove people and will include timber, dairying, poultry, fruit and general farming. The timber matter will only be touched upon in a general way, as this and the mining industry will have a separate number of the magazine devoted to each.

KEENE'S BALLOT ANOTHER VICTORY TO LONG LIST

Sheepshead Bay, July 1.—John R. Keene's Ballot added another to the long string of victories by taking the Advance Stakes, worth $11,750 to the winner today. King James was second and Heasian third. The Keene colt also made a new world's record for the distance of one mile and five-sixteenths by stepping the distance in 2:03 3-5, one second faster than the record. Ballot carried 126 pounds.

JAMES R. KEENE

HOW KIDNAPPED GIRL WAS RESCUED.

Coalinga, Cal., July 1.—Tony Lovell, the leader of the kidnaping yesterday of Edna Domengie, the 18-year-old daughter of Adolph Domengie, is at bay today in Western canyon, 15 miles from here. He is surrounded by a posse of determined men, heavily armed, and his death or capture is expected to be reported at any time. Edna, the girl who underwent the tragic experience, is at home today, suffering from nervousness and slight bruises, but not seriously injured in any way. Her feet were badly cut by stones when she was forced to walk over rocky roads, her sole garment being the night dress which she wore when dragged from her father's house.

Captured in Lonely Canyon.

Cleve Rogers, the younger kidnaper, who was captured last night by a posse, after being traced to a lonely mountain cabin, and after using the girl as a shield against bullets from his pursuers, is in jail here. Feeling against him does not run high, as the girl says he offered her no indignity. A pathetic feature of the remarkable case is the fact that one of the leaders of the posse which captured Rogers was his own father. The old man had no idea that it was his son whom he was following with a gun, and when he saw the boy collapsed. The resentment of the community is directed against Lovell, who is alleged to have planned the kidnaping and the burning of the outhouses on the Domengie place. SOUTHERN PACIFIC READY TO FIGHT INDICTMENTS.

San Francisco, July 1.—The Southern Pacific company's attorneys are busy today, preparing to fight two more indictments returned against the Harriman line by the Federal grand jury, before it was discharged for the year by United States Circuit Judge De Haven. The two additional indictments charge the company with having granted rebates to Miller & Lux on shipments of wool from California points to Boston via Stockton, Cal. The officials of the shipping concern were not indicted because of the

GASOLINE TRACTION ENGINE RECEIVED

A big gasoline traction engine arrived here this morning by freight for the Berger-Bean Hardware Co., it having been ordered from the International Harvester Co. The machine is for S. W. Miles, a prosperous farmer who some time ago purchased the Volney Hemenway farm five miles west of Eugene. He will use it to do general power work, including the operation of a threshing, and will take it to his Marion county farm where he will operate his clover huller with it. This is the first tractor gasoline engine ever brought to Lane county. They ought to prove popular, as there is no danger of fire in the harvest fields with them. Every year there is a report of one or more threshing outfits being burned in this county, having caught fire from sparks from the steam engines. The Berger-Bean company will use the engine in the Fourth of July parade, to pull their float.

Mr. Armour said his daughter, Lolita, who was operated upon several years ago by Prof. Lorenz, of Vienna, had almost recovered and was quite as well as any child of her age. Referring to the financial situation, Mr. Armour said he found a disposition among all European countries to again buy American canned meats and that there was but small doubt that the prejudice existing since the investigation has been almost eradicated.

HEARST SATISFIED WITH THE RECOUNT.

New York, July 1.—William R. Hearst today cabled from London that the recount of the votes in the majority contest of two years ago was more than satisfactory to him. He said: "I have said from the beginning that this fight would not make me mayor but to secure an honest count of the votes. I hope that this result will sufficiently satisfy the citizens, for whom the long and arduous struggle has been carried on."

EUGENE'S POSTAL RECEIPTS INDICATE GROWTH OF CITY

The Eugene postoffice, gained in its receipts during the quarter ending June 30, 1908, $1735.57 over the corresponding quarter in 1907, from the reports of Postmaster Page. The total receipts for the quarter this year were $8644.85 while those in 1907 were $4809.28. This is a gain of 35 per cent on the 1907 total. The receipts were mostly from stamp sales, there being but slightly over $300 from other sources. Something like $3000 was transferred from the Postal department to the Money Order department, showing the profit approximately of the postoffice here to the government. This may be taken as an indication of the rapid growth of the city.

FORAKER PRAISES AND CRITICISES TAFT.

Cincinnati, O., July 3.—Praise for the personality of William H. Taft, Republican nominee for President, and criticism for him in that he favors the Roosevelt policies, formed a part of the speech delivered yesterday by United States Senator Foraker of the Chamber of Commerce in this city, the occasion being the observance of the "Sunshine Day," founded by an association organized for the purpose of bringing about better times by striving to forget that there have been any other kind. When Mr. Foraker referred to Mr. Taft as a "man who in character is all that could be desired," he was interrupted by cheers. When the applause had ceased, he continued: "But, unfortunately, there is one fatal weakness in the candidate, and that is that he favors a continuance of the so-called Roosevelt policies, of which we have already had too much."

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED BY COW

STATE MAY SUE FOR VALUABLE PROPERTY.

If information in the hands of Attorney General Crawford is true, the state of Oregon has been defrauded of more than a million dollars of property, consisting of 160 acres of land in the heart of the fashionable residence district of East Portland. The property in question is the north half of the donation claim of Wendel Proebst and wife in township 1, range 1, east, in the city limits of Portland. It is a strip one mile long by one-fourth mile wide extending from the O. R. & N. car-wharf to Williams avenue.

This piece of land which is now filled with beautiful residences should have escheated to the Oregon school fund many years ago, for the reason that it was the half of the tract of 320 acres belonging to the wife, Jane Proebst, who died interstate and without heirs. The information in the case, compiled this morning by the attorney general, was furnished by G. Everett Baker, an attorney of Portland, and it will be at once submitted to the governor, who, after examining the evidence, will determine whether escheat proceedings are to be instituted. When the evidence, consisting of affidavits, etc., was received Governor Chamberlain requested that the matter be investigated.—Salem Journal.

FRANK GOTCH HOLDS WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Seattle, July 1.—Frank Gotch, of Humbolt, Ia., maintained his right to the world's catch-as-catch-can wrestling championship tonight when he out-classed Dr. B. F. Rolter of Seattle, winning two consecutive falls in 15 minutes and 25 seconds, and 25 minutes and 54 seconds respectively. The men entered the ring, weighing close to 200 pounds each. Rolter may have been a pound or two heavier.

They went at it like bulls from the start and Gotch was soon forcing matters. He worked his notorious toe hold six times in succession in the first bout. Rolter broke away each time, but it wore on him and finally Gotch downed him with a crotch and half-Nelson. Rolter did better work in the second bout, but Gotch was like a terrier after a rat, and went from hold to hold with startling rapidity. Rolter's best work in this round was to break a half Nelson and a crotch, after being seemingly lost. He was finally picked up and dumped to his shoulders from the same hold. It is doubtful if he really was downed, but it was only a question of minutes anyway, as he was at Gotch's mercy. Eddie Gaffney of Seattle, was referee. Owing to the high prices the crowd was not more than 3000.
