epical witness for the government in the Booth-Singleton conspiracy case yesterday. Omaha's report to the department represented that Agee had entered upon the land in good faith, and had complied with the land laws as to settlement and cultivation. While testifying for the government yesterday the witness said that he never visited the claim of Agee and that his report was based altogether on information and affidavits furnished him by J. P. Shupe, attorney for Agee, and other friends of the applicant. He admitted on cross-examination that he had not intended to defraud the government in making his report and that none of the three defendants ever talked with him about making the report he did. E. L. Rouven, of Hawthorne, Douglas county, Charles Clark, of Glyde; Charles Barker, of Oak Creek; W. T. Strader, of Douglas county, and Robert Watson, forest ranger and rancher, of Douglas county, testified as to the settlement and residence of Agee on his squatter's claim at Cap's Hill between the fall of 1892 and the spring of 1897. Strader and Watson served as witnesses for Agee in completing proof before the Roseburg land office. On cross-examination they declared that their services were rendered at the request of Agee himself and not at the solicitation of either of the three defendants on trial. Another witness examined yesterday was B. F. Russell, of Thurston,

LANE COUNTY, SON OF DR. B. F. RUSSELL

now deceased, who in December, 1900, relinquished his rights to the homestead on the lieu land which was afterward filed on by Agee and sold to the Booth-Kelly Company. Russell testified that his father failed to establish his residence on the homestead after making the filing. On cross-examination Russell contradicted the testimony of John C. Murray, the government's timber cruising witness, by saying that there were not to exceed 6,000,000 feet of merchantable timber on the land. Murray had estimated that the land had cruised 12,000,000 feet.

GIVES BRICK BLOCK TO BIBLE UNIVERSITY

John B. Coleman, the Eugene capitalist who owns several business blocks in Eugene, including the three-story block he put up on Williams street this summer, besides a large amount of real estate property, has made a valuable gift to the Eugene Bible University (formerly the Divinity School) in the shape of the two-story brick block on Williams street, now occupied by the Berger-Bean Hardware Company. The deed for the property was filed for record today. The consideration given in the deed is $3000, but it is an outright gift. The property is valued at about $25,000.

The property is described in the deed as follows: "Beginning at the southwest corner of lot 1, block 11, of that part of the city of Eugene which was originally donated to Lane county by Charles Mulligan and wife, running thence east on the south line of said lot 114 feet to Park street, thence 26 feet 8 inches, thence west 114 feet to the east line of Williams street, thence 26 feet 8 inches to the place of beginning." The building on the lot is 26 feet 8 inches by about 80 feet in dimensions.

While the property passes into the hands of the Bible University, with the filing of the deed, Mr. Coleman retains a life interest in it and serves the income from it during the remainder of his life. The reservation, as stated in the deed, is as follows:

"Hereby reserving herefrom to the said J. B. Coleman a life estate in, and to said described premises, together with the right of possession, control, dominion, use and occupancy of said premises, together with all of the rents, profits and incomes therefrom during his natural life and so long as said J. B. Coleman shall live. Also reserving herefrom a perpetual right of way over an easement in the stairway five feet in width upon the north side of said tract, leading from Williams street to the second story of the building upon said tract, said right of way to extend along said easement to the hall in the second story, and the free and unobstructed passage therefrom to the room in the building north thereof."

Mr. Coleman's wife, who died a number of years ago, was a devoted member of the Christian church, which denomination controls the Bible University. It was his tender memory for her and his high regard for the church of her choice that prompted Mr. Coleman to make this magnificent gift. He is truly a benefactor to the city, as well as to the institution to which the gift is made. His name will always be a household word in the homes of the thousands of members of the Christian church of the Pacific Northwest, who are supporting the Bible University. The property, which is among the best valuable in the city, will be a splendid addition to the assets of the institution.

ELMIRA ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.) Elmira, July 29.—The farmers have about all their hay in the barn and are now busy binding grain. Mr. Fountain lost a very valuable horse last week. It got a pole caught in its halter and beat its head to a jelly. Mrs. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and Master Delbert Brown spent a few days at Newport last week. Our mill man, Fred Walters, rides around in a new automobile these days. It belongs to Fred Yates and John Jean's house almost every Sunday. Mrs. J. F. Inman has been very sick with sunstroke.

The connection between the track of the electric line on Thirteenth street and the one around Jenkins Point may be completed in ten days. Point may be completed in ten days. The work is being held up by the failure to arrive of the crossing rails on which the street car will cross the Southern Pacific. The rails on the electric line are 65 pounds to the yard, those of the Southern Pacific are 75 pounds. The crossing rails have to taper from the railroad to the usual 65-pound rail on the car line. This required a special order.

FIERCE FIRE SWEEPED THREE BLOCKS IN PORTLAND

Portland, July 29.—Fire blotted one full block off the map of the North Portland business district, burned most of the property off three other blocks, and threatened the entire district yesterday afternoon. Property worth approximately $225,000 was destroyed, property representing nearly $1,000,000 was actually scorched, and property worth well into the millions was within the danger zone.

The fact that a line of brick buildings blocked the course of the flames until the fire department had opportunity to concentrate its forces at the weak points accounts for the limiting of the flames to five blocks.

Mystery as to Origin. The cause of the fire is not yet clear. There are several theories—incendiarism, spontaneous combustion in a lot of new hay, dropping of a match or cigarette, flying sparks from a chimney. The origin was traced to the middle section of the Oregon Transfer Company's place at Fifth and Gilman streets.

The fire popped up with the suddenness that attends the lighting of a gas-jet. Some smoke was seen on the roof of the Oregon Transfer Company's place at about 4:45 o'clock. Fifteen minutes later the roof had given place to a great column of flames.

Fanned by a strong wind from the northwest, the column of flames passed quickly from building to building. Gaining impetus from the big frame building and tons of hay and other combustible material, the fire quickly leaped across the street to the North Pacific Wagon Works, where there was another great array of fuel and sweeping this, passed on through the block from Fifth to the blind west wall of the Union Meat Company's place.

Leaps Across Two Streets. Checked here, it concentrated its fury, as if with an intelligence of its own, and leaped into the block north of Gilman street and then jumped Fifth and worked both east and west.

The heaviest losses. Among the heavy property losses of the fire was that on the Kiernan block, between Sixth and Fifth, Gilman and Hoyt. The entire block, with the exception of a barbershop, a vacant store, a saloon and cigar store on the southwest corner, was swept clean. Almost the whole block was covered with stables owned by the Oregon Transfer Company, and sub-let to the Overland Transfer Company, a horse-trader named Kelly, C. J. Kirby's blacksmith shop and storage room had been leased to the Baggs & Omnibus Transfer Company, and the Portland Carriage Company, which had moved property saved from the recent fire at Fourth and Ankeny. Horses were removed in safety. Losses in the block are approximately as follows: Oregon Transfer Company, $40,000; Overland Transfer Company, $10,000; J. Kelly, $1200; J. C. Kirby, $900; B. & O. T. Co., $4000; Portland Carriage Company, $12,000. Insurance on the block will total $18,000.

Buildings saved on this block were the saloon at 126 North Sixth street, B. W. Davis, proprietor; cigar store, Sixth and Gilman, owned by R. O. Hart; barber shop adjoining, owned by I. Rouf; and a vacant store room at 124 North Sixth street.

The Barr hotel in the block south of the Kiernan property, made the most spectacular fire of any building in the district. The brick hotel was completely gutted by the flames, the loss to the property being about $95,000. Of this sum $15,000 falls to the hotel manager, J. M. Toomey, whose insurance on his furnishings and personal effects expired yesterday morning. The hotel is owned by the S. M. Barr estate.

The California Oyster House, Tom Paulsen, proprietor, loss $500, and a barber shop, owned by J. H. Murphy, loss $300, closely adjoin the hotel on the Sixth street side of the block. The Union Transfer Company was completely gutted by the fire, the loss on the building amounting to $5000, with insurance of $900. This building was owned by the Barr estate. Horses housed in the stable were saved, but a quantity of harness was consumed, loss to the company being about $3000, with small insurance.

Next to the building was the tailor shop of Way Ting, Chinese tailor, who estimates his loss at $1500, with insurance of $1000. Adjoining the tailor shop at 104 North Sixth street was the Nugget Cafe, owned by J. E. Weland, with a rooming house above. The building was gutted, although the stock was saved. On the corner of Sixth and Flanders streets is the confectionery store of W. R. Jacobs, a brick building which withstood the flames. There was small damage from water. East of the corner, at 313 Flanders street, was a Japanese barber shop, a Japanese laundry, the Pacific Tailoring Company, also run by Japanese, with a rooming house above. As the occupants had plenty of warning that the fire was coming their way, practically everything was saved. The row of buildings, which are wooden, two-story structures, still stand, the rear portion of several being damaged to some extent. The loss on these buildings is $12,000, practically all of which is covered by insurance.

F. Haradon & Sons, confectioners, 104 Fifth street, adjoin the glass company, and although the building was right in the path of the flames, it was not damaged at all. The Harper Brass Works, 106 North Fifth street, was damaged not to exceed $500, and the loss is covered by insurance. The Standard Stables, corner of Fifth and Gilman streets, owned by E. L. Gilman, was completely gutted by the fire. Insurance of $750 carried on the building will almost cover the loss, while damage to the property of the stable owners will not be extensive, probably about $1-

000, and is covered by insurance. The Centennial Iron and Steel Works, owned by W. G. Hartman, at 228 Gilman street, was burned, together with four automobiles that were there for repairs. The loss is $10,000, which is about half covered by insurance.

Across the street from the machine shop, 225 Gilman street, the North Pacific Wagon Works, owned by Charles Wackraw, was burned, the loss being about $12,000, with insurance of $1500. Buildings destroyed on the portion of the block swept by fire were old frame structures of little value. A storeroom owned and occupied by the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company, was worth more than $1000, the loss being covered by insurance, and the Merchants' Express Company building was worth as much more, with half the loss covered by insurance. The contents of both buildings were not at all valuable.

EUGENE MAN GETS SPRINGFIELD CONTRACT

The town council held a special meeting Wednesday night to pass on the bids for the construction of cement sidewalks to be laid on both sides of Main street from Second to Fifth.

Three bids were offered, the lowest being that of Gust Myers, of Eugene, at the rate of 12 1/2 cents a foot, amounting to $2680. The other bidders were E. J. Emmons, $2,800, and Beadle & Noble $3401. The bid of Myers being the lowest, was accepted and as soon as the city attorney makes out the necessary papers the work will be started.

Postmaster Roberts and family returned Saturday night from a pleasure trip up the river. They all had a fine time and lots of fish. Ronald and Nat reported getting a deer, but the son of a gun got away. The P. M., though, got the big one, only he had loaned his carbine to Jim Clark and had nothing to shoot with. They report good fishing.

The Willamette Valley Company is going to discontinue its office here and hereafter supplies will be furnished by Hunter & Willoughby, of Eugene. Jake Ladager, the manager, has resigned his position with the company, and with his family will take a trip East.

Report comes to us that Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, formerly of Springfield, but now residing in Oregon City, are rejoicing over the arrival at their home of a permanent little visitor. We are unable to state whether it is a boy or a girl, but it is curious if papa George had his way its a young barber of the male sex.—News.

RUBY COMING WITH 100 HEAD OF HORSES

H. H. Schmitt, a real estate man at Creswell, who is also engaged in the horse business, received a letter today from A. C. Ruby, of Portland, from London, England, that he has just left the British metropolis with 100 head of horses of the finest breeds, and would visit Lane county with them. Mr. Schmitt is a Lane county representative for Mr. Ruby, and says that the bunch of stallions and brood horses will be a particularly valuable acquisition for the stock of the state. Mr. Ruby's stables are in Pendleton, but it is his custom to go to every part of the state with his imported animals and market them. He will probably come to Lane county in about two weeks. The horses have been purchased from the best stables in Europe.

H. F. Deardorf, an Oakland, Or., horse dealer, accompanied Mr. Ruby to Europe.

M. T. AWBREY'S BIG CHERRY TREE

M. T. Awbrey, a pioneer of Eugene, who has read with interest the reports of big cherry trees in the Willamette valley, thinks that the old Ox Heart that stands in his back yard on High street will compare favorably with the best of them. This tree, which is 24 years old, measures eight feet and seven inches in circumference at three feet above the ground. It has a full 45-foot spread and is 50 feet high. It has four branches, each of which is over a foot through. The neighbors have picked several bushes of cherries this season, but with the exception of the lower limbs the great bulk of cherries remains untouched. It is estimated from 20 to 25 bushels remain on the tree.

CIRCUS WILL BE HERE AUGUST 29

E. M. Burk, advance agent for Barnum & Bailey's circus, was in the city today making contracts for grounds, bill posting, etc., for the big show which will appear in Eugene this year on Saturday, August 29. Arrangements were made to pitch tents on the Kincaid field near the University grounds. The northwest corner of the field is at the intersection of East Thirteenth and Alder streets, where the street car line turns to go to the University. Being on the line, the grounds will be easy of access.

ROOSEVELT MAY HUNT BIG GAME IN OREGON

A press dispatch from Klamath Falls says: President Roosevelt expects to visit the wilds of Klamath County after the expiration of his present term and before his departure for Africa, according to advices received in Klamath Falls today.

John D. Goff, the guide who directed the way to haunts of big game in Colorado on the occasion of the first Western hunt of the then Vice-President, will visit Klamath county in September, for the purpose of making a personal investigation of the big game district of the Klamath region.

It is stated on high authority that Mr. Goff will make this trip especially for the purpose of advising the President as to the best time to hunt bear and the mountain lions in this state. While the intended hunt is said to be practically decided upon, publicity was not desired and only by chance was the information obtained.

CONDITION OF GREEN FRUIT MARKET

Portland, Or., July 31.—Oregon Crawford peaches, from the Ashland and Dalles districts, will be in the market in about 10 days or two weeks, according to local dealers, and while there is no danger of the market slumping, the chances are that this favorite fruit will sell at comparatively low prices. It is too early yet to say what these prices will be. The peach crop in Southern Oregon and around The Dalles is generally a heavy one this year, and the fruit was never of better quality. For some time Alexander and Hale's Early have been coming in fairly freely from both districts and in competition with Crawford peaches from California these have been selling at 60 to 85 cents a box generally. Today, with the supply large, the peach market was a trifle weaker, and Oregon peaches were quoted at 40 to 75 cents. The best California Crawford peaches are now selling at 60 to 75 cents, and they are quite active. In the South, because of a strong Eastern demand, they are quoted slightly higher than last week's prices, and the shipping season is drawing toward the end. When Oregon Crawford peaches appear there will be no demand here for California.

Of other fruits cherries are about the most active, in the local market, and the price trend is likely to be upward from this time on. Royal Anna, Black Republicans and Bings are about gone, only small lots remaining here and there, while the supply of Lamberts is still moderate by large. There is a strong demand in the East and they sell readily at 7 to 10 cents a pound. Apples are in fair demand, but there is no marked activity in the trade. Good quality Oregon apples are going at 75 cents to $1.25 a box, while California are held at $1.00 to $1.50 generally. Plums drag, as they always do at this time of the year. The supply is large and they are still coming in freely, but there is only a limited demand, even for the best and at low prices. For the most part they go at 40 to 75 cents a crate. Apricots have practically disappeared. Small lots of California peaches in the market, held at $1.50 to $2.00 a box, move quite readily, but the season for active sale of this fruit has not yet opened.

Peach Market Better. Of the Eastern peach market The New York Commercial of July 29 says: "Market is very firm on California peaches for shipment from the Coast out of the new crop in October, with a 1 1/2c premium quoted on 30s and 1c premium quoted on 40s over a 4c four-size bag basis on Santa Clara stock. On outside peaches the offerings are quoted on a 3 1/2c four-size bag basis in most quarters, with a stiff premium on large sizes. It is now regarded as certain that the crop will be one of the smallest on record, and, so far as the sizes go, the offerings will command a stiff premium all along the line.

"Oregon peaches are held on a somewhat higher basis, but there is little business noted for local account in futures. The question of contract is cutting a good deal of figure in Oregon peaches for October shipments based on the packer's form of contract. Spot peaches are very firmly held, and the market is without selling pressure in any quarter.

Little Demand For Chickens. The week opened with a weak chicken market and the situation showed no change today. Receipts yesterday and today fortunately were light, otherwise prices would have been sharply cut. As it is, last week's quotations were shaded slightly today in order to move the small lots that came in. Hens are in best demand at 13 to 13 1/2c but fryers and broilers move slowly at 18 to 19 cents. There is practically no call for other poultry.

The egg market was generally considered weak, with quotations on the street ranging from 23 to 24 cents for fancy candied Oregon stock.

Livestock Market. The livestock market was in good shape yesterday with prices on the best offerings holding steady all through the list. Some poor stock, however, is still coming along, and on this account, the full quotations cannot be realized, but there is a good sale for anything that will grade as choice.

The following prices were current on live stock in the local market yesterday:

Cattle—Best steers, $3.50@3.85; medium, $3.50@3.75; common, $3.25@3.50; cows, best, $2.80@3.25; medium, $2.25@2.50; calves, $4@5. MARRIED

At the residence of the bride, near Dillard, Oregon, July 29, 1908, Rev. J. C. Richardson, of Eugene, Oregon, and Miss Annie Kent, Rev. W. G. Miller officiating. Elder Richardson is a very able and well-known minister of the Baptist denomination and an early pioneer in the cause in this state, having been general missionary of the Northwest, including Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and British Columbia, and is a life member of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society. Miss Kent is well and favorably known in Southern Oregon, having been an efficient and prominent teacher, both in this state and California. She is also a woman of great business ability, having managed a farm near Dillard with success for a number of years. They left on the 3 p. m. train on the day of their marriage to spend some time in Eugene, the home of Mr. Richardson.

PLEASANT HILL ITEMS

(Special Correspondence.) Pleasant Hill, July 29.—Ideal weather for harvesting. A great deal of grain has been cut for hay, but little is being sold, most farmers holding for better prices. Mrs. Kelly is up from Portland, spending a few weeks with old-time friends.

C. C. Mulkey and family have returned from California, where they have been for several months in the employ of the Diamond Match Company.

Fred Sherwood has been re-elected as teacher in District No. 1.

The Pleasant Hill school board has donated the use of one room in the public school building for the use of the high school, and a building will not be erected until next year. Mrs. Clara Corum, of Ashland, has been elected as teacher.

Henry Laird, of Douglas county, Mrs. Dora Lewis, of Nez Perce, Wash., and Miss Addie Laird, of Eugene, with their mother, were visiting P. N. Laird at the old homestead.

Rev. T. S. Handsaker, who has just resigned the pastorate of the Christian church at Corvallis, on account of poor health, is visiting relatives here. Jesse Kellems, the boy preacher, will occupy the pulpit of the Christian church here Sunday.

REGULAR. NOTICE. Bids will be received until August 5, 1908, for building a school house in School District No. 88.
