

COMELY MATRONS PRAISE PERUNA

The only valuable testimony which any household remedy can have is the testimony of those who have used it. It is worse than useless to discuss Peruna from a theoretical standpoint. It is what Peruna will do, not what people say about it, that constitutes evidence. The housewives of the United States know what Peruna will do. They have tried it. They have realized its benefit in the family. They are the ones that are competent to speak of it. Self-appointed critics know nothing of it whatsoever.

Peruna Their Family Medicine.

Mrs. Anna C. Hyde, 712 E. Yamhill street, Portland, Oregon, Vice President Literary and Educational Organization of New Hampshire, writes:

"I am pleased to endorse Peruna as an all-round good family medicine, and one that is safe to give children. I give it to mine at the least suggestion of a cold, and take it myself to build up my strength and nerves.

"My sister, who is living with me, uses Peruna, too, and she is loud in its praises.

"Your medicine is certainly worthy of praise."

Backache, Headache.

Mrs. Treese Nelson, 609 N. Fifth Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"As Peruna has done me a world of good, I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some woman who has suffered as I did.

"For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

Catarrh of Bowels.

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1322 North street, Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me. I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well.

"I can recommend Peruna to anyone, and if anyone wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

JUSTICE PECKHAM ELIGIBLE TO RETIRE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—Associate Justice Rufus W. Peckham reached his seventieth year today and consequently adds another to the list of members of the Supreme Court who are eligible to retirement. It is a pretty general rule among the members of the law which permits them to retire with full pay when they have reached the age of seventy, though in the case of a few members settled for four years to come it would not be surprising if there should be some changes in the personnel of the supreme tribunal before many months have elapsed. Besides Justice Peckham there are four members of the court who have passed the retiring age. These are Melville W. Fuller, Chief Justice, who is 75; John M. Harlan, associate justice, who is only three months the junior of the Chief Justice; David J. Brewer, associate justice, who will be 71 next June, and Justice Peckham, who is seventy years old today.

President Roosevelt is not likely to have an opportunity to name a successor to the Supreme Court, but his successor, who will take office March 4 next, will in all probability have the naming of at least four members of the court to take the place of those now eligible to retire. Chief Justice Fuller has given up on nearly six years more to the arduous task of weighing every matter coming before the court than he would have had to give. He is a hale and hearty, well-preserved old man and bears his three score and fifteen years with grace. Though for the time he is chief justice Mr. Fuller is compelled by precedent and good taste to keep out of politics, he is yet a staunch Democrat and among his friends it is an open secret that he has held on to his high position during the past few years in hope that President Roosevelt might be succeeded by a Democrat and that as a consequence his own successor on the woolsack might be a man of like political faith. Now that the next President is known there is nothing to prevent the Chief Justice from retiring whenever he so desires.

Next to Chief Justice Fuller, in point of years, comes Justice Harlan. He is a man of large physique, and seemingly as full of health as the best of men. But he has reached an age where most men seek rest from active affairs, and his retirement before long is expected. His has been an exceedingly active career. He comes from Virginia via Kentucky, that is, his ancestors were Virginians. He is a Republican and in 1875 he was the Republican candidate for governor of Kentucky. He has been an associate justice of the Supreme Court since 1877.

Associate Justice David J. Brewer became eligible for retirement last year, having been born in Asia Minor in 1837, his father having been a missionary to Turkey. Whether he intends to avail himself of the privilege to retire in the near future, is not known. He appears to be a man of excellent health. In politics he is a Republican. It is believed that Justice Peckham will probably avail himself of the opportunity to retire. During the past few years his health has not been of the best and more than a year ago, it was rumored that he was likely to quit the bench. He took his seat in 1905, succeeding the late Howell E. Jackson of Tennessee. He is a Democrat, but was never very active in politics. At the time of his appointment by President Cleveland he was a justice of the supreme court of appeals of New York. He is a native of Albany and has served as district attorney and corporation counsel of that city before he became a judge. He is highly esteemed by his associates on the supreme bench as well as by all others who know him.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE FLIES HIGH

Frederickshafen, Nov. 7.—Crown Prince Frederick William made the ascent today with Count Zeppelin in the latter's airship. A strong northerly wind was blowing and it was very cold. It is probable that they will proceed to Dannebergshagen Baden, where Emperor William will arrive during the course of the day.

Successful Trip. Donauessingen Baden, Nov. 7.—The Zeppelin airship maneuvered over the town awaiting the arrival of the special imperial train on which the emperor returns from Austria. New Orleans, Nov. 7.—A report reached here today from Colon, Panama, that a subterranean lake has been found under the site of one of the proposed big locks of the Panama canal at Gatun, and this will result in the delay of several years in completing the canal and a much larger outlay of money than was first anticipated.

According to the report the discovery was kept secret and engineers who are said to know of the discovery declined to discuss the matter during the absence of Colonel Goethals in the United States.

Report Discredited. Washington, Nov. 7.—The Isthmian canal office stated that no word has been received of the finding of a subterranean lake under the site of one of the locks at Gatun. The report is declared to be absurd because boring had proven the stability of the earth beneath work was commenced on the locks.
