

SOCIETY

Mrs. Romeo Gilbert and Mrs. Elmer Roberts were joint hostesses to two delightful parties the first of this week. On Monday evening about thirty of their friends were invited to an evening at cards in which Mrs. T. A. Gilbert and Mrs. Otho Roberts secured the first prizes. The Gilbert home presented a very pretty appearance with its profusion of ferns and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Roberts were assisted in serving by Miss Lulu Gilstrap and Miss Emma Aubrey. The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert were: Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Willoughby, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Day, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Osburn, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bogart, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Titus, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Osburn, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. W. Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fellman, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bean, Miss Ida Patterson, Miss Harriet Patterson, Miss Estelle Bean, Helmus Thompson, M. F. McClain, F. C. Bean.

Mrs. Veda Quackenbush entertained the Aloha Club and a few friends last Tuesday afternoon in appreciation of the many kindnesses shown her by the club. There were four tables of whist and Mrs. Buoy was awarded the first prize, a beautiful piece of hand-painted china. Miss Quackenbush served an elaborate three-course luncheon, assisted by Miss Ellen Green and Miss Margaret Sealife. The invited guests besides the club were Mrs. Sealife, Mrs. Harry Keeney, Mrs. J. F. Titus, Mrs. Wm. Green and Mrs. Idaho Campbell.

The theatre party given by Miss Margaret Sealife at the Eugene theatre on last Tuesday evening, followed by the supper at Otto's grill, was one of the enjoyable events of the past week. Those who were in the boxes were Mrs. Tollman, Miss Margaret Cundiff, Miss Fedia Quackenbush, Mr. Hartog, Mr. Wayne Stuart, (Portland), Dr. Beardley and Mr. Austin Farrington.

The surprise party given by the Thimble Club ladies to their husbands last Monday evening was a success in every way. The surprise took the form of a progressive dinner served in four courses. The first course was served at the home of Mrs. J. Goldsmith, where the men had been invited to a stag dinner, but on entering the dining room they found, much to their surprise, that their wives had preceded them. From there they went to Miss Libbie Yorran's for the second course, followed by the third course served at Mrs. Frank Hampton's, and the last at Miss Bessie Day's. After supper they made the rounds of the nickelodeons and then went to the home of Mrs. Archie Livermore, where the remainder of the evening was spent in a general good time. Mr. and Mrs.

guests as favors of the evening. Mrs. Bean was assisted by Mrs. C. B. Willoughby, Mrs. J. R. Bean (Portland), Mrs. C. S. Freeland, Mrs. F. M. Day and Miss Ina McClung (Portland). The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Willoughby, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Day, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Osburn, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Linn, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bogart, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Titus, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Osburn, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. W. Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fellman, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bean, Miss Ida Patterson, Miss Harriet Patterson, Miss Estelle Bean, Helmus Thompson, M. F. McClain, F. C. Bean.

Miss Veda Quackenbush entertained the Aloha Club and a few friends last Tuesday afternoon in appreciation of the many kindnesses shown her by the club. There were four tables of whist and Mrs. Buoy was awarded the first prize, a beautiful piece of hand-painted china. Miss Quackenbush served an elaborate three-course luncheon, assisted by Miss Ellen Green and Miss Margaret Sealife. The invited guests besides the club were Mrs. Sealife, Mrs. Harry Keeney, Mrs. J. F. Titus, Mrs. Wm. Green and Mrs. Idaho Campbell.

The theatre party given by Miss Margaret Sealife at the Eugene theatre on last Tuesday evening, followed by the supper at Otto's grill, was one of the enjoyable events of the past week. Those who were in the boxes were Mrs. Tollman, Miss Margaret Cundiff, Miss Fedia Quackenbush, Mr. Hartog, Mr. Wayne Stuart, (Portland), Dr. Beardley and Mr. Austin Farrington.

The surprise party given by the Thimble Club ladies to their husbands last Monday evening was a success in every way. The surprise took the form of a progressive dinner served in four courses. The first course was served at the home of Mrs. J. Goldsmith, where the men had been invited to a stag dinner, but on entering the dining room they found, much to their surprise, that their wives had preceded them. From there they went to Miss Libbie Yorran's for the second course, followed by the third course served at Mrs. Frank Hampton's, and the last at Miss Bessie Day's. After supper they made the rounds of the nickelodeons and then went to the home of Mrs. Archie Livermore, where the remainder of the evening was spent in a general good time. Mr. and Mrs.

Gamber were the guests of the club. Mrs. Gamber being a former member.

The members of Helmet Lodge, Knights of Pythias, proved themselves royal entertainers at the celebration of their eightieth anniversary on Thursday evening at Castle Hall. There was a large number of members and their wives present, especially noticeable being the presence of so many of the old members. Cards and other table games were provided for the entertainment of the guests, while dancing was enjoyed by many present. Hender-shot's orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the evening. At a late hour refreshments were served on the card tables.

Fads and Fashions

(Guard Special Correspondence.)
New York, November 7.—One of the most striking features of the present day's fashion is its radical departure from the former monotony in the styles of street gowns. One looks almost in vain for the perfectly plain, tailor-made gowns of former years. The skirts, short enough to escape the ground, and narrow, are oddly trimmed with braid, bands of satin, arabesque designs in soutache and other braids and cords in endless variety. Sometimes the braiding or cording is confined to the front panel, where it may extend from the top edge to a high waist line, or the soutache may only be seen here and there in the most unexpected places. As a rule the higher class of models seem to elaborate the upper part of these street suits, fairly loading them, in some instances with intricate ornamentation at the waist and just below, the only attempt at decorating the skirt being the winding sash of supple silk, ending in some passementerie or tassel-like affair of sufficient weight to keep the ends of the sash in place as they hang along on the skirts.

Another thing that will strike the observer is the extensive use of black and white trimmings and accessories, especially on the lighter costumes. Black silk fringe is one of the fashionable varieties of the moment and examples of its effective use are seen in many instances of the newest importations. As a finish for tunics and sashes, nothing is more desirable than the heavy-knotted silk fringe of our grandmother's time, and where a one-tone effect is preferred, white silk fringe may be purchased and dyed the exact shade of the garment on which it is to be placed.

Several shades of the same tone are frequently seen in one frock, particularly in the more elaborate afternoon-gowns. Noticeable among the new fabrics are the wide wale, diagonal serges and chevots, which, though they give the impression of heaviness and warmth, are in fact extremely light and almost supple in texture. They give the idea of roughness without in reality having that quality in the slightest degree. Such serges and chevots are frequently used for the more dressy of the semi-tailored models and are well adapted to the new trimmings of braid, passementerie, cordage and the like.

Like dressmaking, millinery has changed with this season. Materials and trimmings are much darker and softer in tone, excepting when a brilliant color note is desired. Black is much used and even when colors are employed the effect of the hat is usually dark. Few, if any of the gray plumes of former years are seen, unless accompanied by a touch of bright color, orange, flame or scarlet. Sometimes rich purples and pansy shades are introduced with vapor, and other shades of gray. Nile green and a non-committal shade known as aubergine, or egg-plant, are used for many of the smartest hats. These shades are wondrously rich in tone and beautify almost any woman who puts them near her face. The egg-plant hue renders one a trifle colorless, but the Nile green adds to the freshness in the complexion. These two shades are seen in almost everything and some gorgeous evening gowns and wraps are of soft velvet in the same hues, trimmed with black velvet and black or gray fur.

Many of the most charming hats are made of fancy plumeage. These are shown in a variety of styles, shades and colors with lovely combinations as a prominent feature. Feather hats show off to best advantage when developed in dark greens with touches of the new copper reds that have recently become popular. Antique gold and rich greenish bronzes are also found among the exclusive combinations that are on a par with the fashionable peacock tones.

One of the latest things in the line of decorations for hats is a large bunch of scarlet osprey plumeage decorating dark or neutral tinted hats. Such a note of vivid color with an otherwise sombre coquette on a chilly day is the "making" of the entire costume.—Something of this character was seen a few days ago, when the foundation was of sorrel green felt with rounded crown and brim of startling width, surmounted by a huge cluster of crimson feathers at the right side of the head.

For handsome tea gowns the most exquisite of the supple new materials are pressed into service and here, as elsewhere, the soft, crepe and satins and nets and mousselines and chiffons popular a few days ago, have been replaced by the new materials of the fine silk and wool stuffs are also much used by the designers, while for the less pretentious models the ever popular challies, French flannels, albatross cloths and other, lighter materials are used. Fine and broadcloths in beautiful tints are also successfully employed, but sell so readily that though attractive and comfortable for cold weather, they are not practical save in medium and dark tones.

Quite as popular as ever will be the coquettish fur hat this season, but, as in the case of fur coats, the fur itself will serve as a background for a variety of trimmings. Feathers especially are combined with fur, the long plumes bending with the lines of the hat and sweeping downward over the hair.

Soutache everything and you will be in fashion's good book. How far the craze for this form of ornamentation goes at present is shown by the fact that there are actually evening shoes made of velvet and satin with the most delicate traceries upon them in the narrowest of braids.

One of the latest effects shown in recently imported gowns is obtained by the use of matched scarfs added to the costume and draped down the back from the shoulder to the knees. The little fur or mousseline frill will be quite fashionable this season. It will be worn until the beginning of winter weather, when they will be replaced by dark colored frills with the ends of the ruffles trimmed with narrow rings of fur.

Fashionable French women have revived the abominable custom of using perfumes and sachets and even their muffs and veils are scented.

Shrewd modistes say that the craze for very large hats will prevail so long as plain gowns are fashionable.

Flesh color holds first place for evening gloves, and those matching the gown in color, come next.

Large buttons may be worn on coats, but those used for ornamenting the skirts should be of smaller size.

Many of the coats worn this winter will be semi-fitting and will extend below the hips.

Pleated skirts have entirely gone out of style.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

though they give the impression of heaviness and warmth, are in fact extremely light and almost supple in texture. They give the idea of roughness without in reality having that quality in the slightest degree. Such serges and chevots are frequently used for the more dressy of the semi-tailored models and are well adapted to the new trimmings of braid, passementerie, cordage and the like.

Like dressmaking, millinery has changed with this season. Materials and trimmings are much darker and softer in tone, excepting when a brilliant color note is desired. Black is much used and even when colors are employed the effect of the hat is usually dark. Few, if any of the gray plumes of former years are seen, unless accompanied by a touch of bright color, orange, flame or scarlet. Sometimes rich purples and pansy shades are introduced with vapor, and other shades of gray. Nile green and a non-committal shade known as aubergine, or egg-plant, are used for many of the smartest hats. These shades are wondrously rich in tone and beautify almost any woman who puts them near her face. The egg-plant hue renders one a trifle colorless, but the Nile green adds to the freshness in the complexion. These two shades are seen in almost everything and some gorgeous evening gowns and wraps are of soft velvet in the same hues, trimmed with black velvet and black or gray fur.

Many of the most charming hats are made of fancy plumeage. These are shown in a variety of styles, shades and colors with lovely combinations as a prominent feature. Feather hats show off to best advantage when developed in dark greens with touches of the new copper reds that have recently become popular. Antique gold and rich greenish bronzes are also found among the exclusive combinations that are on a par with the fashionable peacock tones.

One of the latest things in the line of decorations for hats is a large bunch of scarlet osprey plumeage decorating dark or neutral tinted hats. Such a note of vivid color with an otherwise sombre coquette on a chilly day is the "making" of the entire costume.—Something of this character was seen a few days ago, when the foundation was of sorrel green felt with rounded crown and brim of startling width, surmounted by a huge cluster of crimson feathers at the right side of the head.

For handsome tea gowns the most exquisite of the supple new materials are pressed into service and here, as elsewhere, the soft, crepe and satins and nets and mousselines and chiffons popular a few days ago, have been replaced by the new materials of the fine silk and wool stuffs are also much used by the designers, while for the less pretentious models the ever popular challies, French flannels, albatross cloths and other, lighter materials are used. Fine and broadcloths in beautiful tints are also successfully employed, but sell so readily that though attractive and comfortable for cold weather, they are not practical save in medium and dark tones.

Quite as popular as ever will be the coquettish fur hat this season, but, as in the case of fur coats, the fur itself will serve as a background for a variety of trimmings. Feathers especially are combined with fur, the long plumes bending with the lines of the hat and sweeping downward over the hair.

Soutache everything and you will be in fashion's good book. How far the craze for this form of ornamentation goes at present is shown by the fact that there are actually evening shoes made of velvet and satin with the most delicate traceries upon them in the narrowest of braids.

One of the latest effects shown in recently imported gowns is obtained by the use of matched scarfs added to the costume and draped down the back from the shoulder to the knees. The little fur or mousseline frill will be quite fashionable this season. It will be worn until the beginning of winter weather, when they will be replaced by dark colored frills with the ends of the ruffles trimmed with narrow rings of fur.

Fashionable French women have revived the abominable custom of using perfumes and sachets and even their muffs and veils are scented.

Shrewd modistes say that the craze for very large hats will prevail so long as plain gowns are fashionable.

Flesh color holds first place for evening gloves, and those matching the gown in color, come next.

Large buttons may be worn on coats, but those used for ornamenting the skirts should be of smaller size.

Many of the coats worn this winter will be semi-fitting and will extend below the hips.

Pleated skirts have entirely gone out of style.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

Today's Suggestion by Ellen Stan.

HOUSE DRESS FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

ANY girl who wishes to look her best must be gowned to suit the occasion. Not only must she have appropriate frocks for school and Sunday wear, but she must also have neat work dresses. The design shown in the accompanying illustration is an especially neat and practical one and would be serviceable developed in any tub material such as gingham, percale, galatea or linen.

The waist is in plain tailored style that can be finished with a high Dutch neck or worn with a turndown collar of linen or of the dress material. The skirt is a five gored model and may be finished with a narrow hem or with a ruffle. It is joined to the waist by a narrow belt of the material. This is of special advantage, for any work dress should be attached at the waist line so that the waist cannot pull out, as it is sure to do if made separately. The sleeves can be either in long or elbow length.

This plain model will also be neat for school wear fashioned from mohair or Panama. The square Dutch neck can be filled in with net to match the dress material to color or the neck may be finished with a band and worn with a turndown linen collar. Button trimming will be a neat and inexpensive trimming for such a development. These can be made fabric covered and ornamented with heavy floss or they can be covered with a contrasting material embroidered with silk to match the dress in color.

Dainty school frocks can be made of Scotch plaid in a plain model such as this with pipings of a dark harmonious color used as a finishing touch.

This shirt waist dress closes in the front and may be made with high or low neck, long or short sleeves and with or without the ruffle on the bottom of the skirt. The pattern is cut in three sizes—for girls from fourteen to eighteen years of age. To copy it for a girl sixteen years of age it requires six yards of material 36 inches wide or 4 1/2 yards 44 inches wide.

Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

U-AR-DAS
LUXURY
A DELIGHTFUL
LIQUID FACE POWDER
Imparts a pleasing softness and delicacy to the skin and restrains the ravages of sun, wind and time.
Its continued application eliminates sunburn, tan and freckles and renders imperceptible annoying minor blemishes and sallowness. It possesses a dainty, clinging odor exclusively its own and is in every way a perfect toilet luxury. Price 50 cents. Ask your druggist for it.
HOYT CHEMICAL CO.

MICRO
ITCHING SCALP
DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR
are but outward signs of the evil done in secret by myriads of dandruff germs sapping the life blood of the hair. Micro kills the parasite, soothes the itching scalp, gives lustre to the hair and stops it falling out. A single application gives relief and proves its worth. Save your hair before too late. Micro prevents baldness. It is a delightful dressing for the hair, free from grease and sticky oils. Ask your druggist for free booklet.
HOYT CHEMICAL CO.
PORTLAND, OREGON

GOLDEN WEST
COFFEE
TEA SPICES
BAKING POWDER
EXTRACTS
JUST RIGHT
A TRIAL WILL CONVINC
CLOSSET & DEVERS
PORTLAND, ORE.

ALBANY
ALBANY COLLEGE
ALBANY, OREGON

Holiday Goods of Every Description. Wholesale and Retail Dealer in Toys, Dolls, Games and Souvenir Goods.

THE HOME OF THE 25c GOLD MOULDED CYLINDER RECORDS

Two New Ones Indestructible Cylinder Records 30c
Fits Any Machine and Lasts Forever

Hills' Gun Store
513 Willametta St.

Two New Ones New Double Disc Records 65c
Music on both sides 2 records at a single price

DO YOU OWN A PHONOGRAPH?

To the owners of cylinder machines, Columbias or others, we now offer the new Indestructible Cylinder Records at 35 cents

They won't BREAK no matter how roughly they are used; they won't WEAR OUT no matter how long they are played. The three thousandth production is as full, clear and perfect as the FIRST; they can be mailed as readily as a letter. If you own a cylinder machine come in and hear them; far superior in tone and quality to any thing you have ever heard; fit any machine. Get a catalogue.

OUR NEW COLUMBIA DOUBLE DISC RECORDS are on the way. Another Columbia sensation—two records in one, music on both sides, for a single price. 65c

ALVA ADDINGTON'S BIG COUGAR STORY

(Guard Special Service.)
Dexter, Nov. 6.—Alva Addington has returned from the Rigdon ranch, where he and Lawrence Hunsaker have been keeping a station during the summer, and told the writer the particulars of his cougar killing.

Addington and Art Moss of Prineville had been deer hunting during the day, September 18, and had succeeded in killing two deer and were returning to the ranch late in the evening.

Addington was walking ahead leading his horse, on which was packed the deer, while Moss followed, leading another horse. Suddenly as they reached a sharp turn in the trail about a mile from camp, Addington heard a noise behind him and his horse lunged forward almost jumping on him. He turned and saw an immense cougar had mounted his horse and was making desperate efforts to tear a deer off. He fired but was afraid of hitting his horse and overshot, but succeeded in drawing the beast's attention to himself, and as it crouched for a spring he drew bead with a clear eye and a steady nerve and drove a soft nose "30" into its right orbit. Mr. Addington said one could have hung his hat on Mr. Moss's eye. We have an idea we could have played "seven up" on Mr. Addington's eyes and never lost a card.

The cougar measured nine and one-half feet from tip to tip. Addington has the scalp and one claw. The claw is over three inches in length.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

DR. PAINE HOME FROM HIS TRIP TO THE EAST

Dr. D. A. Paine arrived home last night from a trip of several weeks through the East. He took a post-graduate course in several branches of medicine and surgery while gone and visited Boston, New York, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago and other large cities. He states that there was great interest in the section in the East, especially in New York city. The excitement was intense for some time before the election came off, more so than for years past. The financial condition in the East, the doctor says, is bad, but the further west he came the better it appeared to be, and the Pacific coast seems to be the East, especially in New York city. People in general, however, expect that times will gradually grow better from now on, everything previous to the election being in an uncertain state.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels gently. Contains no opiates. It is pleasant to take and children especially like the taste, so nearly like maple sugar. Sold by all druggists.

Car fresh cement just received.
CHAMBERS HARDWARE CO.

GIRL JUGGLED WITH POSTOFFICE FUNDS

Portland, Nov. 6.—After taking testimony in the case of Charles A. Strauss, ex-cashier of the postoffice in this city, who is charged with embezzlement, United States Commissioner Cannon tonight took the case under advisement. Contrary to expectations, the defense did not introduce much sensational testimony.

It has been evident from the beginning of the three days' hearing that both sides have been holding back important testimony, and attorneys for Strauss have intimated if Strauss is brought to trial there will be many sensational disclosures. The most sensational disclosure during the hearing was that of Miss Celia E. Bollman, who acted as assistant cashier under Strauss. She testified that under instructions of Postmaster John Minto and Assistant Postmaster Shipley that she erased items from the books showing stamps, stamped envelopes and stock to the amount of $800 were missing or unaccounted for in order that the postal inspectors, who were investigating Strauss' accounts, might not see them.

She qualified this statement later by saying that the instructions might not have been for the purpose of "covering up."

Miss Bollman formerly resided at Elmira, Lane county, where her mother was postmistress for a number of years. She is well known in Eugene.

REV. M. T. WIRE AND MRS. HUTCHINSON WED

The marriage of Mrs. Reno Hutchinson and Rev. Melville T. Wire, yesterday afternoon at the parsonage of the Grace Methodist church at Portland, came as a surprising piece of news to many of the friends of the couple when it was made known this morning. The ceremony was quiet, performed by Rev. W. H. Heupe, and witnessed only by the minister's family.

Mr. Wire is prominent among the younger men in the Oregon conference of his church. He was for three years pastor of the Patton Methodist Episcopal church, and at the last conference was transferred to the Columbia river conference. He is a graduate of the Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Ill., and is a product of Oregon Methodism. He served for the past two years as secretary of the conference.

Mrs. Wire has been the contralto in the Grace Methodist choir. Her beautiful voice has been much admired. She was the widow of an absolute divorce from his wife on the ground of willful desertion since the summer of 1907. None of the details of the family trouble are mentioned in the papers, the parties being socially prominent and well known, especially in Salem, Albany and Eugene. Carey F. Martin appears as attorney for Mr. Hopkins.

CO-OPERATIVE CANNERY COMPANY INCORPORATED

The Hurd Co-operative Co. filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk this morning. The incorporators are W. W. Neely, D. M. Kemp, O. W. Hurd, J. C. Beck and Phil Nicolle, all well-known residents of the lower Siuslaw country. The capital stock of the corporation is $25,000 and the principal place of business is at Florence. This company will build a salmon cannery to replace O. W. Hurd's plant at Acme which was burned down during the summer. As the name of the corporation implies, the cannery will be operated on the co-operative plan, the fishermen on the river all owning stock and receiving their share pro rata of the profits of the plant.

HOPKINS DIVORCE SUIT AT SALEM

Salem Statesman: Late last evening papers were filed in the case of H. L. Hopkins vs. Joyce P. Hopkins in which the moving party asks for an absolute divorce from his wife on the ground of willful desertion since the summer of 1907. None of the details of the family trouble are mentioned in the papers, the parties being socially prominent and well known, especially in Salem, Albany and Eugene. Carey F. Martin appears as attorney for Mr. Hopkins.