TABOR TRIAL COMES TO CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

The trial of Harry Tabor, charged with manslaughter, was concluded in the circuit court late this afternoon. The taking of evidence was finished about 3 o'clock this afternoon and immediately thereafter the arguments of the attorneys began.

After the recess yesterday afternoon Mrs. May Tabor, wife of the defendant, was called. Her testimony, in brief, was as follows:

She confirmed the version of her husband in regard to the incident of Stuckey and Steinhauser. She also confirmed her husband in the statement about the threat made by the Stuckeys out at the barn when Tabor was milking. Upon cross-examination she stated that Stuckey had attempted to be "too familiar" with her. At the end of her testimony the court stated to the counsel for the defense that they might recall Tabor allowing him to testify in regard to his brother's having notified Stuckey to keep him off of his place.

G. W. Steinhauser's testimony was confined largely to impeaching Stuckey's character as a law-abiding citizen. Also his reputation for truth. Steinhauser's testimony adduced the fact that Stuckey had been a frequent caller at the house during his (Steinhauser's) absence, and also that it was reported that Stuckey was getting too intimate with Mrs. Steinhauser. Stuckey afterward visited the witness' home and chastised him there when the reports were told him and that he suspected illicit relations between Stuckey and the witness' wife.

Upon cross-examination regarding the nature of the impeachment he faltered and said to District Attorney Skipworth:

"I am sick; that man ruined my whole life."

Skipworth consented to the excuse and stated he would call the witness later.

Mrs. Steinhauser confirmed the threats made by Stuckey regarding Tabor, and of her husband regarding his condition.

Mr. Pierce stated that he was on the scene immediately after the shooting. He confirmed the statements of Mrs. Stuckey regarding the statement of her husband.

Lawrence Lamb was called as the first witness this morning. He identified the revolver as owned by Stuckey. He had shot Tabor's gun. He said Stuckey's reputation in that section was bad. Upon cross-examination he stated he had had trouble with the defendant.

Mr. Prindle lived at Alpha nearly six years and knew Tabor for five years. Tabor had a good reputation, while Stuckey's was bad. The latter had a vicious temper and had called Tabor vile names.

Rev. W. H. Phelps, a minister who has held services at Alpha for the past year, knew both Tabor and Stuckey. Tabor's reputation was good, while that of Stuckey was bad. He saw Stuckey at church with a rifle on the fourth Sunday in July, and again in August. Tabor had told him about Stuckey's threatening to "get him" even if he had to do it in the church.

Colonel Geo. J. Moran, of the Fourth Regiment, O. N. G., testified that he had made experiments to determine the distance powder marks would show on cloth from the muzzle of a gun. He had done so at the request of the defense.

Frank Potter, of Mapleton, a brother-in-law of Tabor, had owned the Stuckey place. He was at the inquest over Stuckey's body and at the examination of Tabor.

William Harris—Lived at Alpha five years. Tabor's reputation was good and that of Stuckey bad. He saw Stuckey carry a revolver a number of times. He had seen Mrs. Stuckey carry a gun while blackberrying. He had had trouble with Stuckey.

Ernest Tabor, of Portland, a brother of the defendant, stated that he knew the general reputation of Stuckey.

Tom Browning—Resides at Junction City; knew Stuckey; said Stuckey always carried a gun. He never killed anybody, but he made several people think he was going to.

David Hunter, Marion P. Wheeler, T. Taylor and T. J. Neeley each testified as to the good reputation of Tabor and the bad reputation of Stuckey. Mr. Taylor was on the coroner's jury at the inquest over Stuckey's body. He had heard Stuckey say to Tabor "You'll shake hands with a piece of hot lead."

W. Polders, of Eugene—Knew Tabor at Walsburg, Wash. His general reputation was as good as of anyone in town. His reputation for truth and veracity was good.

G. P. Camp, of Mapleton—Was at Alpha at the time of the shooting and acted as a juror at the inquest over the body of Stuckey. Knew Tabor six years. His general reputation was good while that of Stuckey was bad. Saw no powder burns on Stuckey's jumper.

Merle Tabor was recalled. He was at work in a hay field with Harry Tabor and Taylor in July when he heard Stuckey call Harry names and say that he would shake hands with a piece of hot lead. He met Stuckey on August 17. Stuckey stopped him and pointed a gun at him. He had forbidden Stuckey from crossing his field.

Ed. Haight, a photographer of Eugene—Knew Stuckey at Deadwood, also knew Tabor's general reputation was good, while that of Stuckey was bad. Stuckey showed him a revolver once and the weapon in question was identified by him as the one shown him.

George B. Camp and James Jackson, of Mapleton, testified that the reputation of Tabor was good and that of Stuckey bad.

Geo. O. Knowles, of Eugene, stated that Tabor's reputation was good.

J. M. Kitcher, D. S. Hill, G. S. Prindle, Harry Tabor, Merle Tabor, Frank Potter, Mr. Pierce and Wise Phelps testified that there was no water in the field in which the shooting occurred, the point attempted to be brought out by the prosecution being that Stuckey and his wife had to cross the field at that place to avoid some water.

Jesse Nicolle, of Eugene—Was a logger for ten years in the vicinity of Alpha. Knew Tabor five years. Tabor had worked for Nicolle. His general reputation was good.

Fred Bean, of Eugene—Resided at Mapleton for 20 years and kept a store there. Knew Tabor and stated that his general reputation was good.

Rollo Phelps—Related to Tabor. Was present at the inquest over Stuckey's body. Examined the field and fence where Stuckey and his wife climbed over. Saw no water in the field and no water in the draws.

The defense rested and the prosecution began its testimony.

Mrs. Stuckey was the first witness called. Her husband's age was 32 years and weight 163 pounds. She stated that her husband and wife of Lou Stuckey went to Tabor's charge made by Tabor. He was not armed. She did not hear her husband threaten to "shake hands with Tabor with a piece of hot lead."

This Afternoon's Session.

Immediately after convening court this afternoon L. A. Stuckey, brother of defendant, was called to the stand. He told that he was present at the meeting in July when the alleged threat of Harry Stuckey to make Harry Tabor shake hands with a dose of hot lead was made. He said no such threat was made. He had called to take up the quarrel with Merle Tabor and told him to come down the road and settle the matter.

Byron Hutchins next called. He had no knowledge of Stuckey ever having had trouble with his neighbors.

Arthur Pope, the next witness knew both the defendant and defendant. Said Stuckey's reputation as a law-abiding citizen was good.

Martha A. Stuckey, mother of the killed man, was the next to take the stand. She said her son was of an exceedingly amiable disposition. Did not know of any trouble between him and his neighbors.

Frank Taylor testified that he knew both defendant and deceased Stuckey's reputation was good, so far as he knew. Had not heard of any trouble with Stuckey two years. His character was good among another class.

O. Wilcutt said he lived on Deadwood creek. Knew Stuckey two years. Reputation was good.

The prosecution here rested its case and the defense called May Tabor, wife of the defendant, to the stand on re-cross-examination.

She denied certain admissions made by Mrs. Stuckey, while on the stand.

She was followed by Finis Taylor, who said he had told Tabor prior to October 3rd, the details of his trouble with Stuckey.

Wise Phelps, Jess Phelps, Rolla Phelps and Merle Tabor were then called to the stand, but their examination elicited nothing new.

With the examination of Merle Tabor the defense rested and stated to the court that counsel had prepared a set of instructions for the court to present to the jury.

Attorney Blyeu, of the prosecution, stated the matter was one of elementary law, inasmuch as the indictment of Tabor was for manslaughter only and that the court was well enough versed in law to give the jury oral instructions. Attorney Blyeu then began his plea.

The case will probably go to the jury this evening.

MATRON OF ATWOOD'S HOSPITAL BEING TRIED IN PORTLAND

That criminal operations were performed at the Dr. Atwood maternity hospital at Tremont station was the testimony of John Roberts, of Gaston, Or., in the juvenile court this morning, where a jury of six men is trying Miss May Petty, matron of the institution, on the charge that she has failed to exercise proper care and guardianship over her two adopted children, three and two years of age, says the Journal.

The testimony of Roberts was brought out by District Attorney Mosselson for the purpose of showing the character of the place where Miss Petty was employed. Other testimony of the morning was to the effect that the little girls, or at least the older one, had been present with her foster mother in the operating room while the doctors were at work. One witness testified that Miss Petty admitted this when examined in the district attorney's office.

Roberts, when called to the stand, said his wife had been a patient at the Atwood "hospital." That was about two years ago.

Irene Hinton, a nurse at the hospital for eight months, testified that the older child was in the room when the witness' tonsils were removed, and that the child was present during a portion of the time while other operations were performed. She declared, however, that the child was seated on a high chair that was not in view of the operating table.

The object of the proceedings is to have the children permanently taken from the custody of Miss Petty. Several witnesses testified that the little girls have not had proper care. The grand jury visited the institution about two weeks ago and presented a report that forms the basis of the present trial. Since the exposure of the practices at the hospital the children have been in the care of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society.

LANE COUNTY EXHIBIT NOT BROUGHT BACK

Eugene, Nov. 18th.

Editor Guard:—The Register of yesterday morning said that the grain and grasses Lane county had at the Oregon state fair, 1908, were returned. This must be a mistake. It also said I was in charge of it. I guess it was a car of fruit trees just arrived which the reporter took for the exhibit. Please correct the same. Our exhibit is at Seattle, to be displayed at the big fair there next year.

COTTAGE GROVE NOTES

The Misses Ethel Moore and Gertrude Palmer were Eugene visitors last Saturday, in attendance at the big football game.

Miss Sophie Osberg went to Creswell yesterday morning, where she will visit with Miss Etna Hallerman for a few days. From there she will go to her home at Oregon City. She will be accompanied by Miss Mabel Coffman, of this city, who will visit with her for a short time.

Contractor Craig had his hand badly lacerated last Saturday while shoeing a horse. A kick from the animal jammed his hand into a horse shoe which he was removing and two of his fingers were torn so as to require medical attention.

J. C. Lewis and Frank McFarland have opened a new meat market in the old meat market building on the west side, adjoining Stoneberg's confectionery, and are doing a good business. —Leader and Western Oregon.

JONES SENTENCED TO SIXTY DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

Harvey Jones, who was convicted by a jury of the offense of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Addie Watts, was given a sentence of sixty days in the county jail by Judge Harris, of the circuit court, this morning. This is a light sentence and was made upon the recommendation of the jury.

Fred Craig, who was charged with the same offense, was acquitted by the jury last night. It went out at about 6 o'clock and returned a verdict about 9:30 o'clock.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS AND TRANSACTS MINOR MATTERS OF BUSINESS

An adjourned session of the city council was held last night at which various matters of more or less importance were discussed and acted upon.

The matter of sewer service for the residents of South Willamette street was brought up. E. F. Chapman addressed the council upon the subject, stating that they could get better service by connecting with the Jefferson street sewer. A motion was made and carried that the recorder ask for bids for the proposed sewer to the north side of Fourteenth street instead of Thirteenth.

A petition for a sidewalk on north side of Thirteenth between Lawrence and Jefferson streets was read and referred to the street committee.

The matter of poor telephone service was brought up and discussed. A motion was made and carried to appoint a committee to confer with Manager Heaton in regard to the matter. The mayor appointed Councilmen Garrett, Moon and Berger. This committee will also investigate the poor light service.

A proposal of Samuel Manerud to furnish crushed rock for street work was referred to the street and finance committees.

A. W. Gilbert and F. A. Anderson were appointed to secure a right-of-way for the canal at the site of the proposed city power plant on the McKenzie.

Council agreed by motion to give what soil they had to spare on the seven acres across the river to surface the parks at the depot.

W. B. McKinney, a merchant of Springfield, was in the city today. He says business is good in the new mill city and new people are coming in nearly every day to locate there. He says the town will soon have three new stores. Wolfe, Mersdorf & Co. will soon open a fine dry goods store in the W. O. W. building and a gentleman from Salem, but more recently from Junction City will open a grocery store in a short time. Besides these another man, who is not known by Mr. McKinney, has secured a room and will open a general store.

THE REASONS WHY

our trade is good and growing all the time, why people who never patronized a Racket Store are doing so now, why they were afraid the quality would not be good because the prices were so low, why hesitation to buy and liberal purchases are made--is all because we are satisfied with small profits, treat people on the square and do as we agree.
