ABE RUEF HEAVILY GUARDED AGAINST POSSIBLE VIOLENCE

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Abe Ruef, accompanied by a guard of five policemen and three deputy sheriffs, who rode in the patrol wagon with him, and an escort of five mounted policemen, arrived at the courthouse nearly an hour before court convened today. Few people were in the court room before the opening of court.

Ruef complained that one man sat back of him calling him vile names and muttering threats against him. The man was recognized as the one who ran after the patrol wagon yesterday shouting threats against the prisoner. He gave the name of R. A. Adams and was ejected from the building.

Over the objections of the prosecution Judge Lawlor permitted the introduction of further affidavits by the defense in support of the application for a change of venue.

The prosecution filed 3 affidavits in opposition to the change of venue motion and Judge Lawlor gave the defense until 3 o'clock this afternoon to file counter affidavits.

RACING BALLOON FAILS TO CROSS SIERRA RANGE

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—The big racing balloon, nited States, which started from here yesterday in an attempt to cross the mountains for a long eastern flight, encountered adverse winds last night and after soaring 125 miles over the tops of the snow-capped Sierra Madre was hurried back to within fifty miles of Los Angeles and landed at a ranch near Ontario, where it remained all night. The journey was resumed this morning, the currents taking the balloon eastward.

HARRY TABOR IS ON TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Being Tried in Circuit Court Today for Killing Harry Stuckey

WORK OF SECURING JURY
FINISHED THIS FORENOON

Mrs. Stuckey, Only Eye Witness to Shooting, First to Testify

[From Tuesday's Daily Guard.]
The trial of Harry Tabor, charged with manslaughter in the killing of Harry Stuckey near Alpha early last month was begun in the circuit court last evening when the work of securing the jury was taken up. The last juror was secured this forenoon at ten o'clock. The jury consists of the following: Thos. Gray, O. W. Brabham, W. E. Fisk, L. M. Tozier, George Fisher, J. S. Ham, E. L. Gum, S. B. Jackson, Jr., James Humphrey, W. A. Seymour, William Forrester and A. E. Eldblom.

Deputy District Attorney G. R. Skipworth is conducting the prosecution and is assisted by L. Bilyeu and W. S. McFadden. Williams & Bean are counsel for the defendant.

The dramatic interest lay in the prisoner and in the widow of Harry Stuckey. She was the only witness at the shooting. Harry Tabor, the prisoner, is a clean looking young fellow without signs of either dissipation or lack of control on his face. He took an active interest in every detail.

The widow and other relatives of Harry Stuckey were also present. Leon Stuckey, the decedent's brother, sat with the attorneys for the prosecution. The child of Harry Stuckey played a prominent part in the side-lights of the trial. The presence of his chubby face and reddish hair may be a strong factor in the verdict. Once he ran to his mother at the witness chair and had to be carried away in front of every juror.

between their place and the postoffice.

The defense stated that there had been trouble since last February between Harry Stuckey and Harry Tabor. The defense claimed that Harry Tabor had posted a sign warning Stuckey to keep off the land. Tabor was driving his cows home and ordered Stuckey off the land. Stuckey began to abuse Tabor, the defense alleged, with violent language. Stuckey approached Tabor in a threatening manner. Stuckey, the attorney said, had his hand in his pocket when Tabor pulled his gun from his scabbard. Stuckey drew his gun and Tabor fired. The men, it was alleged, were about fourteen feet apart. Stuckey's wife was about one hundred and fifty feet behind.

Attorney J. M. Williams for the defense then recited some of the incidents preceding the tragedy. One time Harry Stuckey, according to the attorney's story, threatened to "lick" Tabor at the latter's house. At another time Stuckey threatened to other parties, "to give Tabor a dose of hot lead." So alarmed was Tabor, that he came to Eugene and consulted the sheriff, the attorney alleged.

In other instances, the defense continued, Stuckey made various threats "to fix Harry Tabor," one being to "get him on his own dooryard or at the church."

Mrs. Stuckey Testifies.
The widow of Harry Stuckey was first called. She was dressed in black and answered the questions coolly and distinctly. She stated the essential facts alleged by the prosecution. She said that she suggested to go through the field, and also stated that Tabor ordered them out of the field and that her husband answered, "All right, sir." Then Tabor wheeled and fired and struck him here," she added, pointing to the shoulder over the heart with her right hand.

She testified that her husband lived for half an hour. Tabor went through his pockets. Before Stuckey died he said:

"Mamma, he's got me. Tabor will get his reward in heaven."
The witness stated that she did not know whether or not her husband had any arms on his person. She also said she was near her husband when the shot was fired. Under cross examination she stated that Stuckey did not have a revolver in his hand nor did he have his hand in his pocket. Though on the stand for nearly an hour, Mrs. Stuckey proved a good witness for the prosecution.

Other Witnesses.
Sheriff Bown was the first witness called after court convened this afternoon. He told of placing the defendant under arrest and identified the revolver.

Howard Pope stated that he lived near Stuckey. He saw Stuckey's body at 6:30 o'clock after the shooting. He showed on a map where the body laid. Had not heard Tabor make threats.

L. A. Stuckey, a brother of the decedent, told of the distance from the gate to where the body lay.
Byron Hutchins, when shown the map, told where the body lay. He stated that he had heard no threats made.
Merle Taylor, a brother of Harry Tabor, stated that the latter had carried a gun sometimes.

C. Willett stated that he had lived at Deadwood five years. He told of a conversation between Tabor and another man about Stuckey making a partial threat. Tabor had a gun the day he got back from Eugene to have Stuckey arrested for beating Tabor's brother.

J. M. Kitchen, who is clerk of the grand jury, was called. He stated that before the grand jury Tabor testified that he was after his cows. That he examined his revolver the night before, expecting to shoot birds. He again examined the gun when Stuckey and his wife came over the fence into the field and found two loads in the chamber.

William G. Williams a student in the engineering department at the University, was called. He stated that he had made maps that were introduced at the trial. He identified the maps.

Harry Tabor Testifies.

Harry Tabor, the defendant, was then called and he was on the witness stand for more than three hours. He stated that he was 23 years of age, married and had two little daughters, aged three years and 16 months, respectively. He told of Stuckey and wife climbing over into the field. He said that Stuckey had his hand on his gun and was cursing. Tabor ordered him to get out of the field. He came within fourteen feet of Stuckey and could see his gun. Tabor then pulled his gun and leveled it at Stuckey. Stuckey pulled his gun at the same time and Tabor shot. Stuckey fell on his side and back. Tabor picked up his gun as he was afraid Stuckey's wife would use it on him. He went to help Mrs. Stuckey and to make Stuckey as comfortable as possible. He then went to a neighbor's house to phone for a doctor and got a pillow and quilt and some water for Stuckey. He then went home to make a stretcher to carry Stuckey to the house. He again went to the body and proceeded to his home where he changed his clothes and started for Eugene to give himself up to the officers. He reached Deadwood, where he met the constable and stopped there. The next morning he gave himself up to the sheriff, who had gone to Deadwood in answer to a telephone message telling him of the trouble. He told of threats made to Tabor and a neighbor in February last. He said that Stuckey came to his house the next day and called him names. He took off his coat and wanted to fight. He told of Stuckey making threats that he would catch him (Tabor) alone some day and make him shake hands with a piece of hot lead. He saw Stuckey at church twice with a rifle. Stuckey told a neighbor he would "get" Tabor if he had to do it in church. Tabor stated that he fired the shot that killed Stuckey because he was positive Stuckey intended to kill him. The threats that he had heard put him on his guard and he was determined not to let Stuckey get the upper hand. This was the reason he carried a gun.

On cross-examination no new facts were adduced. The defendant, Tabor, was taken over practically the same ground as on his direct examination. At 4 o'clock the court announced a recess until 4:15.

GERMAN EMPEROR IS NO LONGER AUTOCRAT

Berlin, Nov. 17.—An interview between Chancellor von Buelow and Emperor William was held at Potsdam this morning and resulted in a satisfactory understanding. His majesty expressed complete confidence in the chancellor, who will remain in office.

Furthermore, the emperor accepted the propositions made by the prince concerning the future conduct of state affairs.

The chancellor asked his majesty for a declaration with permission that he publish the same, to the effect that in the future the emperor will deal with state affairs only through the existing constitutional channels, namely, through the chancellor. His majesty acceded and such a declaration appears in the Reichsanzeiger today.

Immediately after his return from Potsdam the chancellor saw the members of the Prussian ministry in confidential council and communicated to them the details of his audience with the emperor. The same details were also communicated to the leading members of the federal council by Minister of the Interior Bothman-Holtweg.

OVERTAXED. Hundreds of Eugene Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, sideache, headache, Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Eugene citizen tells here a certain cure.
W. W. Gossett, retired, formerly of 558 Madison street, Eugene, Ore., says: "Although I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for three years I now just as enthusiastically recommend them as ever. Acute pains in the region of my kidneys attended with a dull steady aching, through my lains, kept me in misery for about four months. One day while working a sharp pain caught me in my back and I could not move for some moments. When I laid up I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills on the recommendation of a friend, I found relief from the first and soon was completely cured. There has been no symptom of a return of the trouble since, proving Doan's Kidney Pills to be a remedy of great merit."

PLAIN WORDS ARE SPOKEN BY CATHOLIC PRIEST

Chicago, Nov. 17.—The modern social settlements of American cities were denounced as breeding places for socialism and anarchy by Rev. James Curry, of New York, in an address before the Catholic Missionary congress today. Father Curry, who labors among the poor of Cherry Hill district, flayed the rich supporters of the social settlements of crowded city districts, declaring many of them go among the poor as "pharisees and seek to excuse their own shortcomings by their interest in the sufferings of their brothers. The speaker inquired if anyone had heard of a social settlement among the rich to teach them the sacredness of marriage, and that a champagne debauch is as bad as one on mixed ale."
